MAINE WET AFTER 82 YEARS

RELIEF PLEDGE GIVEN ILLINOIS IN WASHINGTON

U. S. to Provide Up to 9 Millions.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—Officials and citizens from Chicago and Illinois veritably stormed the capital today with requests for aid.

Led by Mayor Kelly and Gov. Horner, the principal delegation of Illinoisians got a promise from Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins that the federal treasury would advance funds to bridge over the danger of closing relief stations for lack of money.

The governor in return pledged Mr. Hopkins that he would call a special session of the Illinois legislature for Oct. 3, at which bonds in the total sum of $20,000,000 will be proposed for relief purposes.

Advance $3,400,000 Now.

For the immediate relief requirements in this month, needed so desperately that the poor of Chicago might have been cut off but for the federal aid, Mr. Hopkins agreed to advance $3,400,000. He also agreed that until the legislation proposed by the Illinois leaders was adopted and the money obtained the administration would carry the state through its emergency needs, even up to an estimated total of $9,000,000.

Gov. Horner also visited the federal taskmaster for industry, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, and he lodged a protest against the operations of the cement trust with one of the NRA deputies, Malcolm Muir, who has the cement companies' code under consideration.

Later the governor and Mayor Kelly conferred with Secretary of the Interior Ickes on the public works program for Chicago and Illinois.

Push Illinois Projects.

Since the publication in THE TRIBUNE of figures, showing Illinois to have been given a woefully short end of the federal easy money, while paying a heavy share of federal taxes, Secretary Ickes has prodded his organization and particularly the Illinois public works board to get some Illinois projects okayed.

Results of this activity were seen today when Joshua D'Esposito, state public works engineer, and James L. Houghteling, a member of the state board, came to Washington bearing a list of projects for the approval of Secretary Ickes. Included among the projects was the outer drive bridge and a formal submission of the sanitary district's proposal for a loan. The latter project has been thumbed down by Secretary Ickes in advance.

Study Projects All Day.

D'Esposito and Houghteling spent the whole day going over the proposed projects with Secretary Ickes, with Deputy Public Works Administrator H. M. Waite and with the administration's legal, financial and engineering experts. It was evident from the activity over the Chicagoan's visit that Secretary Ickes means to rush through whatever Illinois projects can be given immediate approval.

Mayor Kelly and Gov. Horner led their troop of 35 odd supporters in the plea for relief aid from the federal treasury over to the White House, where the entire delegation was received by the President. Mr. Roosevelt greeted those he remembered warmly.

"Well, Ed," he said to Mayor Kelly, "I see you've started a brains trust of your own in Chicago."

"Yes, Mr. President," the mayor replied. "We're behind you every inch of the way."

Liquor Laws Planned.

Gov. Horner, in announcing that he would summon the Illinois legislature in special session on Oct. 3 to act upon the relief legislation, said he also would have the assembly take up the question of preparing liquor laws for the state in anticipation of the repeal of the 18th amendment.

Some question has been raised as to the legality of laws passed before the amendment is really appealed, but the governor said this would be fully explored before any bills are approved.

It was also possible, Gov. Horner said, that he would include in the special call legislation to permit county boards to engage in municipal housing projects. This would be in line with President Roosevelt's desire to push housing construction wherever possible and would follow a law recently adopted by the Ohio legislature. The federal government will grant 30 per cent of housing funds spent by a municipality, and will loan the remaining 70 per cent on liberal terms.

The proposal for relief legislation approved today by Federal Adminis-

FAVORS REPEAL 2 TO 1; MAKES IT 26 STATES

All Counties Swing Into Line.

Portland, Me., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Maine, stronghold of prohibition since the middle of the last century—1851, to be exact—swept into the repeal column tonight to make the 26th in the march of states for overturning of national prohibition.

With slightly more than four-fifths of the precincts reported, the vote showed a little more than the two to one margin which repeal leaders had predicted.

The wet victory was conceded by the Rev. Frederick W. Smith, superintendent of the dry forces, in a statement issued at midnight.

A fight over the state's own prohibition amendment was seen in the offing with Mr. Smith's assertion that:

Will Appeal to Governor.

It was understood that efforts would be made to have Gov. Louis J. Brann, a wet, call a special session of the legislature to resubmit to the people that amendment which was written into the constitution in 1884. Mr. Smith was believed to refer to this possibility.

Although the governor declined to commit himself, he did say that if 36 states voted for repeal of federal prohibition and the matter of state prohibition came up he "would handle it expeditiously."

Repeal leaders hailed the margin of victory as "leaving no room for doubt as to the sentiment of the people. We felt certain that given an opportunity the voters would express themselves unmistakably."

Hold Lead Throughout.

The first return which came from little Lakeville Plantation, in Aroostook county, gave 15 to 2 for repeal and the wets held the lead throughout. Never did their margin drop below a commanding position and, on the other hand, they were unable to push up over the 2 to 1 pre-vote estimate until midnight, when the cities with their admittedly great repeal sentiment rolled in.

Repealists saw a clean sweep of the 80 delegates who will assemble in convention on Dec. 6 to take formal action after "deliberating" over the problem.

Must Be "Deliberative."

The action of the supreme judicial court in handing over an advisory opinion to the legislature that the convention must be "deliberative" in its nature gives the delegates the right and power to consider the problem at great length if they so desire.

In addition the court said that the delegates could not be designated on the ballots as to their stand and consequently the names of the two opposing slates were arranged alphabetically without regard to opinions.

This complicated the voting problem but did not stop the pledging of the candidate as the two opposing groups made up their slates and advertised them well through the newspapers and by small cards as voters entered the booths today.

Colorado, Minnesota, and Maryland will vote tomorrow on the repeal question.

Colorado Wets Confident.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—Anti-prohibition leaders predicted tonight that Colorado will go wet by 75,000 votes in the election tomorrow to decide Colorado's attitude on repeal.

"We will sweep Denver three or four to one, carry every city and go out into the rural sections with a margin that will astonish the drys," Edward D. Nicholson, secretary of the Colorado Repeal league, said.

Minnesota Expected to O. K. Repeal.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Minnesota repealists predict a wet victory by a two or three to one margin tomorrow.

Andrew Volstead, co-author of the prohibition enforcement act, has put his shoulder to the dry wheel in an effort to stem the wet tide.

Asks Overwhelming Vote.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 11.—(AP)—The campaign for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment was brought to a close in Maryland today with a speech by Postmaster General Farley, who asked for an "overwhelming" vote.

"There is no doubt in my mind as to what the outcome will be in Maryland tomorrow," Mr. Farley said. "But I am particularly anxious that the result in Maryland shall be so overwhelming that it will truly reflect the sentiment of all the voters of your state."

GEO. M. SUNDAY DIES AS RESULT OF FALL INJURIES

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 11.—(AP)—George M. Sunday, 40, son of Billy Sunday, the evangelist, died here tonight from injuries received in a fall from a window of his fourth floor apartment Thursday night.

His jaw broken by the fall, Sunday denied in a scribbled note the assertion of his wife, the former Mauryne Reichard of Hollywood, that they had quarreled.

"I lost my balance and fell out," he wrote. "I had no argument. I had not been drinking."

Mrs. Sunday, who was married to the evangelist's son after his divorce from his first wife, told police of a violent scene in which her husband struck her in the eye, broke one of her fingers and then threatened suicide.

She quoted him as saying he was "going down and jump in the bay."

Shortly afterward, she said, she heard groans, rushed to the living room, and found he had dropped out of the window.

DESCENDANT OF 2 WASHINGTONS DIES IN EAST

Westport, Conn., Sept. 11.—(AP)—W. Lanier Washington, descendant of two brothers of Gen. George Washington, first President of the United States, died at his home today of heart disease. He was 68 years old.

Born at Montgomery, Ala., March 30, 1865, Mr. Washington was a direct descendant of Augustine Washington and John Augustine Washington, brothers of the first President. Augustine Washington's son married his first cousin, a daughter of John Augustine.

Bogan Urges U. S. Hire 500 Idle Teachers

Supt. William J. Bogan has sent an appeal to Secretary of the Interior Ickes in Washington for federal funds to finance the employment of teachers out of work in Chicago, it was disclosed yesterday. The money would go toward the teaching of classes in Americanization and English and is similar to a plan already in operation in New York.

It was estimated that approximately 500 teachers could be employed to instruct more than 5,000 persons. Some of the teachers would be those now on the relief rolls and others those who will be temporarily out of work because of the operation of the school board's economy program.

Instruction for Foreign Born.

According to the plan, which was recommended to Mr. Bogan by Dr. Charles J. Lunak, assistant superintendent of schools, the teaching of reading and writing for adults [most of them foreign born] would be the first consideration, followed by instruction in American history and civics in preparation for naturalization papers.

The teaching of English, both written and spoken, would be of major importance in the foreign classes.

Sixty-four teachers who are now employed in the Americanization classes and who are paid salaries out of the educational fund of the board of education would be sent into areas of the city which offer the most fertile field for recruiting members of these classes. Courses would be open to adults who cannot read and write, foreign born, and the unemployed.

Proposes $15 Weekly Salary.

A salary of $15 a week would be paid to each teacher for a minimum of twenty-two hours of service, fifteen of which will be used for instruction and the rest for conferences, according to the plan. Classes would not exceed ten in number.

The classes would be held in any quarters suitable for meeting that would be obtained free of rental charge. School rooms would be used after 3 o'clock in the afternoon and other classes would be held in settlement and park field houses, churches, libraries, and stores. Instruction would be given at such hours as would meet the convenience of the members of the class as far as possible.

The plan was evolved by Mr. Bogan after a trip recently to Washington, where he discussed the matter with Secretary Ickes.

U. S. COURT SEIZES THE ISLE ROYALE IN SALARY SUIT

Deputy United States marshals, acting on a monition order signed by Federal Judge John P. Barnes, last night took possession of the Isle Royale, a lake steamship owned by George M. Cox, wealthy New Orleans lumberman.

A delegation of the crew of 118 men had previously filed suit under the admiralty laws to collect wages of $14,000. Judge Barnes issued a summons on Mr. Cox to show cause why the boat should not be seized pending disposition of the case.

Late yesterday the court was informed by members of the crew that the boat was to leave its anchorage near the Michigan avenue bridge some time during the night. Judge Barnes therefore signed the order for its seizure immediately.

French Riot Against Hitler in Paris Streets

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 11.—Scenes of wild disorder, punctuated with mass charges by hundreds of riot police, continued for hours tonight in the streets around Salle Wagram. There a crowd of more than 10,000, unable to gain entrance to a rally of the International League Against Anti-Semitism, began violent demonstrations against Hitlerism.

Within the hall two of the greatest lawyers of France, Maurio Glafferi and Deputy Henry Torres, presented the defense arguments for the five communists accused of burning the reichstag building which they would have aired before the Leipzig court had the German authorities given them permission.

Blames Goering for Fire.

Glafferi openly charged Capt. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, premier of Prussia and speaker of the reichstag, with plotting the fire in order to invoke the sympathy of the masses for the Nazis in their war against communism.

"I am no enemy of Germany," the lawyer cried, "but I am an enemy of its scandal of terror—a scandal which is the duty of every advocate of freedom to denounce. Those men accused of burning the reichstag are as innocent as you or I."

Outside the mob vainly stormed the hall to gain admittance.

Then the police in mass formation began to clear Avenue Wagram and adjoining streets. Several persons were injured by the policemen's clubs and taken to hospitals. Irate persons hurled water pitchers and glasses at the oncoming police from sidewalk cafés. An emergency call brought 200 more policemen wearing steel helmets. They were followed by squadrons of mounted republican guards.

Police Restore Calm.

Although the meeting was scheduled for 8:30 o'clock, a crowd began gathering at 6 o'clock. By 7:30 the hall was crowded to capacity. It was nearly midnight by the time the police and republican guards had restored calm.

At the conclusion of the rally the audience passed a resolution denouncing "the parody on justice being prepared in Leipzig."

Bernard Lecache, general secretary of the league, announced that if Dr. Albert Einstein is touched by Nazis hostages in Paris will answer for his life. Lecache made this announcement in connection with the report that Nazis had put a price of $5,000 on the scientist's head.

New Nazi Provocation.

On top of all this a new Hitlerite provocation on France's eastern frontier will be reported in tomorrow's Echo de Paris. The newspaper demands diplomatic action.

A Nazi storm troop battalion at Kehl, which is directly across the Rhine from Strasbourg, has just received a new standard. The newspaper charges that instead of bearing the name, Kehl, this standard bears the name of the French city of Strasbourg, which makes the battalion's official quarters in the capital of Alsace.

"This furnishes once more proof of the desire of Germany for revenge and its certainty of conquering," the Echo de Paris says.

SPURNS DEMAND FROM OFFICERS THAT HE RESIGN

Showdown Is Due in Havana Today.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
(Picture on Back Page.)

HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 11.—Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin, who was inaugurated yesterday as president of Cuba, late tonight defied an ultimatum from the officers who were ousted from their commands by the army revolt last week that he resign immediately.

Col. Horacio Ferrer, secretary of war and navy in the government of Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, which was overthrown last week by a radical junta of five, which in turn gave way to Grau San Martin, reported to the officers at 11 o'clock tonight after a conference with the president that the latter had said he would take more time before giving his answer and that "in the meantime the officers might change their minds." This was regarded by some as a counter-ultimatum to the officers that they submit to his régime.

Predict Showdown Today.

Col. Ferrer replied to Grau San Martin that the officers probably would not do that. At midnight word from the officers, 350 of whom are barricaded in the fashionable National hotel, which ranks with the swankiest hotels of Chicago, was that there would be no further activities tonight, but that tomorrow may see excitement and a showdown.

Grau San Martin's reply to the ultimatum of the officers came shortly after all the employés of the National hotel had quit their posts and walked out, leaving the guests, including United States Ambassador Sumner Welles and numerous other Americans, without service. The soldiers on guard outside of the hotel had been threatening the employés all day with bodily violence if they did not discontinue serving the officers. The officers tonight were running the elevators and switchboards.

Face Food Shortage.

The officers tonight subsisted on food brought in by wives and daughters. Ambassador Welles was forced to take his wife to the Plaza hotel for dinner. Welles took his Sealyham dog along.

Tomorrow it is expected that the soldiers will prevent all food from being taken into the hotel with a view to starving the officers out. The refrigerators at the hotel are said to be stocked with food enough to last the officers for several days—if they keep their appetites down.

Following reports that the water and electricity were to be cut off at the hotel the officers filled all bathtubs and available pails with water in preparation for a siege.

The American guests still remaining in the hotel tonight seemed to be getting worried. The lobbies and terraces were packed with officers, while the hotel managers were tearing their hair, almost in a state of nervous collapse. All automobiles arriving at the entrance to the hotel were searched thoroughly for weapons and food. The passengers were forced to get out while the search was going on.

Picks Cabinet Officers.

Shortly before his tilt with the army officers Grau San Martin announced that he had selected part of his cabinet. The list follows:

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE—Dr. Luis A. Barnet.
SECRETARY OF TREASURY — Col. Manuel Despaignes.
SECRETARY OF JUSTICE—Dr. Joaquin Rios Balmaseda.
SECRETARY OF INTERIOR—Dr. Antonio Guiteras.
SECRETARY OF SANITATION — Dr. Carlos J. Finlay.
SECRETARY OF COMMUNICATIONS —Gustavo Moreno.
SECRETARY OF WAR AND THE NAVY—Col. Julio Aguado.

The secretaries of state, agriculture, and commerce and labor have not yet been picked.

Menocal Enters Picture.

Gen. Mario G. Menocal, twice president of Cuba, who led the 1931 revolt against Gen. Gerardo Machado and who returned from exile in the United States after Machado fled on Aug. 12, moved into the foreground in this afternoon's developments. Menocal, who is head of the Conservative party, accepted an invitation by the army officers to lead them in seeking the over-

...show of the Grau San Martin government.

The invitation was extended to Menocal after De Cespedes had declined to lead the officers in their campaign to overthrow Grau San Martin.

Menocal is not so strong among the people, but he has a reputation on the island as a fighting man. Tonight he was snorting like a war horse among crowds of followers. Menocal's choice for president is said to be Col. Ferrer.

Accuses Grau San Martin.

Menocal issued a statement attacking the Grau San Martin government, in which he said:

"The present government cannot last more than a few hours. The incumbents in office broke their promises to the people before they were given the oath. They had said they would give Cuba a government composed of all factional elements now in public life. They took over the executive department for themselves.

"The student element once had the sympathy and support of the Cuban people because of conditions under Machado which prevented their getting an education. Now they have forgotten they are still irresponsible children and have assumed the prerogatives of men qualified to rule.

"Children cannot run Cuba. The time has come for strength. I am hopeful there will be no intervention. If the Cuban people could realize that the aims of the Roosevelt government are entirely different from those of the Hoover administration they would understand that the United States is our friend and this talk of killing landing parties would cease. I shall accept the invitation of the army and navy officers to move to the National hotel."

Strike Ties Up Province.

Reports tonight from Santiago de Cuba, at the other end of the island, said a general labor strike has been declared in Oriente province as a protest against the inability of authorities to solve labor problems. Communists, raising the cry of "Yankee imperialism," are seeking to promote disturbances. Two more sugar mills were reported to have been taken over by communists in Oriente province.

Mariano Cavillo, who was trying to form a workers' syndicate at Santiago to take over certain American sugar mills, killed Manuel Lamas, a Spanish laborer, who opposed the syndicate.

The ABC in Oriente bitterly opposes the organization of a new revolutionary government in the province and the situation is reported to be tense.

Here in Havana ice men, laundry workers and cleaners went out on strike today, while a bomb was exploded in the power plant of the Havana electric railroad at Agulla and Blanco streets. Little damage was done.

Swanson Reaches Panama Canal.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BALBOA, C. Z., Sept. 11.—Secretary of the Navy Swanson arrived at Cristobal aboard the cruiser Indianapolis today. He had little to say concerning the Cuban situation except that "the United States wants to keep out of it."

Replying to questions concerning his departure from Havana Saturday after a two hour visit there during which time he did not go ashore from the Indianapolis, Swanson said:

"I did not go ashore because I did not wish such a visit to be misconstrued. The United States has no purpose of intervening or interfering unless the protection of American life becomes necessary."

On Wednesday Swanson will call on President Harmodio Arias of Panama and Gov. Julian Schley of the Canal Zone. He will leave aboard the Indianapolis Friday for Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

U. S. HOPES CUBA WILL DECIDE ON ITS OWN REGIME

"Anti-Imperialist" Asks to See Roosevelt.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Secretary Cordell Hull in a formal statement late tonight said the United States is prepared to welcome any Cuban government "representing the will of the people of the republic and capable of maintaining law and order throughout the island."

This formal expression of the state department's attitude came just before midnight at the close of a day in which both Mr. Hull and President Roosevelt intimated informally that recognition of President Grau San Martin's government hinged upon its gaining popular support.

"The chief concern of the government of the United States," Mr. Hull's statement said, "is and has been that Cuba solve her own political problems in accordance with the desires of the Cuban people themselves. It would seem unnecessary to repeat that the government of the United States has no interest in behalf of or prejudice against any political group or independent organization which is today active in the political life of Cuba."

Wants Cubans to Decide.

In view of the deep and abiding interest in the welfare of the Cuban people and the security of the republic of Cuba, our government is prepared to welcome any government representing the will of the people of the republic and capable of maintaining law and order throughout the island.

"Such a government would be competent to carry out the functions and the obligations incumbent upon any stable government. This has been the exact attitude of the United States government from the beginning.

"This statement has been communicated to Ambassador Welles and meets his full approval."

Ambassador Welles prepared to remain at his Havana post indefinitely. Secretary Hull indicated there was little likelihood that Mr. Welles would return to this country on Sept. 15, as originally planned.

Anti-Imperialist Calls.

At the White House today protest against the presence of American warships in Cuban waters and against any step hinting at intervention was made by William Simons, national secretary of the Anti-Imperialist League of the United States.

Louis M. Howe, secretary to the President, received Simons, telling him the United States had no intention of intervening in Cuba and that warships were there only to protect American life and property if the need arose.

State department officials declined to comment on the statement by President Grau San Martin that his régime desired friendship with the United States, but would insist on entire freedom of action and would oppose any steps considered imperialistic.

Ambassador Welles Accused.

Earlier Secretary Hull displayed some anger at a statement reported from Buenos Aires quoting an Argentine senator as having received a message signed "the Cuban University Student Board" declared Ambassador Welles was meeting in the National hotel in Havana with 300 former officers and was "instigating a disturbance so debarkation of Yankee sailors will be provoked."

The secretary of state said such statements constituted an example of fantastic and absurd rumors and suspicions sometimes picked up by the credulous.

Mr. Hull quoted a communication just received from Ambassador Welles. It said:

GERMANY AND VATICAN RATIFY CONCORDAT TO GOVERN RELATIONS

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The concordat between Germany and the Holy See, agreed upon in July, was ratified yesterday. This was announced today.

The final text arrived from Berlin by airplane and formal ratifications were exchanged by Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, and Dr. Eugene von Klee, counsellor of the German embassy.

Prelates at the Vatican commented that the pope and Chancellor Hitler had agreed that the status of the Catholic Action organization should form the subject of additional negotiations to be incorporated in a separate pact.

The concordat ratified yesterday combines in a single document the substance of separate accords previously entered into with the states of Prussia, Baden, and Bavaria.

By its terms the church agreed to refrain from interference in political affairs. The state promised to permit functions of lay and clerical Catholic associations, provided they confined themselves to religious activities.

Germany Hails Ratification.

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The ratification of the concordat with the Vatican so soon after it had been initialed was hailed in official circles today as demonstrating confidence in the stability of Hitlerism.

Government commentators said the move proved that the Holy See, with all its weight of tradition, had understood the scope and significance of Germany's latest revolution.

GERMANY FREES YANK JAILED FOR HITLER INSULT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—Strong American protests concerning incidents involving American citizens in Germany resulted today in the release of Thorsten Johnson, a sailor from Brooklyn, N. Y., four months before his term of imprisonment expired and a renewed warning that interference with foreigners must cease.

Although no serious incident has occurred since an attack on Dr. Daniel Mulvihill, American surgeon, on Aug. 15, Nazi chiefs issued a sharp warning to storm troopers, Hitler guards and other members of the party.

Calls Red's Agents Provocateurs.

Rudolf Hess, a Nazi leader, announced that evidence has been received revealing that communist and Socialist agents provocateurs are seeking to incite the Nazis, especially storm troopers and Hitler guards, to violence against foreigners, thereby hoping to create difficulties for the Nazi régime abroad.

"Any Nazi annoying foreign guests in Germany will be punished and expelled from the party," Hess proclaimed.

At the same time he informed members of foreign fascist organizations that they are not entitled to act in the name of the Nazi party. Nazi party offices are prohibited from maintaining relations with such foreign organizations.

It was announced that Nazi party leaders reserve the sole right to invite foreigners, especially foreign diplomats, to Nazi gatherings.

A communist plot to murder Chancellor Hitler in Mainz on June 13, 1932, was announced tonight. Police declared that several communists were arrested at Darmstadt, Mainz and Frankfort and will be charged with the conspiracy. The conspirators planned to shoot Hitler while he was driving to a football game, the police said. A gun in the hands of one of the communists was accidentally discharged and the alleged assassins fled.

Danes Fear Nazi Conquest.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 11.—Ward heeler tactics have been adopted by Nazi agents in the Danish province of Schleswig, where active efforts now are being made to proselytize the inhabitants and make them amenable to future inclusion in the Germany's "third reich."

An editor of one of Copenhagen's largest newspapere revealed today how Germany is spending millions of marks in an attempt to make a peaceful conquest of Schleswig.

When the Danes in that part of Schleswig which voted to return to Denmark in the plebiscite of 1920 find themselves unable to pay their taxes or rent, Nazi agents appear and advance them the money, the editor said. German children living on the Danish side of the frontier are presented with bicycles to enable them to cross the line and go to school in Germany.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 11.—A bodyguard of 100 students, many of whom are Gentiles, is being formed here and will be placed at the service of Prof. Einstein if the scientist feels called upon to accept them for his protection. Einstein left Belgium for a secret refuge in eastern England two days ago following reports that a Nazi organization had put a price of $4,000 on his head.

The offer of a bodyguard was made to Prof. Einstein by Maj. S. M. Marcus of Chicago through Commander Oliver Locker-Lampson, who is Einstein's host. Maj. Marcus said that nearly 500 students volunteered. The 100 will be drawn from all nationalities including a number of Americans.

[Maj. Marcus gained much publicity last May when he placed on the London Cenotaph, British memorial to the war dead, a single lily and a card, signed "S. M. M.," denouncing Chancellor Hitler as a 'murderous dictator.' Maj. Marcus is a grandson of the late Chicago rabbi, Kolman Kleinowitz.]

FALLS 10 STORIES TO DEATH FROM BURNHAM BLDG.

Algernon R. Wagenknight, 65 years old, formerly a wholesale furniture dealer at 6 North Michigan avenue, was killed late yesterday afternoon when he fell or jumped from a fifteenth floor window of the Burnham building at La Salle and Randolph streets.

The body struck on the roof of a five story structure at 174 West Randolph street.

Identification, first established tentatively by a label in Wagenknight's coat, was confirmed by his son, Oscar. The latter said his father had left his home at 445 Spring street, La Grange, early in the day. He added that he knew no reason for suicide, as the elder Wagenknight had no financial worries and was apparently in good health. Wagenknight had retired from active business pursuits about four years ago.

FALLS 2 FLOORS TO DEATH.

CHICAGOAN FINED $11,500 FOR DIXIE LOAN AGENCIES

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—Harry L. Drake, millionaire Chicago operator of a nation wide chain of small loan companies, today pleaded guilty in Wake county court to violating North Carolina's "anti-loan shark" law, paid fines and costs totaling $11,500, and was freed upon condition that he abandon all his small loan activities.

It was a victory for the state. Drake had said, it was reported, he would spend "a million dollars to keep from having to go to North Carolina" to stand trial. Today he agreed to give up his loan activities throughout the nation and told the court through a battery of lawyers that he was absolutely through with small loan agencies—had either closed up or sold out all such concerns he had owned.

LERROUX FORMS CABINET; SPANISH CRISIS IS SOLVED

MADRID, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The crisis in the Spanish government appeared definitely solved tonight with an announcement by Alejandro Lerroux that President Alcala Zamora had approved his proposed new cabinet list.

The premier designate said all Republican minority groups had pledged support of his government. The names of the new ministers will be made known tomorrow.

Brunette in Red Hat Leads Robber Band in Holdup

A young woman on whose brunette head perched a dazzling red hat helped four men in the holdup of a gasoline filling station at 1710 North Ogden avenue early today. The five drove up in a sedan. Three of the men drew guns and covered Walter Gershak, 1945 Burlington street, the attendant. They took $4 from the cash register and carried out the station radio.

KNIGHT FINED FOR KISSING SPINSTER IN A RAIL TUNNEL

She Says Her Experience Was "Horrible."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Sir Leo Chiozza Money, 63, a noted economist and former member of parliament, who gained a knighthood for his war time services, was convicted and fined on two charges in the Epsom police court today. One count charged assault upon a 36 year old spinster in a railway compartment. The other charged interference with the comfort of a passenger.

On the first charge Sir Leo was fined $2.50 and on the second $10. He also was ordered to pay $25 toward the cost of prosecution. Sir Leo filed notice that he would appeal the conviction. As he left the court a crowd booed him and police were called to protect him.

Woman Tells of Attack.

The plaintiff in the case was Ivy Ruxton, a store clerk. She testified that Sir Leo, who is married and known as a man of considerable wealth, pinioned her arms and kissed her while the unlighted train was going through a tunnel. She said she was forced to leave the train at the next station.

Miss Ruxton said she and Sir Leo, who is a fellow of the royal statistical society and a fellow of the royal geographical society, were passengers on a bus to a suburban station and that the defendant persisted in talking to her. She said she tried to avoid him but that he followed her to a compartment at the rear of the train where she always sat in order to be near a guard.

Calls Her "My Dear."

"How did he address you when he was talking?" F. W. Wallace, her attorney, asked.

"I know he used the expression, 'my dear,' and said, 'I hope you don't mind.'" Miss Ruxton replied. "I said, 'It's a habit of yours, perhaps. Are you accustomed to calling all your lady friends that?' He said, 'Yes, if I like them. My life has centered among the ladies. I could not live without them.'"

Miss Ruxton testified that Sir Leo, who was sitting facing her, wanted to hold her hands, but that she refused. Then, she continued, he seized both her hands and kissed them alternately. She freed herself, she said, and told him not to be stupid.

Then He Gets 'Familiar.'

Miss Ruxton admitted that the train stopped at several stations after this had happened, but said she was afraid to call the guard. After they left Epsom, she said Sir Leo suddenly moved beside her and said: "Have I got to force my kisses on you?" To this, Miss Ruxton said, she replied: "If you are a gentleman, you will leave me alone."

Then, she said, he "put his left hand across the front of me and his right hand around my shoulder. My arms were not free. He pushed my head back against the cushion and was kissing my face and neck. He kissed me on the mouth in a horrible manner."

She added that she left the train at the next station. The porter was so astounded when she asked when the next train for London passed that he questioned her. As a result Sir Leo was met by railroad detectives in London.

Sir Leo denied the assault.

"Is there any truth in the story that you took Miss Ruxton in your arms and kissed her passionately?" Sir Henry Curtis-Bennett, Sir Leo's counsel, asked him.

"It is not true," Sir Leo answered.

"Did you call her darling?"

"It is not true."

"Did you say it was a lovely night for two?"

"There is no truth whatever in that."

Sir Leo also denied that he had told the girl he was old enough to be her father but that it did not matter.

In 1928 Sir Leo and a Miss Irene Savage, 22 years old, were charged with improper conduct in Hyde Park. The case, however was dismissed and allegations were made that Scotland Yard had used third degree methods against the girl in interrogating her. The police, on the other hand, denied any improper conduct and charged that magistrates refused to believe police evidence about offenses against morals.

Two Wives Confront Trombonist

Preacher Indicted

The Rev. Walter J. Bateman, who played a trombone at the Trinity Gospel mission, 203 South Halsted street, until it was learned that he had one more wife that the law allows, was held to the grand jury yesterday on a charge of bigamy by Judge Thomas A. Green. His bond was set at $4,000. Later it was reported that a true bill charging bigamy had been voted against him by the grand jury.

"I'll give him up to let him return to his first wife," said his second wife, Louise Stumpf Bateman, whom he married ten months ago. "We'll get the marriage annulled."

"I'll take him back if he'll get right with the Lord," announced the first wife, Mrs. Esther Zeller Bateman of Toledo.

Bateman snickered nervously and drew the ire of Judge Green.

"No," the Rev. Mr. Bateman replied.

"Do you want to go back to your first wife?" the judge inquired.

"Well, it seems like the only way out," the defendant replied.

"O, so that's it!" Judge Green remarked. "You wouldn't go back if you could get out of it. I'll just hold you to the grand jury." Subsequently the true bill was voted by the grand jury.

Bateman became a member of the staff at the Halsted street mission a year ago. Recently, Edward De Vries, who operates the mission and is also a police sergeant, received a letter from Bateman's first wife asking the return of her husband.

BANDITS BALKED OF $1,400 LOOT IN HOTEL HOLDUP

Billy Rose and Clark Robinson, New York theatrical producers, were held up in Rose's room in the Hotel Sherman last night by two gunmen who sought $1,400 which they knew Rose had been carrying in a cigaret case. They did not get the $1,400 because Rose earlier had placed it in the hotel vault for safe keeping.

"We want your cigaret case," announced one of the men. Rose told him he had deposited it in the hotel vault. The robbers searched him, and then went through his baggage. Failing to find the case they took a few dollars from Rose's pocket and left. They did not molest Robinson.

Rose reported the robbery to Gus Bering, assistant hotel manager, and then notified the police. He said he arrived from Detroit Sunday. Some one in Detroit or on the train must have noticed his money and its place of concealment, he said.

FIND BODY OF GIRL WHO PLUNGED TO DEATH OFF BOAT

The nude body of Clara Moore, 22 years old, 515 Belmont avenue, red haired party girl who lost her life when she jumped from the yacht Pal o' Mine early last Wednesday, was recovered from the lake at Oak street yesterday. Identification was made by Miss Joyce Byers, 26 years old, 629 Deming place, who was a member of the boat party.

On board the yacht were the owner, A. E. Gundelach, 3600 Pine Grove avenue; Paul Redel, 420 Blackstone avenue, La Grange; John Drake, 431 Oakdale avenue; Carl Kruger of Boston; Otto Weber of New York; Miss Byers, Miss Anna Mae Burmek, 425 Surf street, and Mrs. Cora Mae Smith of Evansville, Ind.

GIRL ENGAGED TO PASTOR ELOPES WITH AVIATOR

Wedding Is Sequel to Plane Crash.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 11.—The Rev. George E. Shepperd, formerly of the Presbyterian church in Chicago Heights and a son of the Rev. George Shepperd of Chatham, Ont., today very likely is pondering over the marvels of the love life of pretty Marjorie McAsh, assistant public librarian of London.

Miss McAsh cast all nuptial arrangements to the winds yesterday morning and forgot her pledge to marry the minister here on Sept. 20. Instead, she eloped with Charles Durand, son of Mrs. Andrew Durand, wealthy South London widow.

That is the sequel to a twilight airplane ride last spring when a London flying club plane with Durand, as pilot, and Miss McAsh as his passenger, crashed into high tension transmission lines of the Niagara system near London.

Helps Save Pilot.

Both were hurled from the cockpit of the wrecked plane, which was left hanging by its tail and burning in the wires. Miss McAsh, despite her injuries, crawled from the fringe of a pool of burning gasoline and helped to save the life of the unconscious pilot.

For the last two weeks Miss McAsh has been feted by friends in preparation for her wedding. The Rev. Mr. Shepperd prepared a home for his bride-to-be in Mazomanie, Wis., where he is now located.

Only last Saturday Miss McAsh, accompanied by her mother, attended a shower held in her honor in this city. At that time she discussed the wedding, which was to have been held at the new St. James' Presbyterian church in North London.

Dorothy Slack, daughter of Dr. Slack, dean of the institute of public health, was to have been the bridesmaid.

Asked About Durand.

"But," her friends asked, "what will happen to poor Charlie Durand? He calls at the library daily to take you for lunch."

"O, we understand each other," the bride elect replied. "Don't worry about Charlie."

The Rev. Dr. T. G. Wallace of St. James' Anglican church, South London, donned his vestments yesterday morning for a wedding ceremony. The bride was none other than Marjorie McAsh and the bridegroom "Poor Charlie" Durand. The bridegroom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Durand of London, were attendants. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left on a wedding trip.

PASTOR IS SHOCKED.

In shocked silence, the Rev. George F. Shepperd of Mazomanie, Wis., received the news last night that his intended bride, Miss Marjorie McAsh, had eloped with another man. No intimation of the fact had reached the clergyman prior to a telephone call to Mazomanie from THE TRIBUNE office to verify the facts in a dispatch from London, Ont.

The young minister confirmed the statement that he was planning to leave for London after next Sunday's church services to be married. He had received no message from Miss McAsh, he said, giving word of any change in plans.

The pastor then was informed of her wedding Sunday morning. To all further questions he answered:

"I do not think I shall make any statement."

RETURN VERDICT OF SUICIDE.

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of suicide while temporarily insane in the case of Marjorie Jane Stamper, 20 years old, 534 North Clark street, who leaped from the Dearborn street bridge on Thursday and was drowned.

WITHDRAW PLEA TO BREW AT OLD DRUGGAN PLANT

A third application for a brewery permit for the old Druggan-Lake brewery at 3300 Cermak road was withdrawn yesterday when an argument as to the ownership arose at a hearing in the office of E. C. Yellowley, supervisor of permits. The application was made by Attorney A. J. Schanfarber, heading a group which includes Albert Pick Jr. Attorney Peter Sissman, representing five men, including Simon Murray, a friend of Terry Druggan's, testified that the property did not belong to the Schanfarber group. Amid a discussion about a transfer of the brewery stock made some time ago Attorney Schanfarber withdrew his application.

'CON' MEN POSING AS POLICE FLEECE VISITING MINISTER

Two confidence men fleeced the Rev. David E. Jackson of Missoula, Mont., out of $45 yesterday by posing as policemen and placing him under "arrest" on a fake accusation. He told his story to Fillmore street police on the advice of the Rev. Alvyn Ross Hickman, 5308 Monroe street, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, with whom he is staying while visiting the World's Fair.

"I was walking around the third floor of a downtown store when two men stopped me," said the Rev. Mr. Jackson. "One of them displayed a badge. They identified themselves as policemen, and said they would have to lock me up because I had committed an immoral act.

"I was innocent of their charge, but, believing them to be policemen, I accompanied them to the street. We got into a taxicab, and during the conversation the men said there was no sense in going to the station, that I would get a lot of injurious publicity and ruin my name. 'We can take care of things,' one of them said. Rather than be subjected to the ordeal of arrest and publicity, I gave them $45 and they left me."

Police said the minister was victim of an old racket. He is 51 years old, and pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Missoula.

FINDS HOSPITALS MUST SAVE BY CUTTING 'FRILLS'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 11.—Hospitals of America are finding that many things "are done without sufficient reason and might be discontinued with benefit," Dr. George F. Stephens of Winnipeg, Canada, president of the American Hospital association, said tonight in his annual address to the 35th convention of the organization which opened here today.

He declared it is not only the public who need education on hospital costs and curtailment.

"Our doctors may need it quite as much," he said. "The same individuals who have cut their personal expenses, put up one car, dropped one or several clubs, doubled up in their offices, and cut their assistants' salaries are the same people who frequently think hospital service should remain intact; that they should order freely as in the past, desirable but not essential laboratory procedure; repeat X-ray examinations, special expensive pharmaceuticals, blood transfusions too late to do good, gas instead of ether, and so forth.

"In many cases it cannot and should not be done. I, for one, believe that the art of medicine is not going to suffer as a result of these curtailments, nor will the teaching of the next generation of physicians be in any way inferior. We will get back to the eyes and the ears and to the touch and equipment which God has given us, and use the laboratory as an aid to diagnosis, for which it was originally intended."

Washington Girls Get Fair Visit as Personality Prize

Mildred Ralph and Esther Osin of Washington, D. C., winners of a personality contest conducted there by a motion picture company, arrived at the Stevens hotel yesterday for a four day visit to the World's Fair, the prize in the contest.

LEONARD GETS LOT OF TROUBLE OFF HIS CHEST

The troubles that beset Leonard Lippoldt, 29 years old, 21 West Ontario street, after he had lost his sweetheart to a rival came to light yesterday before Judge Thomas A. Green in Felony court.

Several weeks ago, the story goes, the sweetheart called Lippoldt and told him she loved another man. Lippoldt then met Fred F. Peabody, 42 years old, 2100 West Madison street, once a union business agent, and told him of his love troubles.

"You should have her new sweetie slugged," suggested Peabody. "Your girl won't like him so well if you sort of shift his features."

"All right," said Lippoldt, "but where does one buy sluggers?"

"I will do the job for a down payment of $20," said Peabody.

The money was paid. A few days later Peabody came back.

"I'm afraid," he told Lippoldt, "that I went too far. I shot him 18 times. He may die."

Realizing that he was equally guilty with Peabody, Lippoldt paid a total of $15 at different times to insure silence. Last Thursday on demand for another payment Lippoldt decided to give himself up. He went to the Criminal court building and sought Public Defender Joseph Power.

"I am in need of a good defense," he told the defender, "and I have no money for a lawyer." Further questioning resulted in the arrest and confession of Peabody.

"I was merely playing Lippoldt for a sucker," Peabody told the police.

"How about Lippoldt's rival?" he was asked.

"I never saw him," Peabody said.

"Who is he?" the policeman asked Lippoldt.

"Come to think of it, I don't know," replied Lippoldt.

Peabody pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 60 days in the House of Correction on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Officials of A Century of Progress yesterday began making a special appeal for Chicagoans to visit the Exposition during the remaining seven weeks. They expressed confidence that the local citizenry will respond in great numbers now that the uncomfortably hot weather is apparently at an end.

The Fair officials also feel that the close of the vacation season, with a consequent decrease in attendance from other states, will encourage more Chicagoans to come out, particularly those who have delayed their visits in the hope of avoiding the congestion of the 200,000 and 300,000 days.

Asks Stickers in Store Windows.

Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager, expressed the opinion that the small shopkeepers—the corner groceries, drug stores, and shine parlors—in the northwest and south sides could do much toward boosting Chicago attendance at the Fair by displaying flags and banners and helping to spread the carnival spirit.

Florida had its day at the Fair yesterday with a program of speeches and music in the Federal building and the dedication of its picturesque tropical garden exhibit in the Court of States.

Only 50 More Days Remain in Which to See the Fair.

Gov. David Sholtz, who was escorted by United States army troops down the Avenue of Flags from the 14th street gate, made the principal address, extolling the virtues of the peninsula state of palm trees and orange groves with a variation of Horace Greeley's admonition to go west. He called the south the new frontier of hope for the youth of the land.

Oranges Ripening in Exhibit.

There was music by the famous Orange Blossom quartet and the Tallahassee Capital City band, and Chief Shee-Noo, the Indian tenor, sang. After the ceremonies the Floridians admired their state exhibit, officially presented by W. C. Hodges, chairman of the state commission. The oranges on the trees transplanted from their native groves are now ripening.

A light rain made it necessary to hold the ceremonies inside, but did not prevent a gratifying attendance.

Admissions up to 11:30 p. m. totaled 101,544.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

Maj. Felix Streyckmans, chief of foreign participation at the World's Fair, announced yesterday that eight leading concessionaires had agreed to supply acts and music for the elaborate Venetian carnival in the north lagoon at the floating theater Thursday night. Three hours of entertainment in a setting of illuminated yachts and floats, the doges' palace, and the Bridge of Sighs will be climaxed by the crowning of Miss Virginia Caffarello as queen of the carnival aboard a reproduction of Cleopatra's barge.

Members of the Automotive Transportation Supervisors' Association of Chicago will spend Thursday at the Fair seeing the Firestone, Chrysler Motors, and General Motors exhibits. They will assemble at the Firestone building at 10 a. m. and will be conducted through the model tire factory there.

Richard S. Beaubien and his wife, Fannie, descendants of two French-Canadians who were among the earliest pioneers of Chicago, will be presented with medals Friday as part of the French-Canadian day ceremonies at the Fair. The presentation will take place in the Court of States during the program, which begins at 7 p. m.

The tentative program for Minnesota day at the Fair Sept. 21 includes speeches by Gov. Floyd B. Olson, Senator Henrik Shipstead, and Mrs. John J. Louis, president of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs; music by the 151st Minnesota Field Artillery band, and entertainment by Olsen and Johnson, stage comedians. The program will begin at 2:30 p. m. in the Court of States.

The steamship Noronic is to arrive here at 5 o'clock this afternoon with 550 Canadian officials for a two day visit to the Fair. The passengers, who are members of the union of municipalities and of parliament, will live aboard the boat, which will be docked near the Merchandise Mart. The ship left Prescott, Ont., last Thursday, and Chicago will be its first stop. Collector of Customs Anthony Czarnecki will extend the courtesy of the port to the visitors, he said last night.

Between May 27, the opening date of the Fair, and Labor day, Sept. 4, 368,301 passengers were brought into Chicago by the New York Central lines, D. M. Bowman, passenger traffic manager, announced yesterday. Each month showed an increase in passenger traffic over the preceding month, and indications are that September's traffic will continue this rise.

Charles Hardin, chief of police of Deadwood, S. D., and pioneer rancher, arrived yesterday in Chicago to attend A Century of Progress. Hardin's sister-in-law, Miss Mary King, was Miss South Dakota at the Columbian Exposition of 1893. She plans to attend the Fair before its close, Hardin said.

Preparations for the participation of business and civic organizations of the Woodlawn-Grand Crossing neighborhood in the observance of South Side day Friday at the Fair were made at a meeting last night in the Hayes hotel. To arouse enthusiasm for the celebration a parade will be held Thursday evening. The line of march is from 60th street south in Cottage Grove avenue to 63d street and east to Jackson park.

Mrs. E. G. Theodore, wife of the former prime minister of Queensland, Australia, and her two daughters, Myra and Monica, visited A Century of Progress Exposition yesterday. They are returning to Australia after a motor tour through England and southern France.

Lucy Hard-to-Be-Seen Miner, Winbago Indian girl, won the contest for selection of the prettiest girl in the American Indian village at the World's Fair last night. Lucy, 19 years old, is one of the dancers in the Indian ceremonials given daily by the six tribes in the village. Girls from all the tribes, wearing white deer skin dresses with long beaded fringe and feathers in their long hair, stood in line before a jury of three Indian chiefs.

AIRSHIPS AT FAIR GIVE 32,000 FIRST TASTE OF FLYING

2 Amphibion Planes and 2 Blimps Carry Sightseers.

More than 32,000 visitors to the World's Fair this summer have left the earth for the first time to take sight-seeing rides in the two Sikorsky amphibions operated at the Pal-Waukee airport concession, or in the two Goodyear blimps, the Puritan and the Reliance. Another 5,000 persons who have been in airplanes, or airships before have seen the Fair from the air.

The air mindedness of visitors to the Fair has not surprised the operators of the two flying concessions, because they have noted the exceptionally heavy travel on all air lines that serve Chicago. Reservations have been difficult to obtain except by applying several days in advance. Extra planes have been added to accommodate the heavy traffic.

24,000 Carried by Blimps.

The two Goodyear blimps, which operate from a dock at 35th street and the lake, have carried 24,000 passengers since May 29 on ten minute rides over the Fair at a cost of $3 a passenger. Each ship carries six passengers in addition to the pilot. Records show that more than 90 per cent of the passengers had not flown before.

The two blimps are of 112,000 cubic foot capacity each, are inflated by helium gas, and are manned by a crew of six pilots, under J. A. Boettner. The pilots are in training for projected lighter than air transport lines over the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. The record day for passengers on the blimps was Aug. 23, when 816 persons were carried.

14,025 Take Airplanes.

The two Sikorsky amphibions operated from the Pal-Waukee ramp at 31st street have carried 14,025 passengers on 1,756 flights since the Fair opened. The flights average ten minutes and the fare is $3 a person. Eighty per cent of the passengers had not flown before. The crash of a similar plane at Glenview, Ill., early this summer, in which the pilot, his mechanic and seven passengers were killed, has not affected the business of these planes.

The two Sikorskys are piloted by three skilled seaplane pilots—Capt. Frank E. Ormsbee, naval flyer who has the Congressional Medal of Honor and who pioneered on routes for Pan-American Airways in South America; Capt. Boris Sergievsky, Russian ace and chief test pilot for the Sikorsky company, and Lieut. Walter Brooke, navy flyer and pioneer on the Pan-American Airways in South America.

FINDS WISCONSIN IS BENEFITED BY WORLD'S FAIR

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—The benefits which surrounding states are deriving from A Century of Progress at Chicago, principally in the way of tourist trade, is shown in a statement issued today by John L. Barchard, president of the Wisconsin state chamber of commerce.

He states that more than 75,000 visitors already have registered at the information booths in the Wisconsin exhibit at the Fair.

"More than 27,000 have been routed to Wisconsin by the bureau," Mr. Barchard stated. "In addition, many other thousands have made inquiry about almost every conceivable form of interest and activity.

"Sixty-two requests were received for information about universities and colleges, and one about art galleries. Nearly 100 requests were made relating to dairying, tobacco districts, cranberry growing, wholesale and retail potatoes and vegetables, and the like."

Grave Found Open, Believe Treasure of Gold Sought

Edwardsville, Ill., Sept. 11.—(AP)—The grave of Johann Jacob Bizer, who was buried 65 years ago, has been found open in an abandoned churchyard near here. Officers believe the grave was opened by some one seeking a treasure of gold and valuables which, according to community tradition, was buried with Bizer.

ALLOWS COUNSEL FEES OF $15,500 IN BANKRUPTCY

Attorneys' fees totalling $15,500 were allowed yesterday in the bankruptcy case of the Hartman Furniture and Carpet company by Garfield Charles, federal referee in bankruptcy. It was also announced that a first payment of 15 per cent has been made to the creditors, whose claims amount to about $1,000,000.

Attorney Julius Moses, representing the bankrupt company, was awarded $6,500. Attorney Joseph Schwartz, counsel for the creditors, was allowed a similar fee. Attorny Arthur Schwartz, sounsel for Fred E. Hummel, the trustee in bankruptcy, was allowed $2,500 on account.

Mr. Hummel said that payments to creditors will probably amount to 30 or 35 per cent. The major portion of the company's assets were sold for $475,000.

Man Drops Dynamite; No Explosion; He Breaks Neck!

New Albany, Ind., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Fellow workmen fled in all directions as John Cecil Austin, 32, slipped and dropped a heavy box of dynamite he was loading on a barge here today. The dynamite did not explode, but the box fell on Austin's neck and broke it, causing his death.

MECHANIC FINED FOR 'BORROWING' LICENSE PLATES

Benjamin Crabtree, mechanic in a garage at 3818 Sheffield avenue, was fined $25 and costs by Municipal Judge Eugene Holland yesterday for using fictitious license plates on his automobile.

His conviction was the first in the drive against motorists who fail to buy their own license plates. Police testified that when arrested on Saturday he was using on his car plates which he had taken from a car stored in the garage where he works.

Next Monday 125 truck drivers, arrested for driving trucks with hard tires in violation of the state law, will be arraigned before Judge Holland.

Railroad Firemen of 1893 Reunited at World's Fair

Frank Nelson of Paw Paw, Mich.; L. Price of Baker, Mont., and David Reese of Iron Mountain, Mich., who attended the Columbian Exposition together in 1893, were reunited yesterday at A Century of Progress. All three were railroad firemen at the time of the 1893 Fair. Now Mr. Nelson is owner of a nursery near Paw Paw, Mr. Price is a hardware merchant and president of the National bank in Baker, and Mr. Reese is an engineer for the Chicago and North Western.

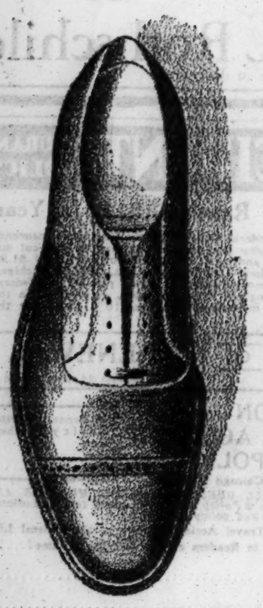
HAVE YOU AN OUTFLARE FOOT?



THE NEW FLORSHEIM WINFIELD WILL FIT WHEN OTHERS WON'T

The outflare foot is a normal foot that differs from a regular or inflare foot, because of the distribution of the weight of the body. The Florsheim Winfield gives the free toe-room necessary to avoid the crowded condition of the toes in a regular last. Instep corns are relieved—"run-over" shoes eliminated—and a special heel wedge shifts the weight of the body to permit easy natural walking.

PLEDGE PLENTY OF JUDGES TO PUSH CRIME WAR

Ready to Delay Civil Cases for Drive on Hoodlums.

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

By a unanimous vote of the executive committees of the Superior and Circuit court yesterday afternoon it was decided to send as many judges to the Criminal court as may be necessary to carry the war on crime to a successful conclusion. Speedy justice is the only deterrent to crime, it was agreed by the judges, and the only way to administer such justice is to clean up the Criminal court docket "once and for all."

Chief Justice Denis J. Sullivan of the Superior court, speaking for the executive committees of the courts, said that the judges had agreed to curtail civil litigation for the time being, if necessary, in order to clean up the criminal situation. The executive committees agreed to have as many as 15 judges sitting in the Criminal court if they are needed. The usual assignment to the court does not exceed seven judges.

Police Slayer on Trial.

The judges of the Criminal court under the leadership of Chief Justice Philip L. Sullivan started to work in earnest yesterday after a week of difficulties. One police slayer was placed on trial and virtually all of the 10 courts now in operation were engaged in jury trials before the day ended.

The judges yesterday added three more penitentiary sentences, bringing the total up to 268 since the war on criminals started five weeks ago by Judge John Prystalski, then chief justice of the Criminal court.

Chief Justice Philip Sullivan of the Criminal court said he welcomed all the help he could obtain from his associates. He said he would start to work at once to prepare additional calendars and to summon additional veniremen so that there would be no lack of jurors when the new judges started to work.

Members of Committees.

The members of the executive committees of the Circuit and Superior courts are Judges Denis J. Sullivan, Robert E. Gentzel and James J. Kelly of the Superior court, and Judges Denis J. Normoyle, Philip L. Finnegan and William V. Brothers of the Circuit court. The meeting was held in the chambers of Judge Kelly.

"Owing to the wave of crime we have decided to assign all the judges that are necessary to clean up the Criminal court docket once and for all," said Judge Denis Sullivan, speaking for the executive committees. "We will even assign five judges in addition to the present ten judges in the court if necessary.

"The crime situation is serious and must be cleaned up. The only thing the criminals are afraid of is speedy justice, and that we intend to give them until such time as they realize that Chicago is a good city to stay out of. We have agreed that we will curtail the civil litigation in the courts temporarily, if necessary, to handle the criminal situation effectively. We are in this war to a finish."

The executive committees said they would appoint Judge Denis Sullivan to confer with the county board to make certain that enough help is available in the various departments to keep the extra courts going at top speed.

The police slaying case which was started to trial yesterday is that of "Piccolo Pete" Pace, who is charged with killing Policeman Patrick J. Ryan on Aug. 8. The prosecution contends that Pace, a minor north west side hoodlum, shot the policeman because the latter refused to drink with him in a saloon. Assistant State's Attorney Charles A. Dougherty pledged the jury, which was selected yesterday, to inflict the death penalty should the state prove sufficient cause.

Three Prison Sentences.

The prison sentences imposed by the judges yesterday were as follows:

Charles Roundtree, 38 years old, colored, sentenced to one to 20 years by Judge Walter Steffen for taking indecent liberties with a 9 year old girl.

Ben Skolnick, 25, sentenced to one year to life by Judge Walter L. LaBuy. He was found guilty of robbing the Rev. Ladislaus J. Nosal, 126 North Des Plaines street, a Catholic priest, of $9 and an automobile on July 24.

George Wilson, 27, was sentenced to one year to life by Judge LaBuy for robbing Preston Grady, 5142 Wabash avenue, of $6 and an automobile on July 2.

Judge Steffen made arrangements yesterday to dispose of the cases of Joseph Fess and Edward Veselka on Friday. They were indicted in connection with the murder of George Carl, a grocer. Mrs. Vera Carl, the widow, is already serving a 14 years' sentence in the penitentiary for the murder. Ivan Grilec and John Milosec are serving life sentences. Fess was the actual killer, but turned state's evidence against the others. He indicated that he would plead guilty on Friday and accept a life sentence. Prosecutor Dougherty agreed to waive the death penalty in his case in view of his testimony for the prosecution.

Noted Bridge Authority Is Married

Ceremony in London

LONDON, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Theodore Lightner, New York lawyer and internationally known contract bridge player, and Mrs. Mary Patricia Smith were married today at the Paddington registry office. A notice that they planned to be married was filed late in August after Mr. Lightner had known Mrs. Smith, a 25 year old widow, for three weeks.

JUDGE SONSTEBY ACTS TO SPEED VAG LAW TRIALS

Hoodlum Seized Under New Statute Pleads Guilty.

Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court yesterday dug a few pitfalls for men accused as vagabonds under the new "reputation law" who seek delays by asking jury trials and a change of venue from Judge Thomas A. Green of the Felony court, who issued nearly 100 of the vagabond warrants. Judge Sonsteby, author of the new law under which four notorious gangsters have been convicted, will himself hear some of the cases in which changes of venue or jury trials are asked. He has also assigned Judge Frank M. Padden to hear such cases, so that there will be no delay as a result of dilatory tactics of defense lawyers.

Both Justice Sonsteby and Judge Padden will sit at the Criminal court building, where the Felony court is located, so that there may be a speedy transfer of cases from Judge Green's court.

James Adducci, Willie Francis, Edward "Spike" O'Donnell and Jack ["West Side"] Barry served notice they believed Judge Green prejudiced against them and that they wanted to be tried before another judge. Also they want jury trials. Judges Sonsteby and Padden said they would be accommodated speedily.

Sammons Forfeits Bonds.

James ["Fur"] Sammons, whose record is perhaps the worst of any Chicago criminal still at large, showed his indisposition to go to trial by forfeiting two bonds of $10,000 each before Judge Michael Feinberg in the Criminal court yesterday. Prosecutors said he did so because had he appeared he would have been arrested on one of Judge Green's vagabond warrants and taken before the judge at once and placed on trial.

One defendant appeared before Judge Green yesterday morning and did not request either a change of venue or jury trial. Instead, this defendant, Joe DeBaro, pleaded guilty. De Baro has a long criminal record and Supervising Police Capt. John Stege, who arrested him, said he was of the "mad dog" type and a member of the "42" gang. The defendant said he knew he would be found guilty and that he might as well get it over.

"As you have pleaded guilty I'll be lenient; I'll give you five months instead of six," said Judge Green.

Belcastro Is Sentenced.

James Belcastro, known as the "king of the bombers," who obtained a transfer of his case from Judge Green to the court of Judge Robert J. Dunne, and then found guilty by a jury last Saturday, was sentenced to the maximum of six months' imprisonment yesterday by Judge Dunne.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Joe Saltis as a vagabond and Saltis' early surrender has been promised by lawyers, but up to last night the beer gangster had not appeared. However, he came to the notice of the authorities when Chief Game Warden W. H. McKennie of Wisconsin called at the detective bureau. Saltis has been arrested in Wisconsin four times as a violator of state game laws, McKennie said, and the warden is seeking evidence on which Saltis may be imprisoned as an habitual criminal.

Saltis, who has a summer home in Wisconsin and a beer business in Chicago, has been convicted here three times, Chief of Detectives Schoemaker pointed out to McKennie, who is now in Chicago.

Captured in Kansas City.

Sammons was captured recently in Kansas City and returned to Chicago where two old cases were reinstated against him. This was done, State's Attorney Courtney said, to hold him until the Supreme court passed on his last release from prison. If the Supreme court should reverse Judge Edward Shurtleff of Marengo, who freed Sammons from the penitentiary, Sammons could be returned to Joliet for life.

The prosecuting authorities of Baltimore, Md., yesterday asked State's Attorney Courtney, in a telephone conversation, to turn Sammons over to them. They want him for a robbery of which Willie Niemoth, one of the Saltis gang, was convicted and is serving 15 years. Mr. Courtney said that if the Supreme court ruled with Judge Shurtleff he would send Sammons to Baltimore—provided Sammons should be captured again.

The bondsmen whose property was forfeited when Sammons did not appear before Judge Feinberg yesterday are Nicholas and Christina Alex, 2604 Wentworth avenue, and Frank and Vasileke Alexopoulas, 2154 Montrose avenue.

LOS ANGELES WILL EXACT REGISTRATION OF ALL EX-CONVICTS

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 11.—(AP)—The Los Angeles city council moved today to require the registration of all former convicts.

"This is the final step in our plan to squelch gangsterism," said District Attorney Buron Fitts.

The grand jury recommended the action at a meeting attended by Mayor Frank L. Shaw, city councilmen, county commissioners, and law enforcement officers.

Fitts and County Counsel Everett Mattoon immediately began to draft an ordinance which would require former convicts to report to the sheriff within forty-eight hours of their arrival here and give a history of their crimes, their local residence, and satisfactory information as to their means of support.

GOVERNOR MAY TRY TO UNSEAT SUPREME COURT

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Gov. W. H. [Alfalfa Bill] Murray said today he was considering an attempt to unseat all members of the state Supreme court through an initiative petition to amend the constitution.

At the same time the governor disclosed he has retained W. A. Ledbetter of Oklahoma City as attorney to file a new suit in an effort to vacate the court's decision nullifying the last legislature's action in reducing the salaries of elective state officials by 15 per cent.

"I am seriously considering an initiative petition to amend the constitution to change the form of the districts and the number of judges which would state that upon adoption of this amendment, new judges will be appointed or elected," Gov. Murray announced.

He said if the plan materializes, the proposed amendment would be submitted at the first primary election in 1934.

GUNMEN INVADE SENECA HOTEL; FLEE WITH $1,000

Three gunmen invaded the Seneca hotel, 208 East Chestnut street, and escaped with $1,000 after lining 20 employés and guests against the wall yesterday afternoon. The bandits drove to the hotel in a sedan which they parked at the curb.

As the driver engaged the doorman in conversation the other three robbers dashed into the lobby and threatened guests and employés with their revolvers. One of the bandits leaped over the desk and took the money from the cash drawer as his companions guarded the three clerks on duty and others with their revolvers.

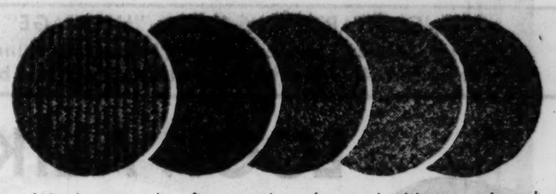
CLOTHES FOR COLLEGE

You see here what is needed and what is considered right—selected for you by seniors of five leading colleges.

Wherever you go you find that brims are still snapping and crowns are pinched sharply in the front. Choose grey or the dark seal brown bound edge brim, $5. Don't forget a derby, you'll get a lot of use out of it. Derby $7.



We show here but five swatches of several suitings unanimously approved of. On the whole, greater preference was shown those suitings considered conservative—plain colored worsteds, almost indistinct overplaids, chalk stripes, preferably in gray. An Oxford gray suit, or something equally as dark is almost essential—it's a suit you wear on Sunday and evenings during the week when there is something special on. Suits with two pairs of trousers, $35.

In the selection of your socks, be conservative. Clocked hose are good. For evening and Sunday, wear black silk with white clocks, and of course, black silk for Tux and full dress wear, $1 pair.

So far, nothing has come up to take the place of the Camel's hair overcoat. It's still looked upon as not only being very smart, but very practical. In the natural color as well as in darker shades with half belt, $35.

As to ties, all-over patterns are by far the most popular. Stripes are liked, but only when they are widely spaced. Include, too, a few solid colors, $1 and $1.50.

An odd sports coat of the type shown is something not to be overlooked. Worn with odd flannel trousers makes another suit for general sports wear. Coat $15.

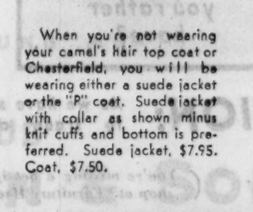
White shirts with collar attached—include too a few Tabs in British stripe shirtings. $1.95 to $2.50.

Sweaters are among the indispensables. As to style of neck, the crew type probably has the edge. Crew and V neck sweaters, $3.50.

The shoe shown is good in either black or brown for evening or Sunday wear. For class wear, the plain toe shoe with or without saddle strap. For sports, black or brown with saddle straps. In the boot shop, $6 pair. Also needed, a comfortable and practical pair of slippers.



When you're not wearing your camel's hair top coat or Chesterfield, you will be wearing either a suede jacket or the "P" coat. Suede jacket with collar as shown minus knit cuffs and bottom is preferred. Suede jacket, $7.95. Coat, $7.50.

Very essential are the odd flannel slacks and knickers, both for sports wear and class wear. The knickers are worn especially on rainy days—saves cuffs and pressing bills. Slacks, $6.50. Knickers, $4.85.

FALSE TEETH
"Stay Put," Says Druggist

"With my gums gradually shrinking I had difficulty keeping my plate in position with the various denture powders. Most of them last only a few hours. Now I use FASTEETH, and what a difference! I now wear my plate for 24 hours with absolute security and comfort. Fasteeth does not wash away or become thinned out, but 'STAYS PUT' until I am ready to remove plate. FASTEETH is tasteless. Does not sour or cause foul breath. Holds false teeth all day long."

U.S. BALLOONISTS FOUND IN WILDS; BRUISED AND ILL

Telephone Wire Is Cut to Attract Attention.

SUDBURY, Ontario, Sept. 11.—(AP)—After more than a week of struggling through dense bush with packs on their backs, Ward T. Van Orman and Frank A. Trotter, participants in the James Gordon Bennett balloon race, were found today. Both were badly bruised and Van Orman was "pretty sick."

In addition both suffered from ptomaine poisoning, their clothes were torn to ribbons and their shoe soles were worn through in fighting their way toward the line of the Ontario Hydroelectric company. Their food was berries, pork and beans.

Their rescue was made possible by the cutting down of a telephone pole along this line, for James Barrett, lineman, seeking the cause of an interruption in service, found a note written by the aeronauts. Following a course which the note mentioned, the lineman found the Americans in a camp at Tower No. 38, an outpost.

Tells of Experiences.

Trotter vividly described their experiences in a message sent to his wife at Akron, O. It read:

"Were caught aloft in very bad squall and forced down in longitude 81.1 west, latitude 47.2 north, by calculation. Landed in a forest at about 40 miles an hour. Balloon [the Goodyear IX] completely wrecked. Pulled inside out. Landed upside down. Basket caught 20 feet off ground, where we slept first night in the storm. Made camp, calculated position, held up by bad weather in starting out for southwest, searching for railroad.

"Blazed trail from balloon as long as we were able. Four miles was daily average. Speed through dense bush with packs was slow.

"Van and I suffered no injuries in landing. Feet pretty sore and Van pretty sick. Both suffered from ptomaine on the trip."

Balloonists Shout with Glee.

"I never saw two men in my life who were so glad to see another human being," said Linesman Barrett. "They hollered with glee and hugged and kissed me as soon as they saw me."

With Van Orman and Trotter found, all the Bennett cup racers who took off from Chicago Sept. 2 have been accounted for. Apparently the winners are Capt. Franciszek Hynek and Lieut. Zbygniew Burzynski of Poland, who landed near Riviere à Pierre, Quebec, 812 miles from Chicago. Van Orman and Trotter made about 500 miles. Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle and Charles H. Kendall, pilots of the United States navy balloon, landed in Connecticut. They traveled about 750 miles.

Balloons representing Germany, Belgium, and France flew shorter distances.

If Van Orman and Trotter are unable to walk they will be carried through the woods on stretchers to the Canadian National railway's main line, six miles from their camp. There they will be put aboard a train for this place. No word reached here as to when the start will be made.

SLIGHTLY HURT AS TRUCK FALLS THREE STORIES

Joseph Slosi, 31 years old, 4630 North Ashland avenue, escaped with no further injuries than a gash in his scalp yesterday when he backed a truck into an open elevator shaft and fell three stories to a sub-basement of the Stop and Shop grocery, 16 West Washington street.

Slosi, an employé of Cuneo Brothers, commission merchants at 93-5 South Water Market, was delivering a truckload of produce to the store. He had intended to back the truck onto an elevator in the rear of the building to be unloaded inside the store, but Henry Gerold, 4022 North Menard avenue, ran the elevator to an upper floor just before Slosi started to back up.

The truck was wrecked at the bottom of the elevator shaft.

Pianist Sues Horn Player for Breach of Promise

Martha Bowman, 5609 Blackstone avenue, a piano teacher, yesterday filed the declaration of a $50,000 breach of promise suit in the Superior court against Harry G. Hornstein, 2102 North Central Park avenue. According to Attorney Harry D. Cohen, representing Miss Bowman, Hornstein plays the French horn. The declaration alleged that Hornstein promised to marry Miss Bowman in 1927 and 1929, but now intends to marry another girl.

N. U. APPOINTS FORMER NAVY PILOT TO TEACH AVIATION ENGINEERING

Lieut. Lawrence A. Clousing of the naval reserve air force will have charge of several courses in aeronautical engineering in the engineering school of Northwestern university that will be established this fall, it was announced yesterday by Dean W. C. Bauer of the engineering school. Both technical and nontechnical subjects will be treated.

LIEUT. L. A. CLOUSING. [Toloff Photo.]

The courses are being established because of Chicago's position as the aviation center of the country, Dean Bauer said. They will be expanded to a full course in aeronautical engineering under a new division of the engineering school if the request for courses that are now being established is sufficient, he said.

Lieut. Clousing is a former navy pilot with considerable flight experience. He resigned from the navy to continue his study of aeronautical engineering, and received a master's degree at the University of Minnesota.

RECOVER BODIES OF THREE LOST IN 'GIRO' CRASH

The bodies of two men and a girl who disappeared last Wednesday on an autogiro flight from South Bend to Chicago were recovered from Lake Michigan yesterday at Indiana Harbor. No trace was found of the autogiro which had carried its three occupants to death in the lake.

The bodies recovered were those of Miss Majenta Gerard, 22 years old, 7617 Washington boulevard, River Forest; H. W. [Spud] Manning of Pico, Cal., world's champion parachute jumper, and Charles T. Otto of Haverford, Pa., pilot of the autogiro.

Lost on Flight to Chicago.

Manning and Miss Gerard flew to South Bend from Chicago on an air liner last Tuesday to attend a party at the home of Vincent Bendix, aviation manufacturer. They met Otto at the party and decided to fly back to Chicago with him the following morning. After the autogiro passed over Michigan City it disappeared and planes and coast guard crews searched for it in vain.

Miss Gerard's body was found by children on the beach at the foot of Aldis avenue in Indiana Harbor. The body of Manning was later discovered by workmen on the beach near the plant of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company. The workmen saw Otto's body in the lake, and it was recovered by coast guardsmen.

Brother Goes to South Bend.

Miss Gerard's brother, Bernard Gerard, a River Forest policeman, and friends of Otto and Manning went to Indiana Harbor late in the day to claim the bodies.

Capt. Lewis A. Yancey, autogiro expert, said that Otto's autogiro probably had been forced down in the lake when it ran out of gasoline while bucking a stiff west wind. The autogiro would not float like an ordinary plane because of its lack of buoyant wing surface, he said.

Manning, who was 24 years old, is survived by his widow and a 3 year old son, Denny. He had made hundreds of parachute jumps and developed the delayed opening parachute drop. He set a world's record for that type of drop by leaping from a plane at an altitude of 16,665 feet and dropping 15,265 feet before opening his parachute.

Otto was 36 years old. He is survived by his widow and two children. He flew the ill fated autogiro for an oil company.

REPORTS HAY FEVER POLLEN COUNT HERE HIGHEST IN 4 YEARS

Hay fever seasons in Chicago, according to official records of the density of pollen in the air, have been successively worse each season for the last four years, being climaxed by the present season, O. C. Durham of the Abbott laboratories of North Chicago said in an address over W-G-N yesterday.

He said Indianapolis has had a higher pollen content average than this city's, registering a higher content for seven days in August than Chicago's all time record, established Sept. 1, of 870. That number represents the number of pollen granules in one cubic yard of air. Detroit air likewise has been more painful to hay fever victims than Chicago air, the content on one day this season reaching 1,000.

A sharp drop in the content the last two days shows the worst of the season, which usually lasts until Sept. 20, to be over. An average of more than 400 was established for the first nine days in September, Durham said. Figures for the last six days up to yesterday are:

Tuesday, Sept. 5, 359; Wednesday, 573; Thursday, 313; Friday, 308; Saturday, 160; and Sunday, 7.

LEGIONNAIRE, 75, FIRST TO ARRIVE FOR CONVENTION

William T. Jowett, 75 years old, of Antelope, Ore., arrived in Chicago yesterday, the first visiting Legionnaire to reach the city for the American Legion convention, which will open here on Oct. 2. He was the first of the many thousands who are expected here. Jowett has a record for first arrival at Legion conventions. Col. Adna G. Clarke, of the United States army, who is stationed in Hawaii and who is national Legion executive committeeman, registered at the convention headquarters just after Mr. Jowett.

ROOSEVELT FOR EASIER CREDITS TO HELP TRADE

Also Talks Oil Control; Insuring Deposits.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—[Special.] — President Roosevelt today sought, in a series of rapid fire White House conferences, to put additional steam behind three aspects of his recovery campaign, expansion of credit, insurance of bank deposits, and control of the oil industry.

A general survey of the activities of the government's various credit agencies was conducted this afternoon by the President at a meeting attended by the heads of each of the units. Expansion of credit to put over the recovery drive was the purpose of the meeting.

Aid for Small Business.

Aid for the small business man, who still is having trouble with his credit arrangements now is the central question in the government's credit problem, according to Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, who attended the conference. Large industries are finding accommodations, he said.

Banks in small towns must be convinced that loans are now feasible, according to Mr. Jones. They are still hanging back and not helping the merchants and industries in their communities, Mr. Jones said.

Mr. Jones repeated his threat that the government plans to take over functions of banks through the medium of mortgage corporations, formed among industries for the discounting of paper with the R. F. C. This device, he said, would clear up the remaining credit difficulties in the road of the recovery drive.

Would Buy Bank Stock.

Mr. Jones urged also that banks sell preferred stock to the R. F. C., thus increasing their lending power. Already, he declared, 120 banks have sold 65 million dollars' worth of stock to the R. F. C., but the government is willing to spend up to a billion dollars on that form of credit expansion.

Evidence that the banks have yielded slightly to the appeals of the administration for greater liberality in the granting of loans, came today, when the federal reserve board issued its weekly survey of member banks in ninety leading cities. The survey showed that in the week ended Sept. 6 the banks increased their commercial loans by 23 million dollars. Loans on securities declined 18 millions at the same time, showing a shift away from speculative lending.

Study Oil Control Problem.

While the President was discussing the problem of controlling the oil industry and especially of regulating its prices, the consumers' advisory board of the NRA issued a statement calling upon Secretary of the Interior Ickes, oil administrator, not to set retail prices for gasoline until the effect of such a move on the consumers could be studied.

Secretary Ickes, after his conference with the President, said that the price fixing provisions would remain in the oil code, but that he would not attempt to regulate prices until such a step became necessary.

"Persuasive representations have been made to this board," the consumers' advisory board said in its statement to Secretary Ickes, "that uniform retail price fixing would hurt the consumer and the retail development of more efficient methods of distribution, without contributing anything basic to the solution of the oil problem."

Citing the increase of one cent a gallon which the Standard Oil company of Indiana has put into effect, as an example, Mrs. Charles Carey Rumsey, chairman of the advisory board, asked that the effect of recent price increases in crude oil on the consumer be studied.

Talk Deposit Insurance.

Walter J. Cummings of Chicago, formerly assistant to the secretary of the treasury, who has been appointed chairman of the new deposit insurance corporation, also was called to the White House today. With him were E. C. Bennett, another director, and Controller of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor, who becomes a director, ex officio.

After returning to their offices the three directors issued a statement in which they repeated the assurance given to the American Bankers' association by the President, that the object of the corporation would be to insure as many nonmember banks as possible.

In another conference, plans to collect a billion dollars in back taxes due the federal government, were laid before President Roosevelt today by Guy T. Helvering, commissioner of internal revenue.

Of the total due, 750 million dollars is tied up in litigation which the government is seeking to speed, Helvering explained, because tax payers are seeking to have it refunded to them. Another 250 million dollars has not been paid in. Assured by the President of a sufficient fund to carry on the work, Helvering said he hoped to round up 300 millions in the near future without great difficulty. No prosecutions are being planned at present.

NAME 6 COMMITTEES TO PUSH CHICAGO RECOVERY PROGRAM

The Chicago Recovery administration [CRA] completed its organization yesterday at its second meeting in the city council chamber.

The outlined program and the committee lists proposed by the executive committee were presented by Chairman Newton C. Farr and were approved. The six committees are to meet separately, each taking up its own subject.

The committees named were as follows:

BUDGETS—Chairman Farr, Mayor Kelly, James B. McCahey, Thomas J. Bowler, Harry Joseph, A. A. Plamondon, Emmett Whealan, William E. McDonnell, Ald. John S. Clark, Alfred Cowles, George W. Rossetter, Prof. A. R. Hatton, John O. Rees, and Harry Cenfield.

LEGISLATION — Alfred Cowles, V. A. Olander, Lester Falk, George W. Rossetter, William Stelzer, Howard H. Haylett, Douglas Sutherland and Nathan K. McGill.

Before announcing the personnel of the committees Chairman Farr talked briefly, discussing the three main fields for study—the financing and credit of the local governments, the revenue problems of those governments, and their expenditures.

More specifically, he said, the executive committee agreed that there are five main problems for immediate consideration. In the first place he named the making up of the 1934 budgets of the several local governments, a task assigned to his own committee which, he added, would scrutinize the 1933 appropriations, the estimates for next year, and the report of the citizens' committee on public expenditures.

The other problems he listed were the collection of taxes, the meeting of outstanding obligations, the question of establishing a maximum tax rate, and the continuation of emergency relief.

DEMAND JOHNSON DECLARE STAND ON CLOSED SHOP

Only Issue in Strike, Say Milliner Employers.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery chief at Washington, was asked by telegram last night to decide whether the closed, or union, shop must prevail in the Chicago millinery industry under the recovery code.

The question was put up to the administrator by the Midwestern Millinery association, representing 100 shops, which is now engaged in a dispute with 4,500 striking employés, members of the International Union of Millinery Workers. Agreement has been reached on virtually every point but that of the closed shop.

Explain Stand in Statement.

The manufacturers, hoping to solve this difference, met at the Palmer house last night, sent the telegram to Gen. Johnson, and then issued this statement:

"The millinery manufacturers tonight are looking to the national recovery administration in Washington for a definite decision on whether industry must accept the closed shop where there is no dispute over hours, wages, recognition of union representatives, or collective bargaining."

According to the manufacturers, they have adhered to the spirit and letter of the recovery act regarding minimum hours and wages, although their own code is still pending. These points and those relating to collective bargaining and recognition of union agents are not in dispute, the manufacturers declared. The chief difficulty, they asserted, is the demand of the union for a 100 per cent closed shop, which they will not agree to.

NRA Mediator Intervenes.

During the day the manufacturers met with Max Meyer, member of the national labor board, who was sent here as a mediator by the recovery administration. They will meet again with him today. Mr. Meyer's appearance was welcomed by Max Zaritsky, president of the international union, who predicted speedy settlement would result.

"While there are a number of phases to our controversy, the deadlock is over the employés' demand for recognition of their union," said Zaritsky. "Naturally we are fighting also for an increase in wages. During our conference the manufacturers raised their scale of wages and offered an increase over the NRA minimum, but it wasn't a living wage for Chicago.

"This is a highly skilled trade including many artists and they can't work for anything like $13 a week. Even the increase to a scale ranging from $22 to $44 for a 40 hour week isn't enough when you consider that the industry doesn't offer work the year around.

"Under the NRA working people were given the right to organize. The employers are organized, why shouldn't we be?"

Strikers Parade in Loop.

Nearly the full force of striking milliners took part in a demonstration in front of the Millinery Mart, 65 East South Water street, and later in a parade around several blocks of the neighboring district. Then they assembled in a massmeeting at Masonic temple, 32 West Randolph street, where they unanimously decided not to return to work until their union has been recognized, Mr. Zaritsky reported.

The stamp of hearty approval was placed on the national recovery act yesterday by officials of the Illinois Federation of Labor, whose members are holding their 51st annual convention this week at the Congress hotel. Victor F. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the federation, said the convention undoubtedly would adopt a resolution indorsing the NRA.

25,000 STRIKE IN NEW YORK THIS MORNING

New York, Sept. 11.—[Special.]—Last efforts to avert the strike of 25,000 underwear workers, most of them women and girls, members of the White Goods Workers' union, failed tonight. A conference of representatives of the union and employers ended in a deadlock. About 2,000 of the workers assembled later in Beethoven hall and voted approval of the union's strike call. The strike will go into effect tomorrow morning.

RELIEF PLEDGE GIVEN ILLINOIS IN WASHINGTON

Government Will Provide Up to 9 Million.

trator Hopkins, after it was presented by Gov. Horner and the Illinois delegation, is that the legislature will vote $20,000,000 worth of bonds for submission at a general voters' referendum in April.

Pending the approval and sale of the bonds, tax warrants will be sold by the state treasurer to provide immediate funds, the warrants to be retired when the bonds are approved by the voters.

The state's relief needs during September, Mr. Hopkins was told, required supplementary funds of $5,400,000, of which only $2,000,000 is available from the retailers' occupation tax, leaving the balance of $3,400,000 which the administrator today promised would be immediately forthcoming. This sum, as well as any other sums to be advanced from the federal treasury, is being given in advance of a matching basis under which the federal government matches with one dollar every three dollars spent by public agencies in any state.

Year's Deficit $9,150,000.

During the last three months of this year the relief requirements are estimated to be $17,900,000, of which $10,150,000 will be provided from the occupation tax and $2,000,000 of federal funds. This indicates a deficit of $5,750,000 for those three months, which, with the September deficit of $3,400,000, creates a total deficit of $9,150,000 for the remainder of the year which must be financed by the federal government until the $20,000,000 bond issue becomes available. Gov. Horner said he expected that the bond issue funds would tide the state over on relief needs until April 1.

Among those who accompanied Gov. Horner and Mayor Kelly on the journey to Washington were United States Senators James Hamilton Lewis and William H. Dieterich; State Auditor Edward J. Barrett; Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission; Emmett Whealan, president of the Cook county board; Representative David Shanahan; Congressman Adolph J. Sabath; Henry T. Rainey, speaker of the house of representatives, and Patrick A. Nash, state Democratic chairman.

SEIZED AFTER HE KILLS WIFE AND STEPDAUGHTER

Peter Kowalyshyn, 42 years old, was held yesterday at the Deering street police station after he had slain his wife and stepdaughter with an ax after an early morning quarrel in the family home at 2921 Haynes court. The victims were Mrs. Lillian Kowalyshyn, 31 years old, a bride of seven weeks, and Anna Nicolas, 9 years old.

Kowalyshyn was found with the ax in his hand by his brother, Dmytro, 36 years old, who heard the struggle and went to the scene from an upstairs apartment.

Kowalyshyn told the police that he had confronted his wife as she came into the house early yesterday morning and accused her of having been with another man. The killer's brother said, however, that his brother's wife had spent the night at home and that the fatal argument had begun when they arose yesterday morning. Peter, the brother said, had been drinking heavily.

All men were created equal, but certainly all women were not. Some get the praise and good times in this great Beauty Contest of life—some get the troubles and the grief.

You can't help your features, but you can greatly improve your skin.

Clap hands, then, for the girl who's been smart enough to get for herself a Camay Complexion—a skin that calls forth deserved flattery and praise. For every girl who lives is in this Beauty Contest. And a lovely skin is sweet to the eyes of all who pass judgment on her charms.

CAMAY GIVES YOUR SKIN A "SATINY SOMETHING"

Camay is made for the feminine skin—as soft and gentle as your finest cream! A 1933 soap—pure creamy-white as a beauty soap should be.

Perfumed as if it came from Paris, smart as the newest dress from Vogue, luxuriant in its lather, Camay is just made to give you a clean and girlish skin.

"Never a day passes but what someone compliments me on the soft texture of my skin," said a wealthy society girl. "But I must confess, that's only since I've been using Camay."

A young librarian made this remark: "I may be fussy, but Camay pleases me so perfectly that I simply refuse to use any other soap on my skin."

TRY CAMAY NOW AND CONVINCE YOURSELF

The new Camay has changed the soap preferences of women all over the land! It is rapidly becoming the new favorite among fine soaps.

Ask your friends—the best informed women you know. For Camay is a 1933 soap—the smartest looking, best feeling soap of the year. And in spite of its low price, it is amazing to note that wealthy women—to whom price is no object—have been the first to adopt the Soap of Beautiful Women.

Write the beauty editor of any great magazine. Ask her about Camay. The choice of your soap is a serious matter and you ought to have the facts.

One faithful month of Camay—and any girl, however good-looking, will find herself a prettier, more attractive woman than she is today!

For Smaller Groups to Debate Code.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—The bitter wrangling in the soft coal industry will be brought into the open for at least a short spell tomorrow, when Gen. Hugh S. Johnson opens a hearing on the code he has laid down for that industry.

With all of the various groups and factions in that industry, including labor leaders, battling with each other as well as with Gen. Johnson, great doubt was expressed as to how the situation eventually will be ironed out.

The NRA administrator, who, despite the violent character of the coal operators' written objections to his code, has insisted publicly he expects an agreement to be reached, will attempt tomorrow to form groups of the mine operators whose interests are parallel. He will then essay to obtain a small committee, representative of all the groups, with whom he will struggle on in his effort to gain as near a general agreement on the issues as may be possible.

Illinoisans Also Object.

The latest objections to the Johnson code were filed today by the Illinois Coal Operators' association.

In a letter signed by William J. Jenkins, president of the association, strenuous objection was raised to granting the western Kentucky coal fields a wage scale much lower than Illinois is given, although the two territories are immediately adjoining.

The western Kentucky operators have also filed protest, claiming the wages fixed for them in the Johnson code are too high, and thus the two groups seem poles apart, not only from each other, but from the administration as well. The Illinois are union, the Kentucky nonunion mines.

The Illinois operators' letter pointed out the fallacy of having a wage rate of $5 per day in Illinois, as is fixed in the code, and of $3.84 per day in western Kentucky, separated only by the Ohio river, and with mines in the two territories only forty miles apart and in plain view of each other on a clear day.

"The coal fields of western Kentucky," the Illinoisians' letter stated, "are but a continuation of the coal fields of Illinois and Indiana, with quality of coal, mining conditions, living conditions, cleass of people, etc., similar in every way.

"There is no essential difference in the cost of living and nothing to warrant a difference in mine workers' earnings. The miners can and do travel by automobile between these adjacent coal fields. The time consumed in so doing is only slightly in excess of one hour," the letter added.

Charge Unfair Competition.

The Illinois mine owners' letter declared that the Western Kentucky Coal company was run primarily to supply its owner, the North American company, a large utility group, and the surplus put on the market at prices ruinous to other mines. The letter spoke of that coal company's bid to supply Wisconsin state institutions, saying: "Prices submitted for supplying such institutions are given the widest publicity of any coal offers."

ASSAILS NRA; ORDERS DAIRY PLANT CLOSED TILL IT 'BLOWS OVER'

Declaring that the NRA and government manipulation program will put the "small fellow" out of business, Benjamin S. Pearsall, head of the Elgin dairy products company bearing his name, announced yesterday that he will close his plant Oct. 1. He founded his business in 1906 and now employs 100 persons. He owns another plant in Long Beach, Cal.

"I don't believe a single code has been signed voluntarily," Mr. Pearsall asserted. "It is all coercion and fear, bluff and boycott and so we are going out of business until this blows over. No individual or independent can live under the code.

"I haven't signed with the NRA because I believe that individualism is the best qualification for operation of a business, and that any one in Washington, no matter how well qualified, cannot run businesses at long distance.

"In one phase of my business, that of the sale of milk, the code compels Chicago to sell at 10 cents a quart. I am selling at 7 cents a quart, cash and carry, yet the government makes me sell at 10 cents as against the same price for delivered milk at a month's credit to consumers."

DAIRY COMPANY FAILS TO ANSWER PRICE CHARGES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—The Meadowmoor Dairy company of Chicago failed today to answer government charges that it has deliberately violated price fixing and other provisions of the marketing agreement recently approved for the Chicago milk shed.

In preferring formal charges against the Meadowmoor company Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace set today as the deadline before which an answer to his allegations must be filed. Officials of the department said no answer was received today.

Secretary Wallace, it was stated, plans to wait until tomorrow's mail discloses whether an answer has been forwarded.

Under the law the secretary has authority, if the violations warrant, to revoke the Meadowmoor's federal license and prohibit the dairy from operating.

NEWSPAPER ADS GAIN, TRADE UP, SAYS NRA REPORT

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Describing newspaper display advertising as "one of the most accurate business barometers," the recovery administration today disclosed the results of a survey showing "a definite and appreciable upturn."

The information came from twenty-five large cities and revealed a 16 per cent gain in advertising in August this year as compared with the same month of 1932. The total this year was 41,925,028 lines as compared with 36,608,728 in August of last year.

NRA officials expressed the belief that "the upturn is a definite reflection of renewed confidence on the part of the nation's business resulting in larger advertising budgets.

BANDIT SLUGS WOMAN IN HOTEL.

A bandit forced his way into an apartment in the MiraMar hotel, 6218 Woodlawn avenue, slugged the occupant, Mrs. Madeleine Louis, 29 years old, of Los Angeles, and escaped with $20 and some jewelry early yesterday.

FORD OFFICIALS DENY CHIEF HIDES ON RETURN HOME

Auto Maker 'Has Nothing to Say' About Code.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—Henry Ford his three-weeks vacation at Huron Mountain lodge over, was back in Detroit today, in charge of his great automobile business and still silent on his attitude toward the NRA auto code, which he has not signed.

Inquiries about the Ford opinions of Gen. Johnson and the code were met with the non-committal statement that "Mr. Ford has nothing to say."

Officials of the Ford Motor company took occasion to deny a report that the manufacturer had left the lodge secretly. Particularly did they scoff at one detail of the report, to the effect that Ford had departed for Detroit under the canvas cover of a truck trailer.

No Reason to Hide.

"Mr. Ford has no reason to do such things," it was asserted.

Instead, his associates said, he left the lodge, which is near Bay City Mich., with Mrs. Ford in their own car and journeyed here in leisurely fashion, stopping at West Branch Mich., to view scenic trails and converse with old-time residents.

One of these residents is Peter St Peter, 94 years old, the sole surviving resident of the one-time city of Oneaw, which has been abandoned. The Fords conversed with him, it was said, only about olden times, avoiding all mention of present-day controversies.

At his Dearborn offices today, Ford held conferences with his son, Edsel, president of the motor company, and with other executives. It was reported, although unofficially, that there was little or no mention of the code and that there probably would be no new announcement concerning it as a factor in plant operations.

Believe Signature Unnecessary.

It was reiterated by the Ford officials who could be induced to talk that the motor magnate feels that he has gone beyond the requirements of the code and that his signature is not necessary to prove that he is in favor of what the NRA stands for.

Chances for further comment from the head of the concern were held remote, unless he changes his mind on the proposition. He had previously commented that if he signed such a code as the one offered he would have to "live down to it."

Ford returned at once his spokesman said, to his usual plant routine

KIN OF HENRY FORD IS LOW BIDDER ON 99 AUTOS FOR CITY

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—Although the NRA banner is conspicuous by its absence on the flagpole of the Ford Motor company, John J. Gorman, Detroit's commissioner of purchases and supplies, said today that a Ford automobile dealer in Dearborn, Robert W. Ford, a nephew of Henry Ford, was low bidder on 99 new automobiles to be purchased by the city.

The commissioner said the charter was the fundamental law of the city, and states that all contracts must be awarded to the low bidder, unless there is good reason to believe that the low bidder is not responsible, in which event the council may use its discretion.

On the other hand, the council in a recent resolution decreed that the city would do no further business with concerns that had not qualified under the NRA.

Gorman said he had been told by Plymouth and Chevrolet dealers that they would fight any attempt to award the contracts to a Ford dealer. The Plymouth and Chevrolet corporations have signed the automobile manufacturers' code and their dealers have signed the dealers' code.

Find 40 Pct. of S. Illinois Mosquitoes Carry Malaria

Harrisburg, Ill., Sept. 11.—(AP)—This section of southern Illinois has a larger percentage of mosquitoes carrying malaria germs than any section on record in the United States, Maj. J. E. Welch of the University of Chicago, reported today. Approximately 40 per cent of the mosquitoes in this section are anapheles, malaria carriers, Maj. Welch said.

HOME OWNERS!
IMPORTANT!

RECENTLY a number of statements have been published in behalf of a certain type of fuel indicating that it would provide automatic heat for homes "at new low cost." The implication has been that that type of fuel would heat your home for less money. To correct any possible misinterpretation we publish the following facts:

There are just two factors which determine the cost of fuel for heating your home. The first is the number of Thermal Units required. The second is the efficiency of your heating system.

The standard measurement of heat is the British Thermal Unit or B.T.U. A gallon of No. 3 oil will produce 142,000 B.T.U.s. Two thousand gallons of such oil at 5¾ cents per gallon, normally sufficient to heat an average seven room home, costs $115.00 and will produce 284,000,000 B.T.U.s.

To produce the same number of B.T.U.s with gas at the minimum present rate costs $198.80. In other words, the same number of British Thermal Units can be produced with automatic oil heat at a saving of $83.80, or MORE THAN 42%. And you are not obligated to buy your fuel from one source. Oil is not a monopoly. You can buy it anywhere. Because an open market exists for it, you can always buy it at an advantageous price.

Now with reference to the second factor—efficiency. With the QUIET MAY Automatic Oil Heating System installed in your furnace or boiler, you can obtain the benefit of the patented Waterbacked Combustion Chamber, which increases fuel efficiency AT LEAST 20%. This results in a further saving.

By all means have automatic heat in your home this winter. It is clean. It avoids all the drudgery of boiler firing, carrying of ashes and all the dirt and fuss. It is thermostatically controlled. But be sure you get the most economical kind of automatic heat. Don't pay through the nozzle!

The QUIET MAY Automatic Oil Heating System can be installed in any type furnace or boiler—hot water, steam, vapor or warm air. You can get it on easy monthly payments. 35,000 home owners are now enjoying the benefits of this remarkable device. We urge you to investigate it before you permit anyone to install any heating system in your home. Send the coupon for further information.

PROFITEER WITH COTTON GOODS, IS OFFICIAL CHARGE

Peek Alleges Price Boosts Are Unjustified.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—Farm Administrator George N. Peek today turned government publicity on the cotton textile industry, in an effort to halt alleged widespread profiteering on cotton goods under the federal farm relief program.

"Examples of apparently unreasonable profit taking have been detected," Mr. Peek said in a statement summarizing the results of a cotton price investigation by Fred C. Howe, consumers' counsel for the agricultural adjustment administration.

At the same time, the farm administrator issued a warning that the government intends to prosecute all cotton manufacturers who use the federal processing tax on cotton as an excuse for unjustifiable boosts in prices. Specific instances, when disclosed, Mr. Peek declared, will be turned over to the department of justice for action.

Lists Results of Inquiry.

"1. Examples of apparently unreasonable profit taking.

"2. A large part of the trade deserve praise for fair play.

"3. Disparity and laxness among textile manufacturers in billing retail merchants for increases above contract prices which they attribute to processing taxes and employment costs under the NRA code.

"4. Highly competitive retail business in textiles, plus willingness of many merchants to coöperate, has afforded consumers strong protection against price gouging in the retail trade.

"5. Instances of manufacturers voluntarily absorbing part of the processing tax cost, but in other cases billing for large increases which were not itemized nor explained.

Reflected in Retail Price.

Included in the administrator's statement were figures showing that although the amount of processing tax on an ordinary cotton sheet was only 77 one-hundredths of a cent, the average retail price of these articles increased by 17 cents between July 28 and Aug. 30. Similar increases were reported by Dr. Howe for other cotton manufactured articles.

Since Aug. 31, Dr. Howe declared, considerable increases have been reported in most cotton articles.

"In some cases," he said, "these advances amount to as much as 50 per cent. I have before me a list of the wholesale prices of five standard brands of sheets. The new net price of every single one is quoted at least 40 per cent above the March-April price and one is even 100 per cent higher.

"To give the public the impression that these advances are wholly due to the processing tax is a gross misrepresentation of the facts," Dr. Howe declared. If such practices prove deliberate and persistent, he warned, complaints will be filed with the department of agriculture.

Administrator Peek pointed out that many manufacturers are trying to "play fair" with the government in absorbing their fair portion of the processing tax.

"I think the country should acknowledge the national service of those operators who have shouldered burdens in order to restore buying power," Mr. Peek said.

KERNER RULES THAT COUNTIES CAN BOOST TAX LEVIES 25 PCT.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Attorney General Otto Kerner today upheld the validity of the county budget law and ruled that counties can increase their tax levies 25 per cent for one year while adjusting their affairs under the new law.

Kerner held that the budget law is operative even though its two companion bills were defeated at the 1933 legislative session.

County boards must adopt budgets before fixing their tax rates, and the date of their annual meeting was changed from tomorrow to December. As a result, the next tax rate must provide for 15 months' finances, to fill the three months' gap between September and December.

Since almost every county is now levying the maximum tax of 25 cents on each $100 assessed valuation, the attorney general ruled that the county boards can, for the next year, increase the tax rate one-fourth, or to 31¼ cents, to finance the additional three months between annual meetings.

GREEN ASSERTS SHORTER HOURS NRA'S BIG NEED

Threatens Direct Plea to Country at Large.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—(AP)—A open threat to go before the country and demand shorter hours from industrial captains under NRA codes was made tonight by President William Green of the American Federation of Labor as he charged Washington was filled with "agents and lobbyists of great manufacturing enterprises."

Asserting in a statement that "reemployment has not been what it should have been," Green said that "if we enter the coming winter with the seven or eight millions of unemployed now indicated, the labor movement cannot guarantee that stability necessary to orderly industrial recovery.

"Labor stated in the beginning and even long before the recovery act became a law that American industry required a 35 hour week if we were to recover from depression," Green said. "But literally scores of modified reëmployment agreements have stablished work weeks of 40 hours and more. Some have been as long as 50 hours.

Hits "Long Work Weeks."

"Let me ask industry, as it seeks these astoundingly long work weeks, how long can we be expected to refrain from going to the country on the issue thus laid down? Not long, let me assure you.

"Our convention [the A. F. of L. annual meeting] will be a platform from which we shall tell the American people the exact situation and there will be no fear or favor in our utterances.

"Today Washington is filled with the agents and lobbyists of great manufacturing enterprises and their Wall street financiers. Many of them have no conception, no idea, of the meaning of a new deal. They are trying again to restore the old deal. They are trying all of the old back doors and some new back doors and they find much help in these places. They have got too much there already."

Green asserted that the NRA's labor division board has been "compelled to fight one battle after another in behalf of the integrity of the law and its spirit, and in behalf of the ideals found in that law by the President and his administrator, Hugh S. Johnson.

"I find all too little to say for the conduct of such enormous industries as steel, automobiles, and coal, and we may yet have to press with vigor for a recalling of the codes of some of them, in order that they may be changed so as to mean more to the masses of the people of our country," Green added.

"Our point of view simply is that America is no longer a great reservoir from which financial powers may draw income through financing and exploiting devices."

Green issued his statement after a meeting of the executive council of the federation in preparation for the national convention Oct. 2, at which he will stand for reëlection.

See Three Steps Necessary.

"Three things stand out as absolutely essential," he said, "unless the recovery program is to drag along at a speed so slow as to leave us facing another winter of severe unemployment.

"First, there must be a real shortening of the work weeks established under the President's reëmployment agreement. . . .

"Second, there must be new high wage levels and there must be an end of the differentials between north and south. . . .

"Third, there must be no deviation from Gen. Johnson's pledge that there will be no further codes permitted containing qualifications of section 7A, the labor section of the recovery act."

CHARGE MILWAUKEE SHOE COMPANY WITH VIOLATION OF THE NRA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 11.—Circuit Judge Otto Breidenbach, late today, cited the Simplex Shoe Manufacturing company to appear before him Saturday morning in connection with a civil action by the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor and the International Boot and Shoe Workers' union, charging violation of labor clauses in the national recovery act.

The suit will be watched with interest by employers throughout the country, as it is expected to provide a major test of the national recovery act.

The complaint, submitted by Attorney Joseph Padway, states that C. J. McMorrow, organizer of the International Boot and Shoe Workers' union, on Aug. 21 interviewed representatives of the defendant company regarding matters affecting conditions of employment, wages and hours of employés; that on the day following a company representative informed McMorrow that neither he nor any other represenative of the defendant company would negotiate with him.

Employés, the complaint charges further, then were notified that the company would not deal with outside parties respecting matters of employment and that the company would shut down rather than recognize any of the union demands.

FLEEING CONVICTS ELUDE BIG POSSE, 30 BLOODHOUNDS

Angola, La., Sept. 11.—(AP)—The 11 convicts who shot their way out of the state penal farm here Sunday, had eluded 300 possemen and 30 bloodhounds tonight and were believed scattered over Louisiana and Mississippi.

The convicts, heavily armed with weapons seized from the prison armory, were described as desperate characters. If caught they will be charged with slaying two guards and wounding several persons in their break through the prison gate.

While the convicts were fleeing through canebreaks and swamps, the wife of one of them was arrested in New Orleans on suspicion of having smuggled into the prison weapons that the convicts used in making the first break.

The prisoner, Marion Russell, 21 year old wife of James Russell, admitted having visited her husband at the prison two weeks ago, but denied she carried any weapons to him.

Prison authorities thought they had the convicts surrounded in a canebreak last night, but today when the cordon closed in they found the canebreak empty and many signs of the convicts having crossed the treacherous Mississippi river and scattered in all directions.

OSWEGO MARKS ITS HUNDREDTH YEAR THIS WEEK

The little town of Oswego, forty miles from Chicago in Kendall county, is to celebrate the centenary of its founding today and through the rest of the week. It was in 1833 that the first settler, a man named Wilson, established his home on the site of Oswego, which was later county seat for several years.

Coöperating in the celebration are Oswego's business men and American Legionnaires. Buildings have been gayly decorated and a street carnival will hold for the rest of the week. Today there will be a children's pet parade and a doll buggy promenade.

JAPAN DEMANDS DEATH FOR THREE NAVAL OFFICERS

Trial of Ten Assassins Draws to Close.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Sept. 11.—The Japanese government today demanded that three of ten young naval officers charged with the assassination of Premier Tsuyoshi Inukai on May 15, 1932, be put to death. The prosecution also asked that the court martial sentence three of the officers accused in connection with bombings on the same day to life imprisonment. Six years were asked for three other defendants and three years for the tenth.

The court martial is not expected to deliver a final judgment on the defendants for more than a week, as further summations by both sides and further deliberations are scheduled to take place.

An army court trying eleven cadets accused of involvement in the terroristic acts has been asked to decree prison terms of 8 years.

Thousands Ask Leniency.

The government asked for extreme penalties in the naval trial despite the great amount of support which developed throughout the nation in behalf of the accused. Among the more than 46,000 petitions asking for leniency for the defendants submitted were many signed with blood. One such petition was accompanied by six little fingers.

The United States has indirectly played a prominent part in the court martial, which began at the Yokosuka naval base on Aug. 10. It was pleaded that the naval officers acted as they did to save Japan from deteriorating to the point where it would become easy prey for the powerful country across the Pacific.

Defense counsel pointed out that the naval men were actuated by purely patriotic motives. They had reached the conclusion that the political party system as used by Japan would eventually lead to the nation's downfall, it was argued in their behalf, and they feared that the capitalistic economy in Japan was becoming undermined by a variety of other factors, including communism.

Assail Naval Treaties.

Attorneys for the officers asserted that their clients regarded the Washington and London naval treaties as typical evil products of the existing conditions in Japan which they sought to correct.

"By those treaties," declared Lieut. Tetsuo Asamizu, one of the defense counsel, "America obtained naval supremacy in the Pacific and now desires to dominate the far east. In a textbook used at the Annapolis naval academy there appears a statement that the Japanese are a race yielding to a show of force. The London treaty was the application of this American textbook principle."

As the young naval officers reached these conclusions they looked about them for means to strengthen their country, the defense attorneys pointed out, and this brought them to their decision to use direct action to shake the nation from what appeared to them to be its disastrous lethargy. So they murdered Inukai, whom they regarded as a symbol of the political system they hated, and also plotted to do away with other similar leaders.

CHILDREN SEND DONATIONS TO FREE ICE FUND

THE TRIBUNE Free Ice fund was increased yesterday by receipt of two contributions from children who earned the money. Joyce Buttershall, Roma Williams, Sarah Popper and Suzanne Silberman contributed $1.28, proceeds of a lemonade and candy sale held last week.

A play given by children of Norwood Park living at Newburg and Navarre avenues netted $1.20 for the Free Ice fund. The children taking part included Denzil and Wallace Dunsworth; Beverley, Betty and Edward Hamby; Doris Lee Steffen and Dagmar Vodicka.

A gift of $4.20 from Ossian Cameron, attorney who resides in Winnetka, yesterday increased the Camp Algonquin fund for the benefit of underpriveleged children and others to $1,987.07.

Contributions to the Camp Algonquin and the Free Ice funds may be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower, and will be acknowledged in the columns of this newspaper.

LOOP WORKERS FASCINATED BY BUTTERFLY ARMY

Thousands of red and black monarch butterflies invaded the south section of the loop last evening while on their annual fall migration to the southland.

The sight was a strange one for thousands of homeward bound loop workers and others, many of whom became amateur entomologists for the moment to snare several of the winged visitors. The butterflies were buffeted around severely by a brisk northeast wind. They put in mass appearances around Congress street and Wabash avenue and Van Buren street and Wabash avenue, and scattered in large groups as far south as 35th street.

Floyd S. Young, superintendent of the Lincoln park zoo, and Prof. W. C. Allee of the zoölogy department of the University of Chicago, said that the monarch butterflies make their fall migration annually at this time of the year. It is unusual, however, for them to appear in such large hordes, they said. The monarch butterfly is born in the north as a caterpillar. In its adult form of butterfly it migrates south in the fall.

TRIAL OF LANG IS POSTPONED FOR 8TH TIME

Withdrawal of Attorney Again Causes Delay.

The withdrawal yesterday of Defense Attorney Abraham L. Marovitz again delayed the trial of Harry Lang, suspended detective sergeant, on charges of perjury and assault to kill Frank Nitti, head of the remnants of the old Capone gang. It was the eighth continuance of the case. The attorney appeared in the Criminal court of Judge Thomas J. Lynch and asked permission to withdraw from the case because Lang had not paid a fee.

"I returned my retainer fee last Friday," Attorney Marovitz told the court, "and served written notice that I would no longer represent Lang."

Judge Lynch granted the leave to withdraw and continued the case until Friday. It was indicated that the hearing at that time could result only in another continuance when Judge Lynch made clear the fact that there would be no witnesses subœnaed at that time.

Refuses Writ for Nitti.

Prosecutor Charles Dougherty made a request for an attachment to insure the appearance of Nitti at the Friday hearing, but this was denied by Judge Lynch. The attachment was asked when the gangster failed to appear in court yesterday. Nitti's attorney, Benjamin J. Short, said that he could produce the hoodlum in five minutes and would do so when the state was ready to proceed with the trial.

The hesitancy of Nitti in putting in an appearance was attributed by court attachés to the fact that one of the vagrancy reputation warrants, so successfully prosecuted against other hoodlums, had been issued for his arrest. The state indicated yesterday that the warrant would be withdrawn to insure the appearance of Nitti in the Lang trial.

Basis of the Charges.

The perjury and assault charges against Lang, former leader of the police hoodlum squad, grew out of a raid on a downtown office in which Nitti was shot and seriously wounded. Lang charged that he had shot Nitti in self-defense after the gangster had wounded him in the arm.

Testimony at the trial of Nitti for shooting Lang showed that the detective shot the hoodlum and then wounded himself in the arm to make it appear that a gun battle had taken place. Lang refused to testify on the ground "that he might incriminate himself."

At that time Lang is credited with boasting that "if he was pushed too hard he would talk and wreck the Democratic party."

Gangster White Appeals from His Gun Conviction

William [Three Fingered Jack] White, hoodlum and labor racketeer, filed an appeal in the state Supreme court yesterday from his conviction last fall for gun carrying. His sentence was a year in the bridewell and a $300 fine. A reversal of the case is asked by White on the grounds that no evidence was heard by the trial court and that he was not allowed to enter a plea of not guilty. White was sentenced under an old statute which gives a defendant the right in a misdemeanor case to stand on legal technicalities or a trial of the facts, but not both. He was sentenced when his claim of tecnicalities was denied.

WOMAN, 40, KILLS SELF.

Mrs. Annette Lint, 40 years old, shot and killed herself last evening at her home, 4616 Dover street. Relatives said she had been ill for more than two years and had been despondent over her condition.

Wounded Hoodlum and Pal Shoot Way Out of Hospital

The police yesterday were seeking two hoodlums, one of them with a knife wound in his leg, who shot their way out of the People's hospital, 255 West 22d street, after the wounded man had been treated. Dr. I. C. Gary, owner of the hospital, had left the operating room after partly treating the knife wound yesterday. When he returned he found the wounded man dressed and ready to leave with his companion. The latter accused Dr. Gary of having notified police of the stabbing and fired a shot at him. The shot missed and both men fled.

Baldness Starts at These Three Points

HEED THESE WARNINGS

When your hair begins to recede at the (1) temples, (2) crown, or (3) frontal, Nature is painlessly warning you that some serious scalp ailment is attacking your hair, and baldness is surely approaching. Heed these positive warnings and let The Thomas' save your hair with their reliable proved scalp treatment.

BALDNESS is not caused by sleeping in short beds or damp churches. Nor is it inherited. More than 85% of all cases of baldness are caused by one or more of the 14 local scalp disorders which come within the scope of Thomas treatment. Therefore, there is really no reason why you should become bald or remain bald.

Thomas treatment effectively overcomes the causes of baldness, ends dandruff, stops abnormal hairfall and promotes hair growth quickly and inexpensively. You have nothing to do at home, nothing to worry about. A Thomas expert determines exactly which scalp disorders are attacking your hair-growing structure, eliminates them, and stimulates hair growth. Call today at a Thomas office for a complete scalp examination. It costs you nothing and you are not obligated in any way.

Fox's DeLuxe Beer is brewed from the choicest ingredients according to an old-world formula and is finely aged and matured in wood. Those who know beer will readily appreciate its refreshing tastefulness.

The secret of its goodness lies in the harmony of distinctive flavor, aroma, life and body, such as only finest ingredients, patient aging and highest brewing skill can produce.

It is our purpose to make only the best in beers—not necessarily the largest quantity. We believe that this principle will win, among real lovers of beer, a wide and growing host of friends who will steadfastly insist upon Fox's DeLuxe Beer by name because—good taste suggests it.

Naturally, beer so carefully brewed, lagered and guarded, will be in widespread demand. A barrel on tap will increase the counter trade. A case in the home will add to the evenings' delight. May we urge you to place your order today?

"Dodge Mono-Piece Steel Body SAVED OUR LIVES"
—says J. F. Hutchinson, Iowa Minister

"I WAS driving to Chicago with my family to attend the World's Fair," says the Rev. J. F. Hutchinson, minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Storm Lake, Iowa, "but near Fort Dodge, another car suddenly cut across our path, forcing us into a deep ditch.

"My Dodge Six went down the embankment, turning over several times, struck a telephone post, breaking it off, then landed in the ditch rightside up.

"I feel certain that had it not been for the steel body of my Dodge car, my entire family would have been killed. The Dodge car saved us. We came through with no serious permanent injuries, miraculous as it seems.

"I have my dear family all with me, alive and getting well. My gratitude is deep and moving."

AIMEE DEMANDS HUTTON ACT ON DIVORCE THREAT

Evangelist in Kenosha for Convention.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kenosha, Wis., Sept. 11.—Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, today challanged David Hutton, her husband, to make good his divorce threat by filing papers against her.

The evangelist flew to Kenosha from Minneapolis, Minn., to attend the fourth annual convention of the Church of the Foursquare Gospel. Delegates from a score of states are here for the sessions.

Mrs. McPherson—she said she has dropped the Hutton part of her name—declared she is "sick and tired" of all the threats of a divorce action with no action.

"If he really wants a divorce why doesn't he serve me with the papers?" Mrs. McPherson asked.

"For weeks I have begged him, his manager, and his attorney to go through with the divorce.

Calls Threat Publicity.

"They have thus far neglected that important step of serving me with a summons. Barking dogs don't bite, and I rather think he is using this divorce threat as a publicity stunt for his cheap theatrical adventures. I am not at all in sympathy with his latest venture before the public.

"I am afraid Mr. Hutton is not serious with his divorce threat. He can get a divorce any time if he really wants one.

"I like to see everyone converted and confirmed in church work. I don't like to see people leave church work and go into more worldly work. Of course everyone must live his own life. I want Mr. Hutton to be right with God first and to be happy. My prayer is that he may do the right."

Mr. Hutton in Chicago.

A year ago at the convention held in Kenosha Mr. Hutton was the principal speaker. At that time Mrs. Hutton was on a tour of the world. Today Mr. Hutton is in Chicago in vaudeville, Mrs. McPherson said she believed.

She added she has not seen him since she left Los Angeles several months ago. After the Kenosha engagement Mrs. McPherson proposes to go to New York for a week's revival campaign there opening on Sept. 22.

U. S. BUYS INSURANCE FOR U. S. WORKERS WITH CANADIAN FIRM

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—(AP)—To help American government employés take care of themselves in old age the United States Treasury Department Beneficial association has worked out with the Sun Life Assurance company of Canada a group annuity division.

A contract between the association and the Canadian company became effective in August while the drive for recovery of American business was at its height.

Officials of the association, all federal employés and some of them divisional chiefs in the treasury, made a formal announcement to the membership of several thousand workers relating that the contract had been awarded.

One of the officers, explaining the contract today, said that the company was selected by a group of the employés "after a careful investigation" of other insurance organizations.

"The Sun Life company does most of its business in the United States and most of its employés are in this country and most of its holdings are United States bonds," he added. "That was looked into very carefully."

WOODIN BACK ON TREASURY JOB IN NEXT FEW DAYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin, who has been ill for several months, will return within the next few days to take active charge of his department, it was learned today.

Reports of Woodin's retirement have been rife since the disclosure that he was on the preferred lists of the Morgan company and these rumors increased as illness kept the secretary away from his desk. Disclosure today that he definitely expects to be back at his desk this week was taken as definite proof that he will remain in the cabinet.

President Roosevelt has repeatedly expressed his desire to keep Woodin at the head of the treasury, a post to which he was drafted by Mr. Roosevelt. Woodin conferred with the President twice during his convalescence and on both occasions resignation rumors were denied.

BIBLE TEACHER TALKS TO 3,500 IN LOOP HOTEL

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

More than 3,500 persons crowded the Cameo room of the Morrison hotel and the nearby corridors last night to hear a lecture by a Kansas City Bible teacher. The teacher, Charles Fillmore, 86 years old, co-founder of the Unity movement in Christianity, is on his second journey away from Kansas City in 50 years.

Despite his apparent reluctanace to leave home, Mr. Fillmore probably has more "pupils" and followers than any other living American religious leader. James L. Smith of La Grange, a Unity worker, said the number is in excess of 2,500,000.

His Purpose Explained.

Mr. Fillmore disclaims any new discoveries or revelations in religion. He is said to have sought through the last half century to "teach the use of the Jesus Christ doctrine in everyday life." He asserts that his purpose is not to found a new sect or church, but "to teach men and women of every church to use and prove the eternal truth taught by the Master."

Mr. Fillmore spoke last night on the relation of science and religion. He said:

"The Kingdom of Heaven was not according to Jesus a place to which to go after death—it was a state to be attained by all, and its essential elements were right at hand.

Jesus and the Scientists.

"They [the scientists] tell us that they have in their discoveries, that seem so marvelous to us, merely touched the hem of the garment of a kingdom that will by further discoveries revolutionize our whole civilization. Jesus said: 'Seek ye first his kingdom and all these things shall be added unto you.'"

Mr. Fillmore said that any one who reads the sayings of Jesus "with the imagination of a modern scientist" must conclude that Christ "understood the properties of the ether and gave power to it even beyond the most vivid imaginations of our scientists."

His lecture was delivered in connection with the convention of the fellowship of faiths. The crowd that heard him was the largest that has attended any of the meetings.

MRS. OPAS, NOW IN PRISON, SUED FOR A DIVORCE

Maryan Opas, garage owner, yesterday filed suit for divorce in the Superior court against Mrs. Bessie Opas, recently sent to the women's penitentiary at Dwight to serve one to five years for conspiracy to murder him. Her conviction is the ground on which the decree is sought. Opas' bill asks an injunction to prevent hearing on a bill for partition filed by Thaddeus Tudor, Mrs. Opas' attorney, who is seeking to obtain a half share in the garage at 5114 South Racine avenue which she deeded to him.

8 BANDITS ROB EXPRESS AGENCY OF CASH IN CHESTS

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Eight bandits masked with white handkerchiefs today held up two employés of the Railway Express Agency, Inc., and carted away two heavy chests containing, police said, between $60,000 and $100,000 in cash, drafts, and vouchers. One of the chests weighed 700 pounds.

T. J. Mancan, a guard, and another employé were pulling a baggage truck bearing the chests between the pillars under the Union depot elevated tracks when the bandits appeared, disarmed and forced them at the point of sawed-off shotguns to face a pillar while the boxes were carried to an automobile, the license plates of which had been reversed.

The contents of the chests, express company officials said, were consigned to Minneapolis banks from communities in Minnesota, Iowa, Montana, Wisconsin, and North and South Dakota.

C. A. Mall, local superintendent of the express agency, said he believed the bandits had "inside information." Employés had been summoned to remote parts of the express company quarters by telephone calls.

RAIN INTERFERES WITH TAG SALE FOR 47 CHARITIES

Rain yesterday interfered with the collections of thousands of girls and women tagging for the benefit of the Chicago Federated charities, one of the three tag days authorized by the city council. Forty-seven institutions supporting both children and aged will share in the receipts of the day, which had been threatened with postponement until a little more than twenty-four hours previously, owing to dissatisfaction with the locations assigned the taggers of the various charities.

When the decision was made to go ahead with the tagging, the 5,000 feminine taggers already pledged to assist turned out en masse to do their part. The cannisters containing the donations were assembled last night in the vaults of the First National bank, where the receipts were being counted preparatory to placing the money in escrow, at the suggestion of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Conkey, commissioner of public welfare. A plan satisfactory to all the institutions will be decided upon after a conference later.

The amount received will not be known for a few days, according to Miss L. Ellen Babcock, president of the federation.

Concerning Life on the Planet Mars With a Few Comments About This One

Just before he died, the great astronomer Lowell, who spent his life in the study of the planet Mars, sat one evening with a group of friends and told the following story:

As a young astronomer he had read one day that a certain great scientific body had offered twenty-five thousand francs for the first person who established proof that there was life on our near neighbor, the planet Mars. His imagination was touched; and more because of the dare than because of the reward, young Lowell set to work.

His task took twenty-five years. Among other things he had to make a study of human eyes. He found that there were eyes with short rods and eyes with long rods. The eyes with long rods could see distance more surely. He tested those eyes for months at a time on distant telegraph wires before he brought them to the telescope.

But surely, very surely, as the years went by he established in the mind of the astronomical world the fact that the planet did slowly change color when the sun crossed its equator every two years and the season of its springtime came on (for Mars revolves around the sun every two years, instead of one). Gradually he established the fact that this change in the color of Mars, spreading slowly from the poles toward the equator, was the same change that takes place in the color of our earth when our spring comes. In other words, there was vegetation on Mars, and vegetation is life.

More years passed and the young Lowell, no longer young, found himself in Europe and bethought himself to collect the old time reward. But the sages of that great scientific group looked at him curiously.

"Mars," they said, "Life on Mars? Why, we know all about that. We've known all about that for years."

A rather long story for a rather short point.

Within the past ten years America has been making social and economic changes on the face of this earth of far greater importance than Lowell's discovery of the changes on the face of Mars.

It is not important that True Story Magazine, with its tremendous wage-earning circulation as a background for its study, was the first to put the meaning of these changes into words and to make America conscious of what they were.

A short time ago you had your President formulating his plan for the National Recovery Act. The basis of that plan was that Labor should have more wages and shorter hours. The purpose of that plan was to provide this great mass market with still greater buying power.

In one of the very first of these True Story pages it may interest you to remember that we said,

"America's Greatest Discovery is that Labor must have the leisure and the money to buy all the things that it helps to make.

"That America has come upon a period of mass production. That if you have mass production you must have mass consumption. That we have arrived at a time in history when American Labor has become a controlling market and is no longer to be considered as a commodity."

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

The repetition of these records is not important to you now any more than Lowell's appearance before that scientific body was important to them. Nor will it be any more disappointing to us than it was to Lowell if you have forgotten their origin.

The important thing is, How are we going to interpret this National Recovery Act?

And here True Story Magazine can help once more. It can help by directing your approach toward this great wage-earning market with which we have been so closely associated for so many years.

We told you in one of these pages several years ago that the cultural and educational standard of America's great wage-earning mass has risen so rapidly that it was mentally conditioned to absorb all of the new things that America's mass production was turning out. Please let this sink in: You couldn't do with the peasant class of Europe what you can do with the wage-earning mass of America.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Now, through the innumerable letters and manuscripts that cross our editorial desks, we are able to say once more that this method of securing National Recovery is already working; that it had begun to work long before the President's proclamation was ever issued; and that it will continue to work, if the employers of America will immediately back up this new activity with their re-employment on the one hand and their selling plans on the other.

The reasons for this have to do with the speed at which the wage-earning masses are spending and can spend whenever the payroll starts; to the intelligence of that spending, and to their widespread acceptance of what you are setting out to do.

The come-back already is almost entirely in the mass field. We know this by our letters and manuscripts. We know it by our rapidly increasing news stand sales (for most of True Story sells from month to month on the news stands, and the wage-earner's family does not buy True Story Magazine when he is out of a job). And finally we know it by the mass production charts in many of your own great factories.

Automobile sales, for example, have gone up right straight through the summer when they should have gone down. But almost entirely amongst the low priced cars where your wage-earning mass consumption is absorbing the output. True Story Magazine has been the sponsor of that mass market for many years. It never fails in producing mass results. True Story Magazine, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

A SOUND SOLUTION OF THE SANITARY PROBLEM.

The tentative proposal of Secretary of the Interior Ickes for construction of the sanitary district's sewage treatment works by the federal government is the fourth method which has been suggested for getting the work done.

The first suggestion was that of the Supreme court itself. The court ordered the district to spend some 120 million dollars in constructing plants which would purify the city's sewage and therefore permit a reduction in the flow of water from the lake. The court in its original decree assumed that the district could readily borrow the necessary money.

Inexorable financial conditions have rendered the carrying out of this plan impossible. The district has 42 million dollars' worth of bonds for which it cannot find a purchaser, and it has been authorized by the legislature to issue another 100 million dollars' worth. Meanwhile it has defaulted on outstanding issues, and accordingly its credit is virtually nonexistent. Nobody can be found to buy the bonds.

The second proposal took that fact into account. As bankers and investors would not lend money to the district the suggestion was made that the government do so. The last congress, in the recovery act, set up a fund of 3,300 million dollars for public works all over the country. Mr. Ickes is administrator of the fund. He has intimated that he will not lend from this fund to the sanitary district. He is saying that the credit of the district is so poor that not even the federal government, which will lend on highly dubious municipal securities for public works in California, New York, and elsewhere, can lend to the sanitary district. The chances o repayment are too slim even for Uncle Sam to consider.

It may be that Mr. Ickes regards the sanitary district as a particularly bad risk only because, as a Chicagoan, he happens to know more about it than he does about governments elsewhere, especially New York, where both state and city are living far beyond their capacity to pay. But whether that is so or not, Mr. Ickes has effectively closed the door upon sanitary district borrowing. Neither private lenders nor the federal government, it now is clear, will advance the needed funds.

Mr. Ickes' suggestion is that the federal government itself build the treatment works and thus virtually supplant the district board. The money would be repaid either through imposing a sewage tax comparable to the water tax or through an increase in present general taxation. In view of the present rate of tax delinquency in Chicago there must be the gravest doubts about the financial soundness of such a proposal, for there is ample evidence that the taxable limit here has been reached and passed. In any event the propriety of the federal government's undertaking to supplant a municipal government in the performance of a purely municipal function must be open to the gravest question. Even if the constitutional difficulties can be overcome the unwisdom of undermining and destroying the principle of local self-government is patent.

The fourth plan, which Sanitary Trustee Elmore has been upholding, presents no such difficulties. Mr. Elmore wants the federal government to buy the sanitary canal and the Sag channel for 100 million dollars and proposes that the purchase money be spent on the treatment works. If the federal government wishes to supervise the expenditure of the money by the district there should be little objection. Indeed, an agency of the federal government, the United States Supreme court, already has assumed direct jurisdiction over the matter.

The proposal is essentially just. The sanitary canal was dug only partially to carry off the city's wastes. The federal government authorized the operation for that purpose and imposed a preponderant part of the total cost by order of the war department. Now that the federal government says the canal can no longer be used for sanitation the navigation element in the great engineering feat alone remains. The government is now regulating navigation in the channel and is operating its barges through it.

The government has bought the Cape Cod canal and is about to make the New York state canal navigable in fact. It can find no excuse for not treating Chicago as equitably.

NORMAN BLOOD.

Lord Raglan, the distinguished British anthropologist, speaking to the Association for the Advancement of Science, disturbed the tradition of Norman blood by attributing nearly all of it to the pedigree fakers who brighten the lives of English families as well as of Americans willing to trade in the dollars they have for the information that they are something they aren't.

Infrequently the Norman invasion of England is spoken of as a French conquest. Maitland, the great English law historian, does so more often than not, but the reference is destructive. The Norman conqueror was one thing, but a French conquest of England might have been forgotten as conveniently and quickly as possible. Few families care to go back to Cnut probably because the Danes still maintain a healthy national existence, and Norman, blessed name, is something that was and now in that sense is not. The Dutch conquest of England also is considered lightly. William's army is forgotten, as is the fleet which chased but could not catch him before he landed and the army which met him but would not fight.

Only the Norman conquest is remembered, to perpetuate the blue blood of men bringing the French tongue, French habits, some French laws and multitudes of French courtiers to maintain an influence for generations. If Lord Raglan desires to kill the Norman tradition he need refer only to French pedigrees. There'll be no desire in England or the United States to trace a family root back to French families. It's the Norman that does it, although none of the aspirants would care to go back of the northland raider, who became a Frenchman, to the ancestral home on the fjord.

The Norman imposed his table manners, which were good, on the English, which were bad, his French language on the king's court for several centuries and all the law courts for all time, his land law on the holder and his traditions of superior nobility on the world at large. If the English had recognized these French remade northerners as Frenchmen in the beginning a great deal of what did happen might have happened at the time, but the pedigree fakers would not be hunting up French roots for English speaking families now. The whole episode would have been forgotten.

ANOTHER DISCOVERY BY EINSTEIN.

Dr. Einstein as a refugee has discovered another law, which, he finds, is that wars may be caused by a just sense of intolerable wrong, the cause appearing to be just and the condition intolerable to the person who will fight rather than endure. The doctor may regard this as another case of relativity. Heretofore he has been an irreconcilable pacifist, an extreme last ditcher, advising the youth of all countries to make it their creed that they would not bear arms come what might to them or to the land which others might call a country.

The doctor is proscribed now. He is a public enemy in the country he called his own, in which he had a home and property and civil rights. There is a story that a price is on his head, although he and others doubt that. However, he took refuge in Belgium and now finds asylum he likes even better in England. His offense is that he is a member of a race proscribed in Germany under the Hitler frenzy, and he, having these new experiences with the human race, confesses that he would fight if he could and if it were necessary, to prevent the extension of that terrorism.

When Dr. Einstein felt no sense of injury, when he did not think he had been wronged, when only White Russians were proscribed, he believed that pacifism was the rational end of wars. Now he knows that injury is the beginning of them. Few nations go to war until they have felt or anticipated an injury. If it be a trumped up one it is real just the same. They all fight defensive wars against people who have done them wrong.

Dr. Einstein's idea, although he did not know it would come to this, was that he should so conduct himself that he would be unable to fight a war when he wished he could. This was Chinese. The Chinese also are philosophers. Because Dr. Einstein is a scientific genius he regarded himself and has been regarded as a generally wise man and in giving political advice he must have assumed that he was qualified by what he did not know as well as by what he did.

Now that he admits that he was wrong on pacifism he should also realize that he was wrong on communism and, a refugee, cease preaching the overthrow of the government that has given him asylum.

JUSTICE IN HIDING.

A gunman who confessed to a bank robbery and shooting in Grand Haven has just been sentenced at a secret hearing in that city and hurried off to the prison at Jackson. The excuse for secrecy was that accomplices of the convict in the bank robbery were believed to be planning to take him from the authorities by force. An automobile carrying armed gangsters was reported to have left for Grand Haven from St. Joseph, so extra guards were placed around the jail and no news of the trial was allowed to transpire.

This proceeding ought to be humiliating to the people of Michigan. It presents a contemptible picture of panic-stricken authority frightened into secrecy by a handful of toughs. The trial of any criminal charge should be public. Any secret trial sets a bad precedent. It also cancels the public benefit derived from the conspicuous application of justice to the lawbreaker. There was no secrecy when Fred Palm was sentenced to life imprisonment, for the possession of a pint of whisky, as a habitual offender against the fanatic dry laws. But at the threat of a squad of gunmen the majesty of the law in Michigan evaporates and justice goes into hiding.

Editorial of the Day

SOME OUT AND SOME IN.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

Government bureaus at Washington fold up and disappear, under the economy program, but not all is gain. New divisions are set up in some instances to replace old bureaus. Many newly unemployed bureau workers find themselves snugly fitted into position as employés of some new division. And savings originally estimated at $25,000,000 a year are reduced to a rate of $5,000,000 annually by postponing some economy moves till the end of the year.

In spite of these qualifications, however, there is progress in the long overdue demobilization of the bureaucrats. A reform long declared impossible to achieve because of the depth to which the roots of bureaucracy had penetrated is, in some considerable measure at least, being now actually achieved.

Out go the prohibition bureau and the shipping board. Into new combinations go immigration and naturalization bureaus, park and memorial commissions, various supply units, bureau of industrial alcohol, and the merchant fleet corporation. In comes the division of investigation of the department of justice, which takes over some of the work of the disappearing prohibition bureau.

This is, one hopes, a beginning and not the completion of the much discussed economy raid on bureau land. Many reforms thought hopeless under former régimes at Washington are not only possible now, but more urgent than ever. Emergency steps are necessary to help bring the country out of depression, but there should be a steady decrease in the size of the permanent machinery of government.

The promised "saving of not less than 25 per cent in the cost of federal government," one of the most popular of last fall's pledges, requires sharper curtailments than have yet been made.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THEY'RE HAVING a great deal of trouble these warm September days now with the nudists over in Michigan. Tut, tut! Why worry? Time always sets everything right and it will do it in this case. A good blizzard along in December and you'll not hear from the nudist for a long while.

ANYHOW, it shows how the world is changing. They used to arrest Miss Bloomer because she designed and first wore those horrible things. And in that day if a gentleman didn't wear a high enough collar or cravat to hide his Adam's apple he was liable to be pinched for indecent exposure.

OVER IN ENGLAND and the rest of Europe the women had to go bathing in what was called a "bathing machine." This thing was tightly inclosed all around and the keyhole plugged up. The bather, in more clothes than an Eskimo usually wears, was run clear down to the water's edge before the occupant was allowed to leap out and hurriedly immerse herself in the water.

NOT MANY YEARS AGO a really nice girl never had legs; she had "limbs." Nice girls didn't begin to grow legs until bathing suits began to grow scanty. And they got scantier and scantier!

NUDISTS are going to have trouble driving automobiles. Not only will flies, honey bees and hornets make it interesting for them; they won't have any pockets to carry their license and identification cards in. And when they get out of their machines what are they going to do with their ignition keys, cigarets, lipsticks, rouge, and powder puffs? And the hip flask?

AND, ANYHOW, the nudist movement yet hasn't developed enough to make us give 'em a second look, no matter how many clothes they didn't have on.

I WISH I COULD REMEMBER.

I wish I could remember
The sunset's golden glow,
Its loveliness, its splendor,
So soon must fade and go.
A memory tries to paint again
Its crimson glory, all in vain!

I wish I could remember
The rose I found one day,
Its softly tinted petals
So soon were dry and gray.
Try as it may dull memory
Cannot return that rose to me.

But, oh! how often I recall
The storm that wracked the land!
And even now I feel the pain
Of thorns that raked my hand.
The beautiful,—the gracious, so soon they fade and die;
But memory etches clearly, a fear,—a tear,—a sigh!

At least it is a relief to know that the flag out at the Fair will not have Mr. Perry saying: "I will fight it out on this line if it takes all summer"; or, "A little more grape, Capt. Bragg."

FROM OUT IN IOWA where Secretary of Agriculture Wallace hails from comes a report that some of the farm leaders are yelling shrilly for Franklin Delano to remove him. Either there are more potato bugs out there this year, or a drought, or too much rain, or the hens aren't laying, or gasoline has gone up another cent. Or a cyclone blew the shingles off somebody's barn or Ezra Doodapple's boy Jim is down with the measles. For any or all of these things there's only one thing to be done from an Iowa farmer's standpoint —fire the secretary of agriculture.

How to Keep Well By Dr. W. A. Evans

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries under proper limitations when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual disease.

WHAT SOME CAN EXPECT.

WHILE the man with high blood pressure is generally unduly alarmed and is not in the immediate danger he thinks he is, it must be admitted that on the average he must pay for his condition. He does not pay in great danger of immediate tribute to any special disease, but something or other is waiting for him down the road. And, whatever it is, it will grab him off some years ahead of the time for shuffling off arranged for men of his group.

Dr. J. H. Kellogg has arranged a table of life expectancies for persons with high blood pressures, basing it on reports of life insurance companies. Such reports iron out individual peculiarities by lumping together millions of individuals.

Since diastolic blood pressure is the most important of the three, we give first some expectancies based on abnormalities in that pressure. A person 21 years old, with a normal diastolic pressure, expects to live 45 years longer. If his diastolic pressure is 90 to 100 he can expect only 28 years more of life. If it is 101 to 105 he has only 21 more years coming to him. If it is 106 or over he is entitled to only 13 more years.

The corresponding figures for a man 30 years old are: 37 years, 23 years, 17 years, and 11 years. For one 40 years of age they are respectively, 29 years more, 18, 14, and 9. For one 50 years old, 21, 13, 10, and 6. For one 60 years old they are 14, 9, 7, and 4. For one 70 years of age they are 9, 5½, 4, and 3.

If a man reaches 80 years of age and has a normal diastolic pressure he has a right to plan on five more years on earth. If his diastolic pressure is between 90 and 100 his expectation is reduced to 3 years. If it is 101 to 105 he has failed to retain that endurance which is contemplated by the Bible statement: "If by reason of strength his years shall be four score . . ." and his expectation is reduced to two years.

Since most people mean systolic pressure when they refer to high blood pressure, similar conclusions as to systolic pressures are given in Dr. Kellogg's tables.

A person 20 years old has an average systolic pressure of 120 and, if so, he can expect to live 45 more years. If his systolic pressure is 130 he can expect to achieve only 31 more years. If it is 146 his expectancy is 24 years. If 156 it is 18 years.

One wonders why insurance companies will insure men, usually younger ones, who have high blood pressure, even though they charge them especially high rates. If a man has an expectancy of living long enough to make 18 annual payments the company will still make some money on his policy.

A man 30 years old, with a systolic pressure of 123, expects to live an additional 37 years. If his pressure is 133 his expectancy is 25 years. If 149, it is 20 years. If 159, it is 15 years.

The corresponding figures for age 40 are: 126 pressure, 29 years; 136 pressure, 20 years; 152 pressure, 15 years; 162 pressure, 11 years. For age 50 they are: 130 pressure, 21 years; 140 pressure, 15 years; 156 pressure, 11 years, and 166 pressure, 8 years. For age 60: 135 pressure, 14 years; 145 pressure, 10 years; 161 pressure, 7 years; 171 pressure, 6 years. For age 70: 142 pressure, 9 years; 152 pressure, 6 years; 168 pressure, 5 years; 178 pressure, 4 years. For age 80: 150 pressure, 5 years; 160 pressure, 3 years; 186 pressure, 2 years.

GARLIC AIDS SCIATICA.

J. F. writes: Sciatica has bothered me during damp, sometimes cold weather, in the last ten years, though not seriously. At 75 I do not take any illness seriously. When aching I formerly used salicylates and once cocaine, and found them merely temporary benefits. In the recent years I have used raw garlic, a couple of cloves at bedtime, and found myself relieved of pain more or less and improved generally. Lately, to that I have added a younger habit of walking from the hips, and the combination seems to work.

The effect of garlic is not immediate. Given a reasonable time it will bring improvement, not a miracle, and with proper walking on the side will do much.

FIRST COUSINS MAY WED.

S. E. R. writes: What is your opinion of first cousins marrying? Would it be safe to have children? There is no mental or physical defect in the family as far back as we can trace, and that is way back.

REPLY.

Some of the best children are the results of cousin marriages. In improving a breed of live stock the advantages of mating related animals are recognized. On the other hand, if there are bad qualities in the stock cousin marriages are hazardous. Certain diseases and defects are regarded as inheritable. In some states there are laws against cousin marriages, but these laws are just bit or miss affairs.

IRON TONICS.

D. B. writes: Why is it that taking an iron tonic causes the stools to be black?

REPLY.

The color is due to salts of iron. When iron tonics are taken most of the iron passes through unabsorbed.

NRA Question Box

Requests for information concerning the NRA will be printed in this column. It is urged that questions be stated briefly. Following are some typical questions occasioned by the national recovery act and their answers:

QUESTION—Will you advise me where NRA information concerning hours and wages for a small dressmaking plant may be obtained?

ANSWER — This information is available either at the local office of the NRA, 201 North Wells street, or at the Chicago Recovery council, 1 North La Salle street.

Q.—I am employed in a supervising capacity by an oil company which is operating under the petroleum code. Will executives and supervisors be paid time and one-third, or are such persons to receive any additional compensation for overtime?

A.—Executives, supervisors and their immediate staffs are excluded from the minimum working hours per week. Therefore no overtime is prescribed for this class of workers.

INHERITANCE.

Moline, Ill., Sept. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—The following is a clause in a will: "I give, devise and bequeath the income on all my real estate, stocks and bonds to my beloved husband, during his lifetime and at his death to B during his life and at his death the entire estate to be divided equally between the children of my brother B." The husband died before the testatrix's death. B and his present living children sold and gave a warranty deed to a portion of real estate of the inherited property. 1. Would any future children be entitled to claim rights on property sold? The taxes on this property have not yet been paid and if same is bought up and it is not redeemed [2] would a tax deed to this property be clear and transferable? 3. Could any future born children still have a claim against said property? J. G.

1. We incline to the opinion that they would. "As a general rule an immediate gift to a class of persons vests in those of the class who are in existence at the time of the testator's death, although distribution is postponed to a later period, unless a different intention appears from the context of the will, as where the will shows a manifest intention to provide for those born after the testator's death, or confines the class to those living at the time the will was executed. Where the words of the gift themselves direct payment or distribution at a period after the testator's death, all children born before payment or distribution are ordinarily entitled to take, unless the postponement of payment or distribution is merely for convenience in the distribution or to let in some other interest, in which case the estate may vest and the class be ascertained before the time for distribution." 40 Cyc. p. 1475.

2. No, in general, a tax deed is merely a cloud on the titled.

INHERITANCE TAX.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My husband died one year ago. He left no will. He had $4,000 cash in a bank. Will I have to pay an inheritance tax? N. H.

MOTHER CABRINI.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Your article on Mother Cabrini's apostolic process, intelligently and sympathetically written, and in the main correct, has aroused a great interest among your readers and in the press in general. Owing to the nation-wide comments that come to my office I would appreciate the opportunity of a few remarks which may explain some points not quite clear in such a technical subject.

First, the expense of the process will not amount to a million dollars. The author of the article meant probably a million lire, which at normal rate of exchange is about 50,000 dollars. This sum, and perhaps much less, covers the entire process lasting several years, the printing of all the acts that form a small library when completed, and the two solemn ceremonies of beatification and canonization held in St. Peter's in Rome, with a splendor unsurpassed by any other function in the world.

Who defrays the expenses? The faithful in general, the admirers, and the devout servants of God. In Mother Cabrini's case letters acknowledging spiritual and temporal favors and containing small offerings reach the missionary sisters nearly every day in their houses and institutions scattered all over the globe.

All the officials of the ecclesiastical tribunal now in session at Columbus hospital are giving their services without any compensation. Most of the witnesses and doctors coming to testify from distant cities pay their own transportation and expenses.

This explains how it's possible that a poor orphan maid, the Blessed Gemma Galgani, could be raised to the honors of the altars this year with no relatives or religious order contributing to the expenses of the long process and solemn beatification. REV. A. V. SIMONI.

MR. RICHBERG'S RESIDENCE.

Palos Park, Ill., Sept. 7.—The letter in The Voice of the People of Sept. 6, signed "West Side," would seem to indicate that the writer had rung up the wrong number if the "Commissar Richberg" referred to means Donald R. Richberg, who for some years has been a resident and home owner twenty-odd miles southwest of the loop, in this village, where the reputation he bears is that of a good neighbor, a patriot and a gentleman. H. S. P.

NOT VENGEFUL.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—The state of Illinois has spent thousands of dollars and now the United States government is creating an additional expense in prosecuting Samuel Insull, and for what?

Mr. Insull is not guilty of a premeditated criminal act, but like millions of others misjudged the time for the recovery from the depression and its serious effect on trade.

Chicago, through the foresight and intelligence of Mr. Insull, has the best, most complete and the cheapest electrical service in the world.

I became "Insullated," but I might have been "Armourated" or "Cranated," or even I might have paid $75 for Marshall Field's stock and been forced to sell at $4, or bought wheat at $1.35 and sold it for 45 cents. All of the money lost was not through investment in Insull's securities.

Should Mr. Insull live a few years more, the people of Chicago will thank him for his foresight. A. H. WAGONER.

CALL HIGH TAX ON LIQUOR AID TO SPEAKEASY

Crusaders' Chief to Talk Before Board Tonight.

A warning that exorbitant taxes on hard liquor will give the bootlegger and speakeasy owner a new lease on life will be sounded tonight at the meeting of the state liquor commission in the county building. The commission will hear views of proponents and opponents of prohibition for several days in preparation for formulation of laws to govern hard liquor traffic in Illinois after the repeal of national prohibition.

Col. Ira L. Reeves, western director of the Crusaders, who has been invited to appear before the state board, said yesterday that he would warn against an excessive tax.

"If every one insists on taking a slice of revenue from hard liquor," Col. Reeves said, "it will give the bootlegger his chance for continued existence."

The Crusaders' Plan.

The Crusaders, Col. Reeves said, will advocate broad, sensible laws with teeth in them and will urge the removal of the abuses prevalent in the distribution of hard liquor before prohibition.

"We will not present a detailed, comprehensive plan," Col. Reeves said, "as we have every confidence in the liquor commission and believe that they should hear the testimony of all and select the best points."

Michael Hannigan, representative of the Retail Malt Beverage Dealers' Association of Illinois, who will appear at the meeting, also will urge that the tax on hard liquor be kept in reason. He said he would demand from the dry representatives at the meeting a definition of the "old time saloon."

"This term, which has been chewed over and over, doesn't mean a thing to me," Mr. Hannigan said. "There was cursing and rowdyism in the 'old time saloon' and it would have been disgraceful for a woman to have been seen in one of them. Now, however, the women drink with their husbands and are as much at home as the men in the tavern, saloon, or by whatever name it is known.

"I believe that liquor should be sold over the bar to the poor man as well as the rich man. If a man has to buy a bottle in order to get a drink he ably will go to a speakeasy or beer flat, where he can buy it by the drink.

"I shall urge stiff regulations on retail liquor dealers, a 1 o'clock closing law, and the right of the people to rule by local option."

Dry Leader to Speak.

Dr. George Safford, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, announced yesterday that he would appear at the meeting and would "have some definite ideas to express" which he would not make public until the meeting is called.

Others invited to appear before the commission, headed by State Senator Harold G. Ward [Dem., Chicago], are Mrs. William H. Mitchell and Mrs. Leslie Wheeler of the Woman's Organization for National Prohibition Reform; Mrs. Ella Boole of the W. C. T. U., and Emil Thiele of the Illinois Association Opposed to the 18th Amendment.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $3,504,736, making a total of $61,686,379 collected since the enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act was started on on April 28. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for the last four years follow:

	1928.	1929.
Sept. 11 .....$	113,658	$ 143,805
Uncollected	17,695,970	47,766,705
	1930.	1931.
Sept. 11 .....$	267,910	$ 2,979,963
Uncollected	74,267,963	84,354,793

County Judge Jarecki yesterday began his twentieth week of operation under the Kerner-Skarda act by appointing County Treasurer McDonough as receiver for eighty-seven properties to collect delinquent taxes. The properties owe a double tax bill of $372,501.

Among the properties ordered into receivership and the amounts of taxes owed on each are:

700 East Pershing road	$10,647
3422 Rhodes avenue	15,795
2226 East 71st street	10,572
3946 East 63d street	14,044
1056 West Van Buren street	11,181
5734 Stony Island avenue	15,077
2830 North Clark street	13,501
725 Buckingham place	13,143

Treasurer McDonough filed 100 tax receivership petitions against properties owing a total of $446,552. Among those named in the suits was the Oak Park Arms hotel, which owes $30,740 in back taxes.

Assistant State's Attorney Manuel E. Cowen filed fifty suits in the Circuit court for the collection of delinquent 1931 personal property taxes.

WEEK'S TRIBUTE TO CONSTITUTION TO START TODAY

Horner Asks Observance of 146th Birthday.

By proclamation of Gov. Horner, Illinois yesterday launched a week's observance of the 146th anniversary of the completion and signing of the constitution of the United States. Chicago's program, beginning unofficially yesterday, will be featured today by a joint luncheon meeting of the Chicago Rotary club and the Constitution Educational association, which maintains national headquarters at 28 East Jackson boulevard and for eleven years has sponsored the country's commemoration of the event.

"Strange to say, this year, when we seem to be getting further away from the principles of the constitution, we have found the requests for literature on it from all over the country more than doubled in volume," Mrs. Harry Atwood, director, commented.

Philippines Ex-Official to Speak.

Eugene A. Gilmore, dean of the school of law of the University of Iowa and former vice governor of the Philippine Islands, will be the main speaker at today's luncheon. He was also one of the principal speakers on the same topic at the American Bar association gathering in Grand Rapids last week. He will give a résumé of the articles of political faith designed to make the public conscious of the changes involved in the new deal. His topic is "What Price Recovery?"

Sunday will mark the close as well as the climax of Constitution week. It will center the observance for the day on A Century of Progress grounds, where Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly and Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commanding the Sixth Corps area, will review a detachment of troops from Fort Sheridan, including infantry, cavalry and field artillery. A reviewing stand will be erected in front of the Illinois Host house, where the parade will be held at 10:15 o'clock.

Floyd Thompson to Speak.

At 10:45 the distinguished guests and the public will go inside the building, where Dr. Albert will again preside at a Constitution day program under the auspices of the Chicago and Illinois Bar associations. Floyd E. Thompson, former chief justice of the Illinois Supreme court and now president of the Illinois Bar association, and Dean Gilmore will be the speakers.

KRENN AND DATO BEFORE COURT IN ESTATE TANGLE

Edwin Krenn and Edward A. Dato, former partners in the real estate business with the late Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, exchanged glares yesterday when they appeared at a Probate court hearing on the tangled acairs of Mrs. McCormick's estate.

The hearing was on the petition of the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee of the estate, to recover from Dato $772,000 in bonds claimed for the estate. George A. Rooney, assistant to Probate Judge John F. O'Connell, transferred the matter to Judge O'Connell, who set a hearing for Oct. 3.

Krenn announced that he would speak only through his attorney, but Dato was voluble, announcing that he was appearing for himself because he didn't want to spend any money on a lawyer. He wants to hold the bonds, he said, "to protect creditors."

"The Chicago Title and Trust company gave me a desk and chair and told me they would pay me $1,000 a month for my advice," Dato said. "But I never received any money, and when I returned after an illness in March, the desk and chair were gone."

BOTH POLITICAL PARTIES REMAIN DEEPLY IN DEBT

Democratic Obligation Is Largest at $524,292.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—(AP)—The Democratic and Republican national committees reported to congress today that with the exception of small cash balances for operating expenses, their respective treasuries continued deep in the red.

In the third quarterly report filed with South Trimble, clerk of the house, under the corrupt practices act, Frank C. Walker of New York, treasurer, listed unpaid outstanding obligations of the Democratic committee at $524,292.

J. R. Nutt of Cleveland, Republican treasurer, reported a deficit of $186,464. From June 1 to Aug. 31, contributions to the Republican treasury totaled $29,590 and expenditures amounted to $30,426. Of the contributions, Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury in the Coolidge and Hoover administrations, donated $25,000.

Large Contributions Listed.

Receipts of $87,096 and disbursements of $90,593 were reported by the Democratic committee for the period, leaving a cash balance of $40,554, exclusive of the unpaid obligations.

Among the large contributors to the Democratic fund were A. P. Giannini, Bank of America, San Francisco, $5,000; Greenville county, S. C., Democratic committee, $1,000; Gen. W. H. Cocke, Glaremont, Va., $15,000; Moritz Rosenthal, New York City, $5,000; Robert S. Odell, San Francisco, $1,000; Julian B. Baird, St. Paul, Minn., $1,000; Seymour Guthman, New York City, $2,000; N. P. Delander, St. Paul, $1,000; John S. Begley, Holyoke, Mass., $1,000; Democratic state central committee, San Francisco, $10,000; J. L. Shiely, St. Paul, $4,000; Robert T. Scott, Washington, D. C., $5,000; William H. Dunning Jr., Fort Worth, Tex., $2,500.

Report Money Borrowed.

The report showed that of the unpaid obligations on Aug. 31 of $524,292, the sum of $80,250 was due John J. Raskob, $42,100 Joseph P. Kennedy, and $10,000 Henry Morgenthau, all of New York City; $25,000, R. W. Morrison, San Antonio, Tex.; $10,000, Breckinridge Long, Washington, D. C.; $17,500, M. L. Benedum, Pittsburgh, Pa.; $10,000, W. K. Vanderbilt, New York City; $10,000, Vincent Astor, New York City; $10,000, R. H. Gore, Chicago; $10,000, Howard Bruce, Baltimore, and $10,000, Robert B. Meyer, New York City.

The report said these sums represented money borrowed.

ROBS PLACE A SECOND TIME.

A robber, identified as the same man who had obtained $200 in a holdup there a month ago, returned to the Harrison Orange Hut at 1162 East 63d street early yesterday and took $100 from the manager, Gilbert Salomon.

UTAH DEPUTIES TURN MINE STRIKE MOB BACK WITH TEAR GAS

Price, Utah, Sept. 11.—(AP)—A mob of about 400 persons stormed the Carbon county jail here today in an effort to liberate two leaders of the National Miners' union. The mob was repulsed by sheriff's deputies who used tear gas bombs and fire hose. Many persons suffered from effects of the gas.

The National Miners' union called a strike in Carbon county. That was ended after about 300 strike pickets and sympathizers were rounded up by deputy sheriffs. Four mines in the county were closed for a week.

The mob assembled at Helper early today and drove to Price in trucks and automobiles. Cheering and singing, the men, women, and children marched toward the courthouse.

They were met by 125 deputies and Sheriff S. M. Bliss, who ordered them to turn back. When their leaders refused the deputies turned streams from the fire hose upon them and a barrage of tear gas.

Soon Main street was filled with dense tear gas. As fast as the tear gas bombs were hurled into the mob, its members picked them up and threw them back at the deputies. Charles Guynn and Charles Wetherbee are in jail charged with criminal syndicalism. Officers said the mab wanted to free them.

JOSEPH MAKES POOR START AS A SALOONKEEPER

Joseph Gahlbeck, 20 years old, 563 McAlister avenue, Waukegan, wanted to go into the saloon business, but lacked capital. So he wrote a note to E. Stiff, manager of the Rolling Green Country club near Arlington Heights, and informed him that something dire would happen unless he paid $2,500 "protection money." Stiff notified the police and when Gahlbeck met him last night at Genesee and Washington streets, Waukegan, the youth was arrested. Later he confessed, but added he had only intended to borrow the money and to pay it back when the saloon business got on its feet. He had to go into the saloon business, he said, because he had boasted to a girl he loved that he was a big shot in the liquor business.

Estate of Judge Fitch Is Estimated at $77,000

Judge Joseph H. Fitch of the Superior court, who died Sept. 4 at the age of 74, left an estate valued at $77,000, it was disclosed yesterday by a petition filed before Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge O'Connell. Judge Fitch left no will and letters of administration will be issued to the sons and daughters, who will share the estate. They are Mrs. Edna D. Cole of Randolph, Mass.; Joseph E. Fitch of Winnetka, and Mrs. Sarah F. Seal, Mrs. Clara F. Brown, Mrs. Gertrude F. Peace and Gerald A. Fitch of Chicago.

GETS YEAR'S PROBATION.

Stanley Kostezewa, 21 years old, 5730 North Major avenue, was placed on probation for one year yesterday after he had promised Judge Thomas A. Green to make restitution for $360 in postage stamps stolen from Horder & Horder, 123 South Jefferson street.

WOMEN PRESS LOUISIANA FIGHT ON SENATOR LONG

New Orleans, La., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—Women of Louisiana are pushing their fight on Senator Huey P. Long.

Mrs. Hilda Phelps Hammond, head of the organization of women dedicated to drive the senior Louisiana senator from the chambers of the senate, today sent a telegram to Senator Tom Connally of Texas, chairman of the senate investigating committee, demanding that the senate committee conclude the investigation of the Louisiana senatorial election that seated Senator John H. Overton. Copies were sent to all other members of the committee. In the message to Senator Connally the women's committee said:

"We telegraphed you last week as chairman of the senate committee investigating John R. Overton's election requesting that the committee energetically proceed with the investigation and to that end immediately send back to Louisiana Mr. John Holland, the committee's competent investigator, with a sufficient number of investigators to gather actual evidence needed to satisfy your judgment.

No Reply Received.

"You have made no reply and have evidently taken no action. We believe our request is entirely rightful and we again beg to renew that request. We beg further to say that we can take no other view than that the continued inactivity of yourself and your committee is in violation of the duty imposed upon each of you by the senate resolution authorizing and directing the investigation.

"Since March 4 last your committee has done nothing known to us except to announce on June 18, after much importuning, that hearings would be resumed in New Orleans in mid-October. Meanwhile you have kept Mr. Holland, your only investigator, in Washington without instructions from you, without the slightest contact with you and without allowing him the least authority to prosecute any further investigation in Louisiana.

"If you actually intend to hold hearings in Louisiana in October it is apparent that you also intend that no preparations and no further gathering as evidence shall be made for such hearings. For more than six months you have kept Mr. Holland and several clerks on the pay rolls at some seven or eight hundred dollars a month without authorizing them to take a single step in this investigation. Little money will be left by mid-October for any effective purpose.

Calls It Gigantic Fraud.

"The evidence of record that was adduced by a competent counsel and skilled investigators conclusively shows that Overton's election from beginning to end was a gigantic fraud designed and perpetrated by Senator Long, Overton's campaign manager, with the knowledge and consent of Mr. Overton, who is the beneficiary. You and another member of the committee have pronounced through the press 95 per cent of the evidence of record to be irrelevant because not strictly confined to facts during the Overton election and not bringing the fraud home to Overton.

"It is a fair inference that you have not read the testimony. Neither lawyer nor layman can believe such to be the lawful rule, and when such rule was urged upon Senator James A. Reed, chairman of the senate committee conducting the Vare investigation, he peremptorily rejected it and so did Senator La Follette in the Lorimer investigation.

Trying to Save Senators?

"In those investigations which resulted in unseating Lorimer and denying a seat to Vare the evidence took a much broader scope and reached much remoter matters than did the evidence which you criticize in the Overton investigation. Your attitude is consistent with only one reasonable theory, namely, that you are attempting to save Senator Long and Senator Overton by discrediting counsel and investigators and the powerful record that they have made.

"Senator Long has openly boasted that word has gone down to lay off of him. We prefer to disbelieve Senator Long's statement, but the attitude of your committee must seem to confirm its truth. In the name of decent citizenry and appealing to a rightful sense of duty as a United States senator, we urge you and your committee to take immediate and energetic action."

DENVER WITHOUT GAS FOLLOWING FLOODS; DEATHS REACH FOUR

Denver, Colo., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—The city and its suburbs were without gas tonight and officials of the Public Service Company of Colorado announced it may be from twenty-four to forty-eight hours before service is restored.

Service was impaired Saturday night by a break in the natural gas pipe line from a Texas field to Denver. Sunday a second flood completely disabled the pipe line.

An old artificial gas plant kept in shape for such an emergency was unable to carry the load.

QUEBEC INDIAN CHIEF GUEST AT CHICAGO DINNER

Tibass St. Onge, old chief of the Montagnais Indians, was the guest at a dinner last evening in the Medinah-Michigan Avenue club on the eve of his return to Shelter Bay, Quebec, where he is the leader of a tribe of 700 Indians living on THE TRIBUNE's 500 square miles of leased pulpwood forests.

His host was D. M. Deininger, auditor of THE TRIBUNE and president of the Association de Veterans de Shelter Bay, an informal organization of the men who have been active in the development of Shelter Bay loggings since operations were started there in 1915. Chief Tibass had an important part in that development as a guide through the forests where he has lived all his life and which his people have occupied for centuries.

A hundred executives of THE TRIBUNE and employés of the auditing department attended the dinner. Frank Burgess, the woodsman who came to Chicago as interpreter with Chief Tibass, and J. E. Vallilie, chief accountant of THE TRIBUNE offices at Shelter Bay, were also guests.

Boys Advertising State of Huey Long Leave Today

Nine high school students from Bunkie, La., who have been here a week visiting the World's Fair and advertising the home state of Senator Huey Long as a land of crawfish, catfish, and kingfish, will leave for home today in their flivver and homemade trailer house. In a conspicuous place is the question: "Who socked Huey?" They also carried a stuffed seven foot diamond black rattlesnake and a jar full of live crawfish. The boys are J. S. McNabb Jr., Harvey Bubenzer, Joseph Alford, John Watt, John E. Younger, Kirby Nell, T. T. McNabb, Floyd Younger, and Harvey Voinche.

CLIMALENE

IT'S EASY TO REDUCE THE WELCH WAY!

Would you like to recover your slender, girlish figure? By a simple, natural reducing plan that will actually make you feel better than you've felt in years?

Scientists now insist that Welch's Certified-Pure, Pasteurized Grape Juice should be on every reducing or weight-control diet, because its non-fattening grape sugar forces the body to burn up its fat. It satisfies that craving for sweets and rich, fattening foods. And when taken in connection with low-calory diet, it will enable you—if overweight—to get rid of that ugly fat in the safest, most pleasant way you could imagine.

Welch's contains minerals vital to one's health. It helps make red blood. It contains more Vitamin B than orange juice. It cleanses the entire system. People everywhere report that after following the Welch way to weight reduction they feel more vigorous and alert than they had felt in years.

Start today. Drink a glass of Welch's with and between low-calory meals, and before retiring. Welch's may be diluted with one-third water. Continue—and experience the wonderful difference.

Send for booklet, "Keeping Your Weight Down," yours free for the asking.

If You Have Children

Welch has published another booklet, called "Red-Blooded Children." It describes a wonderful method of building up run-down youngsters. If you will send your name and address to The Welch Grape Juice Co., Dept. 1445, Westfield, N. Y., you will receive either or both of these booklets FREE.

IMPORTANT: Insist on Welch's. It is the exclusive Welch Process that retains in the bottled juice the healthful properties of ripe grapes so essential to the system. Only Welch's is Certified Pure and Pasteurized. It contains no adulterants, no synthetic flavors, no artificial colorings, no preservatives, no water, and above all, no tartaric acid crystals. It is selling at the lowest price in 35 years, and is even cheaper by the case. Send for free booklet TODAY.

POLAND, DANZIG FACE NEW CRISIS IN TRADE WAR

Both Expected to Reject Initialed Treaty.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DANZIG, Free City, Sept. 11.—A new crisis in the relations of the free city of Danzig and Poland is likely to arise next Friday, the time limit set by Helmer Rosting, high commissioner for the league of nations, for putting into effect a treaty, already initiated by the two states.

Rosting, in an effort to bring about better relations, has been occupied for several months trying to arrange a trade treaty which will bring an end to the friction between Poland and its natural port, Danzig.

The situation now is the result of one of the greatest of the many mistakes made by the Versailles treaty. In order to give Poland access to the sea, the Polish corridor [Pomorze] was created, but even for the framers of the Versailles treaty it was too raw to take a German city like Danzig and give it to the Poles.

Poland Awarded Certain Rights.

The final arrangement was the establishment of the free city of Danzig, comprising the city and a few miles of surrounding territory with a total population of 400,000. It was also decided to give Poland certain rights and privileges in the port which is one of the best in northern Europe.

Like many other arrangements at Versailles, the plan did not work. The residents of Danzig loathed being dependent upon the Poles and made things difficult. The Polish minority in the free city was forbidden to use the Polish language in the courts and schools. Even Polish commerce, on which Danzig depended, was not always given a fair show.

Poland, in retaliation, built the port of Gdynia a few miles away on Polish territory and now its trade is slightly greater than that of Danzig. Various efforts have been made to secure better conditions, but neither the Poles nor the people of Danzig were willing to yield. The Danzigers could not, because the parties are so evenly divided that the government never dared risk the criticism of the opposition by making concessions.

Nazis Win Elections.

This was changed at the last election three months ago when the National Socialists [Nazis] won an overwhelming victory and now are for strong trade on reasonable terms. The chief of the state is Hermann Rauschning, president of the senate, who is honestly anxious to live at peace with the Poles and bring prosperity to Danzig.

The treaty, which was initialed Aug. 5, provides for a fair division of trade between Danzig and Gdynia. This is interpreted as meaning that Danzig shall keep what trade she has now and that future development shall be divided "fifty-fifty" between the two ports.

The Poles object to this because they say they cannot agree to anything which will hinder the natural development of their own port. Danzig in return promised to respect the Polish language in the courts and to allow Polish schools to be set up where there are enough children to justify it, and where there are not enough for separate schools, to allow special Polish classes in German schools. This is also objected to by some Germans in Danzig who dream of a reunion of Danzig with the reich.

Up to High Commissioner.

This is the situation at the moment, but on Sept. 15, if the initialed treaty is not finally accepted, the matter will revert to the hands of the high commissioner who will have the right to establish relations of the two states by decree.

No one knows what is in Rosting's mind, but it is generally believed he will put the terms of the initialed treaty in force. If he does so and either side objects, it will have the right to appeal to the league, which will probably support the high commissioner.

That may be the easiest way out for both Poland and Danzig and prove the means of saving the faces of both. If matters continue as they are, Danzig may face a long period of crisis and declining trade. Thus, she will be forced more and more into the arms of the German reich, although in the present temper nothing is more certain than that any attempt by Germany to reincorporate the territory would mean war.

J. M. GRACE SLAYING DESCRIBED BY NURSE TO CORONER'S JURY

Santa Cruz, Cal., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Police Judge Milton J. Coghlan today set Thursday for the preliminary hearing of Miss Frida W. A. Weltz, 43 year old nurse, accused of slaying Francis Joseph Morgan Grace Sr., 57, capitalist, on the lawn of his home last Saturday evening.

A coroner's inquest brought in a verdict that the nephew of the late W. R. Grace, founder of the exporting and importing concern and shipping line, had met his death "as the result of gunshot wounds in the chest."

During the inquest Miss Weltz sat with her head in her hands. She has refused to reveal the motive for the shooting. District Attorney Frank Murphy said she had admitted planning to kill Grace since she was discharged as his nurse 18 months ago.

Miss Helene H. Robert, Grace's nurse at the time of his death, described the killing to the coroner's jury.

"I was seated on a swing talking to Mr. Grace when Miss Weltz appeared through the shrubbery and approached," she said. "Mr. Grace saw her, got up and walked over to her. They talked not more than a minute or two.

"I couldn't hear what they said. He came back to me and I asked him if he wanted her to go away. He said that he did.

"I asked Mis Weltz why she didn't go and remonstrated with her, and when she wouldn't move I asked Mr. Grace if he didn't want to go into the house. He said he did.

"We got the edge of the lawn and there was a shot. Mr. Grace plunged forward. I turned and saw the gun. I let go of Mr. Grace and struggled with her a moment, trying to get the gun from her. I couldn't, and called the butler, who got it. I ran to Mr. Grace, who was lying on the floor in the middle of the hall of the house."

GANGSTER KILLS SELF WITH POISON IN MONTREAL JAIL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 11.—Paul Thouin, 31, a local gangster, cheated the gallows today when he poisoned himself in his cell while awaiting a court hearing on a charge of killing Investigator James Mackie of the Canadian Pacific railway when the police officer caught him thieving in the railway yards last week. Thouin took strychnine which he had concealed in the heel of his shoe.

Before he died the gunman revealed to detectives the site of the cache of fifteen paintings which he stole last spring from the art gallery of Montreal. All the paintings were recovered by police.

Hundreds of persons today attended the funeral of Mackie, who left a wife and several children.

KANE COUNTY BAR PAYS HONOR TO JUDGE ALLABEN

Judge Max F. Allaben of Glen Ellyn, the first Democrat to be elected to the bench in the 16th judicial circuit since the civil war, held court at Geneva in Kane county yesterday for the first time since his election last April. He was greeted by the entire Kane county bar, the Kane county Democratic central committee and scores of friends.

Former Judge John K. Newhall of Aurora, who was defeated by Judge Allanben, was one of the first to congratulate the new judge. Reëlected to the bench of the circuit at the time Judge Allaben was chosen were Judges Frank W. Shepherd of Elgin and William J. Fulton of Sycamore. Judge Allaben was the only Democratic candidate.

Health is half of success

Few men achieve their goal without vitality and drive. And so many are held back from their best by a common ailment; constipation. It dulls energy, often causes headaches, sleeplessness. It takes the vim out of your day's work.

Correct constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it becomes a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than using pills and drugs—so often harmful.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN also has iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Chemical research, undeterred by depression, is opening new ways of wealth and leisure to farmers, it was found in the reports submitted yesterday in various sections of the American Chemical society, which opened its 86th meeting at the Hotel Stevens.

Chemistry applied to corn, for instance, will multiply the wealth of the Mississippi valley and other grain regions, according to Dr. H. E. Barnard, director of the Corn Industries Research foundation of Indianapolis. He estimates that 257 million more bushels a year will be needed, doubling the amount now sold for cash, through the development of new uses for corn products.

Shorter Hours Envisioned.

New and cheaper fertilizers, containing high percentages of plant food, were described by Dr. Arnon L. Mehring and Avis J. Peterson of the bureau of chemistry and soils, United States department of agriculture.

"If scientific research enables the farmer to produce more than he can sell profitably by working the present number of hours on all his soil, it would appear reasonable for him to work less hours on his best land so that he would have as much time for leisure and recreation as the worker in other industries," said Dr. Mehring.

"Unless a majority adopt this practice at about the same time, however, it will not work satisfactorily. Agricultural science itself has no power to prevent farmers from working long hours nor from cultivating land too poor to justify it, but research has built the foundation of knowledge upon which this desirable edifice can be erected by the government or by the farmers themselves with the right kind of coöperation."

Tells of Battle Over Potash.

Dr. J. W. Turrentine of the bureau of chemistry and soils said that America is now the battleground of world-wide rivalry to control the markets for potash. This struggle, he said, evidences a trend to economic nationalism and also to world agricultural rehabilitation. Spain, Chile and Germany are in the race, with Russia making immense preparations.

"The development of a domestic potash industry," he said, "is consistent with national ambition to become self-sustaining with respect to all essential raw materials, and is given further impetus by the necessity of finding new industries which will afford increased employment for our own people.

"Any gains registered by the domestic industry, already firmly established, will be welcomed with general acclaim. The world is now giving thought to agricultural rehabilitation as the foundation on which to rebuild prosperity."

For the Corn Farmer.

Dr. Barnard said the major problem of the chemist was to dislodge the stagnant influences which have retarded the progress of agriculture.

"Since we export no corn as such," he said, "the economic future of the great states lying in the Mississippi basin must be determined by the chemist who finds more and better ways to utilize corn. And so we turn to cornstarch and its conversion to new uses as the only practical solution.

"Our corn crop last year contained 87,241,350,000 pounds of the complex organic molecule known as starch. The corn refining industry buys approximately 75 million bushels of corn each year, separates the starch, oil, and other constituents of the kernel and manufactures a wide variety of products which enter in some form into almost every industry.

"Starch is the chemical raw material—perhaps the most important of all the basic materials which the chemist uses. It is the finding of new values for this basic raw material which will increase the business of the corn refiners, and, by absorbing a larger portion of the market corn, stabilize and advance the economic situation of the corn belt states."

The use of dextrose, refined corn sugar, in carbonated beverages offers a potential market for hundreds of millions of pounds, Dr. Barnard said, requiring many millions of bushels of corn.

HEAVY HYDROGEN ATOMS

Dr. Frank H. Spedding, research chemist from the University of California and winner of the $1,000 Langmuir prize, which will be awarded him next Thursday night at a general session of the American chemical society, lectured before the society yesterday on the spectra emissions of heavy hydrogen atoms recently discovered and known as "heavy water."

This is expensively produced and may never be commercially valuable, although it may be used in medicine when its full properties are known. Dr. G. N. Lewis of California Institute of Technology, has already obtained the double weight hydrogen in high concentration. The liquid looks like ordinary water, yet plants do not grow in it. Chemists suspect that it may prove poisonous to human beings. Tobacco seeds placed in the water by Dr. Lewis failed to sprout.

A new field of investigation thus opens to the chemists. The new water is made of double weight hydrogen atoms and the heaviest of oxygen atoms. It is obtained by electrically separating the two kinds of hydrogen. The heavy water is only slightly heavier than ordinary liquid. By analyzing the light from heavy hydrogen Dr. Spedding found that the nucleus weighs 3,670 times as much as the electron. Under the old rule the atomic nucleus is only 1,800 times heavier than an electron.

FINDS MOVIE THRILLS CHARGE BODY WITH ELECTRIC CURRENT

Science has discovered that when people are emotionally excited by motion picture scenes little electric currents run over their skins. Dr. Christian A. Ruckmick, of the University of Iowa, described yesterday at the annual meeting of the American Psychological association, held at the University of Chicago, how these emotional currents may be measured with a galvanometer.

Children under 12, the Iowan said, are most excited by the slapstick type of comedy, while adolescents are most affected by romantic scenes. The young children showed no reaction whatever to the love making. It was noted, also, that re-showings of the violent buffoonery did not find the youngsters keeping up their interest, while the devotees of the romantic scenes were just about as highly electrified by the repetitions as by the original showing.

DR. STIEGLITZ HONORED

Retirement of Dr. Julius Stieglitz as administrative head of the department of chemistry at the University of Chicago was signalized last night by a dinner at the Chicago Woman's club attended by hundreds of his former students, members of the faculty and visiting members of the American Chemical society. Dr. Stieglitz is 65 years old and has been with the university for 40 years. He is remaining as lecturer and research worker.

Dr. H. I. Schlesinger of the chemistry department presided at the dinner. The speakers included Dr. William McPherson, former president of the American Chemical society, professor of chemistry and dean of Ohio State university; Dr. F. B. Daines, professor of chemistry at the University of Kansas; Prof. John Matthews Manly of the English department of the University of Chicago; Dr. Carl Miner, president of the Miner laboratories, and Dr. Ethel Terry McCoy, research associate in chemistry at the University of Chicago, and Dr. Edward Stieglitz, a son.

Dr. Stieglitz is noted for his research into organic chemistry and his application of physical chemistry to this field.

Lord Rutherford Scoffs at Theory.

LEICESTER, England, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Lord Rutherford, at whose Cambridge laboratories atoms have been bombarded and split into fragments, told an audience of scientists today that the idea of releasing tremendous power from within the atom is absurd.

He addressed the British Association for the Advancement of Science in the same hall where the late Lord Kelvin asserted 26 years ago that the atom is indestructible.

Describing the shattering of atoms by use of 5,000,000 volts of electricity, Lord Rutherford discounted hopes advanced by some scientists that profitable power can be thus extracted.

Calls Atoms Energy.

"The energy produced by the breaking down of the atom is a very poor kind of thing," he said. "Any one who expects a source of power from the transformation of these atoms is talking moonshine. We hope in the next few years to get some idea of what these atoms are, how they are made and the way they are worked."

"Somewhere in the laboratories of the stars," he said, "atoms are being broken up and their particles dispersed.

"Something like that is being aimed at in the laboratories of the world, and we are using enormous energies in electrical power to obtain the most remarkable results. We are living in extraordinary times. In the world of physics there are still great results to come."

Describe "Atom Splitting."

Later the scientists were given a detailed picture of one phase of the transmutation work occurring in the Cavendish laboratory at Cambridge which Lord Rutherford heads. Drs. J. D. Cockcroft and E. T. S. Wilson, who came into the limelight more than a year ago as "atom splitters," described the progress of their work.

They reported that with the apparatus they developed which produces protons, or positively charged units of electricity, having energies up to 700,000 volts, they have been able "with certainty" to disintegrate the elements lithium, boron, and fluorine.

The entry of the high velocity proton, they said, led in all three cases to the ejection of an alpha particle. The lithium splits up into two alpha particles in the two types of transmutation occurring, in one of which an energy equivalent to 17,000,000 volts is liberated.

They said the boron appears to split up into three alpha particles, with the total energy released about 9,000,000 volts. An alpha particle is the nucleus of an atom of helium.

HARKINS HAS HOPES.

Prof. William D. Harkins of the University of Chicago, who has conducted experiments in atomic research for many years, said that at the present time laboratory workers were forced to agree with Lord Rutherford, but that he did not like to close the door entirely to the hope of some day finding a way to produce power through the disintegration of the atom.

"That is probably the way the sun is built up," he said. "There is plenty of power there, for we have proof that each pound of hydrogen that goes into the making of helium or another element is equivalent to 10,000 tons of coal. The difficulty is in getting the atomic nuclei together. We may shoot a million atoms before making one hit. In this way we use more energy than we get, although the energy is not lost, for it returns with added energy. But under present methods we waste too much energy in bad shots. Some way may be discovered in the future."

Will Keep on Trying.

Prof. E. W. Lawrence of the University of California radiation laboratory, according to dispatches from San Francisco, yesterday said that no efficient method is yet known for developing power from the breakdown of the atom.

"Nevertheless, the power is there to be gotten," he said, "and we are going to keep on trying to produce it."

Noted Foreign Chemists Honored at World Fair

Four distinguished foreign chemists who are attending the convention of the American Chemical society as guests of A Century of Progress were entertained at luncheon yesterday by Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager of the Fair. During the afternoon they visited the Hall of Science with Dr. I. E. Muskat, scientific director of the Fair. The visitors are Dr. Richard Willstaetdtter of Munich, Dr. J. N. Bronsted of Cophenhagen, Dr. Paul Karrer of Zurich, and Dr. George Barger of Edinburgh. Each of the distinguished visitors was given a medal of A Century of Progress.

COAL HEAT Still COSTS LESS

Why do substitute fuels carefully avoid mentioning costs except in the most general of terms? Simply this: coal heat costs less, *much less. Why pay more when there is no safer, more dependable, quieter, evener heat than coal heat? It can be burned automatically just as any other fuel, if that is what you want. For economy, stick to coal or coke. For full measure and honest grading, buy from a member of this Association.

*It is conservatively estimated, that for every ton of coal you burn, you would need 210 Therms of gas and have to pay for a burner besides. Ask your merchant for a circular proving this fact and giving you exact costs.

Two Trained Nurses Tell How They Lost Ugly Fat

With New Battle Creek Reducing Treatment

Miss Lola Sharp

Mrs. Francis Rudolph

Loses 45 Pounds in 8 Weeks

"I tried all kinds of reducing remedies in vain, but when BonKora was originated I investigated and found it was just what I needed. It has taken off 45 pounds in 8 weeks. My bust reduced 6 inches, my waist 12 inches, my hips 10 inches. I wear dresses 4 sizes smaller. BonKora gave me new health too."—Miss Lola Sharp, Trained Nurse, Bristol, Indiana.

Loses Own Fat—Recommends to Fat Patients

"It was a lucky day for me when I heard of BonKora. Other remedies had failed to reduce me but BonKora took off 40 lbs. in 6 weeks. I am now the correct weight for my height. I found it harmless too. In fact it made me feel stronger; ended digestive troubles. I look 10 years younger, too, since I lost all those pounds of excess fat.

"I am a Trained Nurse and I always recommend BonKora to my patients if they are stout. Those who have taken it report splendid results, losing fat, gaining health."—Mrs. F. Rudolph, Trained Nurse, 4527 Park Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Harmless, Pleasant. Eat Big Meals See Fat Go Quick—or No Cost

Trust a trained nurse to recognize the best way to lose her ugly fat. Others also say that BonKora, the new Battle Creek Reducing Treatment, took off fat after other methods failed. They lost 15 to 40 lbs. in 3 to 6 weeks. Mrs. Grace Moran, 2349 Lake St., Kalamazoo, Mich., lost 30 lbs. in 12 weeks. She gained new health too.

Reduce fat all over if you wish. Or if you are just fat around waist, bust or hips, this fat goes first. Then when it is gone, you can stop if you don't want to reduce elsewhere.

START in PHILADELPHIA

Sales impressions are lasting in this permanent market of homes

There is a quality of permanence about Philadelphia which is a definite asset in these days of upheaval and change.

Philadelphia goes on!

Her people plant their roots deep . . . a characteristic which is expressed by their love of possessing a home. More than 90% of the people live in private homes. Only 5% in apartments. 3% in lodging houses and hotels.

These figures have a significance for every sales manager. "Home livers" are home lovers, and they are prodigious consumers of goods.

Philadelphians have another trait which is rooted deep. They want a family newspaper for the home which interests every one. They want accurate, reliable news, handled without sensationalism, yet with an alertness that presents the quick-changing events of the day.

Their confidence and interest has built The Bulletin to 497,243 net paid daily circulation. (August average). Two and one-half times the circulation of any other Philadelphia evening newspaper, more than any Sunday newspaper, more than all morning newspapers combined. All without premium, contest, or forced methods of any kind.

This condition, too, has a sales significance. Only one newspaper is needed to reach nearly every home, and every one in those homes. And because widespread reading interest permits low rates, The Bulletin can offer an advertising cost that is exceptionally low.

Add Philadelphia's 5,567 factories with their widely diversified products spreading recovery over many lines. Add the hundreds of close-lying suburbs which swell the sales volume; the higher-than-average incomes for workers; the low cost of shipping by water, rail or motor. . .

Consider the fact that long-deferred purchases have built up imposing want lists in half a million homes. Consider the economy of using only one newspaper to cover this great market. Consider the fact that the advertising cost is one of the lowest among all newspapers in America.

Consider that national advertisers place more linage in The Bulletin than in any other of the two thousand six-day newspapers. Then join with these advertisers in selling in this permanent market of homes.

174 CHARITABLE AGENCIES SHOW $742,000 DEFICIT

Private Hospitals Facing Crisis, Report Says.

Net deficits totaling $742,000 were experienced during 1932 by 174 of Chicago's leading charitable institutions, according to computations by the Chicago Community trust, released yesterday by Frank D. Loomis, secretary. A similar report for 1931 for the same institutions showed a deficit of approximately $750,000.

"Thus in both years," comments the report, "the private charitable agencies of Chicago have had deficits in current operations of nearly three-quarters of a million dollars."

Total current income from all sources for the agencies included amounted to $27,815,873, and total current expenses for the year were $28,557,947 in 1932, as against a $30,000,000 income and an expenditure of $30,750,000 in 1931.

47 Institutions for Children.

In the list are forty-five hospitals and health agencies, forty-seven institutions for the care of children, eight family relief agencies, twenty-two shelter and protective agencies, seventeen old people's homes, and thirty-five social settlements and neighborhood centers.

"Both income and expense in 1932 were two and a quarter million dollars less than in 1931," said the report. "This notwithstanding the fact that in 1931 they received $12,654,354 from private voluntary contributions, and in 1932 $13,043,735. Income from earnings or pay from patients, institutional residents, etc., for service rendered was $15,152,722 in 1931, and $12,341,573 in 1932. Income from endowment was $400,000 less in 1932 than in 1931, the total for 1932 being $2,229,392.

"Had it not been for the governor's commission campaign in the fall of 1930 and the emergency relief campaigns in 1931 and 1932, which furnished to the agencies included in the report $5,669,000 in 1931 and approximately $9,500,000 in 1932, it would have been impossible for many of the agencies to continue their work.

Hospitals Hit Hardest.

"In financial losses due to the depression, the hospitals and clinics have suffered most severly," Mr. Loomis added. "In 1931, 29 hospitals and clinics had income of $10,522,000 and expense of $10,972,000, a current deficit of $420,000; in 1932 the same institutions had income of $8,824,000 and expense of $9,334,000, a deficit of $510,000.

"It is hardly conceivable that private charity in the form of voluntary contributions can make up such losses. The private hospitals face serious problems of readjustment. They must find means of obtaining larger pay from patients, they must turn to public support through taxation, they must curtail their services and their expenses, or they must go out of business.

"We can get along very well with fewer general hospitals, but the service of the well organized and well managed private hospitals is more needed than ever, and doubtless some way will be found of maintaining them."

ARTHUR R. ROPES FAMOUS WRITER OF LYRICS, DIES

LONDON, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Arthur Reed Ropes, 73, who, under the stage name of Adrian Ross, wrote the lyrics of about 2,000 productions, including "The Merry Widow," "The Dollar Princess," "Monsieur Beaucaire," and "The Toymaker of Nurnberg," died here today. Ropes was born in London on Dec. 23, 1859. After studying at various schools and at Cambridge university, followed by his winning several poetry and writing awards, he turned his attention to comic opera in 1889.

A. C. NEWBY OF INDIANAPOLIS SPEEDWAY DIES

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—Arthur C. Newby, pioneer in transportation, financier and philanthropist, died at his home here tonight after a long illness. He was born on a farm near Monrovia, Ind., in 1866, and came to Indianapolis as a youth. Employed in various capacities by the Nordyke Marmon company, he in 1890 organized the Zigzag Cycling club and by 1899 was manufacturing sixty per cent of the bicycle chains used in America. In 1900 he organized the National Motor Vehicle company. The National won the pioneer automobile race in 1912.

Mr. Newby was a founder of the Automotive Chamber of Commerce of America and in 1909 with Carl G. Fisher, Frank Sweet, James A. Allison and Frank H. Wheeler, organized the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

In recent years he spent much time in Florida.

Judge Horace W. McDavid of Kiwanis Fame Is Dead

Decatur, Ill., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Circuit Judge Horace W. McDavid, former president of Kiwanis International, died at a hospital here today of a heart ailment. He was 50 years old. A prominent Democratic, McDavid was elected Circuit judge in June. He had lived in Decatur three years.

ROBERT G. BEAR DIES; OFFICIAL OF WARD & CO.

Funeral services for Robert G. Bear, vice president and treasurer of Montgomery Ward & Co., will be held at 2:45 o'clock tomorrow in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church of Evanston, of which Mr. Bear was a trustee and elder. Burial at Memorial Park cemetery will be private.

Mr. Bear, who was 55 years old, died suddenly Sunday evening in his home at 1145 Sheridan road, Evanston. Death was caused by a blood clot which lodged in the heart.

Mr. Bear was for 28 years an employé of the United States Gypsum company, in recent years as secretary and treasurer. A year ago Sewell Avery, president of both companies, appointed him treasurer of Montgomery Ward & Co., and he was elected a vice president in March.

He was a Mason and a member of the Union league and Westmoreland and Evanston Country clubs. His widow, Mrs. Bessie Hornbeck Bear, two sons, Henry C. Bear of Atlanta, Ga., and Robert G. Bear Jr., and four daughters, Mrs William Pope of Winnetka, and Elizabeth, Letitia, and Anna Margaret Bear, survive.

Widow of Chas. Schwartz, Democratic Leader, Dies

Mrs. Olive Dieter Schwartz, 55 years old, of Naperville, widow of Charles Schwartz, who was for many years a Democratic leader in Du Page county and was his party's candidate for congress in 1930, died yesterday at the St. Charles hospital, Aurora, after an illness of three weeks. Mrs. Schwartz was born in Naperville Nov. 3, 1877, and had lived there her entire life. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

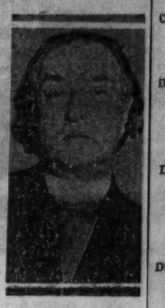
PRIMATE LLOYD OF AMERICAN CATHOLICS DIES

Archbishop Frederic E. J. Lloyd, primate of the American Catholic church, died yesterday at his home, 44 East Schiller street, of heart disease. He was 74 years old.



ARCHBISHOP LLOYD.

A native of England, Archbishop Lloyd was ordained a priest of the Church of England in 1882. He later went as a missionary to Labrador, remaining there three years. He came to the United States in 1893, and was rector of Episcopal churches in Hamilton, O., Cleveland, O., and Bloomington, Ill., before coming to Chicago. He was superintendent of the Grace Episcopal church parish house here for four years.

In 1906 Dr. Lloyd left the Episcopal church and became a Roman Catholic. After a brief return to the Episcopal creed he joined the American Catholic church and became its first archbishop. At one time he had several congregations, but it was said last night many of these had withdrawn.

Archbishop Lloyd was an authority on church music and had written extensively on this subject. He is survived by his widow, seven daughters and two sons. Funeral services will be held at 1253 North Clark street Thursday at 10 a. m.

JOHN S. DRIVER, EX-CHICAGOAN, DIES ON COAST

Santa Barbara, Cal., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—John S. Driver, 64 years old, retired Chicago business man, died in a hospital here tonight of pneumonia following a major operation. His widow, the former Adele Kinzie, is a great-granddaughter of John Kinzie, Chicago pioneer. Mr. Driver was the son of the late Edward A. Driver, for many years a member of the Chicago Board of Trade. Mr. Driver and his wife formerly lived in Riverside, a Chicago suburb. Surviving beside the widow are two daughters, both of Santa Barbara, and a brother, Raymond E. Driver of Central Point, Ore.

Infant Health Discussed by Scientists Here

Physical Therapy Sessions Open in City.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Reduction of infant mortality and the number of stillbirths and the production of healthier babies by means of applying physical therapy to children before they are born was discussed yesterday at the twelth annual American Congress of Physical Therapy in the Palmer house. Scientific and clinical sessions opened yesterday and will continue through Friday.

The effects of photochemical rays in preventing infantile rickets when applied to prospective mothers during pregnancy was discussed by Lieut. Col. Frank T. Woodbury, retired, of New York. The influence on the genes by such treatment is well known, he said.

"We can, however, go back of conception," said Dr. Woodbury. "If the genes of an individual tend to the production of idiots, imbeciles, morons, epileptics, diabetics, tuberculous and malignant growths, hemophilia or other conditions which may render the individual a burden to himself or the community, it is within the legal and moral right of the community to prevent their reproduction.

"Sterilization is the rational preventive procedure," he said. Dr. Woodbury advocated sterilization by electrochemical effects of radiation.

Continuing with a discussion of preventing diseases in children, Dr. Woodbury said:

"Where the mother is infected with a disease transmissible to the child both prior to and after conception, the child may be protected by curing the mother. Thus in the tuberculous parent heliotherapy and artificial heliotherapy should be carefully administered.

"As soon as the infant begins to exhibit active coördination of muscular movements it is time to employ graduated exposure to sun and wind in order to build up immunity not only of the skin but the general constitution against disease."

In the opening address of the congress, Dr. Gustav Kolischer, outgoing president American Congress of Physical Therapy, described how science is endeavoring to advance cancer treatment through reinforcing the natural defense forces of the body.

More than 1,000 medical and surgical specialists are attending the convention, which emphasizes treatment of disease by light, heat, electricity, water, massage, and exercise. Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president board of health commissioners, welcomed the visitors.

In both Michael Reese and Mount Sinai hospitals intensive research is being conducted in means of building up the body's defense forces, which, he explained, reside in the reticulo-endothelial system of cells.

"With respect to cancer, the final solution must come from the laboratory," he said. "In recent years we have learned much of the part played by the natural defense forces. By high frequency current we can concentrate these forces in a given area, and by chemical injections in the blood stream we can stimulate them to greater efficiency.

"The strength of the defense forces varies in individuals and its efficacy or deficiency may be ascertained by clinical tests."

Cancer is not a local disease, he declared, even in its early stages. Therefore the knowledge of the "defending cells" and their utilization is important, he said.

"Cancer is a local manifestation of a general disorder," said Dr. Kolischer. "Pipe smoking, for example, is only a contributory cause to certain cancers of the mouth."

Dr. Albert F. Tyler of Omaha is the incoming president. Dr. William L. Clark of Philadelphia is president elect.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

Rehearsals for a revival of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," with De Wolf Hopper as Tom, will begin in the Studebaker theater today. The opening performance will take place next Monday night.

This production will be made by Harry Minturn, now the lessee of the Studebaker. He is an actor as well as a manager, having been associated with stock companies in and around Chicago for many years. Mr. Minturn has cast himself for the rôle of Simon Legree. Enid Markey of "On the Make," "The Bride Retires," and "Sisters of the Chorus," will appear as Topsy, and Margaret Fitch will play Liza. The other members of the cast, now en route from New York conning their lines, will be announced tomorrow.

This will be the first professional performance of the famous ante-bellum folk drama in Chicago for a long period.

Meanwhile word comes from New York that the Players' club revival of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," a Broadway hit of last spring, has been acquired by Rowland Stebbins, producer of "The Green Pastures," for a tour with Otis Skinner as its star in the rôle of Tom. The company will visit the principal cities of the east and middle west, starting in Boston in October. Fay Bainter, whose acting of Topsy was highly praised in New York, will not rejoin the cast.

The spirit of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" appears to be in the air at present. In the photoplay "Voltaire," recently released and not yet exhibited in Chicago, George Arliss, appearing in the title rôle, watches the burning of Voltaire's books and effigy by order of the king and solemnly remarks:

"They may burn my body, but they can't kill my soul."

Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne are scheduled for a London première in "Reunion in Vienna" on Jan. 5. Apparently they will not be active on the American stage this season.

Bert Lahr, the comedian who was identified with "Flying High," both as a musical comedy and a screen entertainment, leads the program of vaudeville at the Palace theater this week. He coöperates with two other featured players—Eleanor Powell, pretty tap dancer of the last "Scandals," and George Gaar, recently of "Strike Me Pink"—in comic chatter, and appears in a sketch lifted out of "Flying High." He also contributes a much needed caricature of the mincing British mannerisms of Clifton Webb.

At the Chicago theater Gus Van, surviving member of the vaudeville team of Van and Schenk, is the chief roisterer. The omnipresent Sally Rand is in residence for her sixth consecutive week.

Mary McCormic, formerly of the Chicago Civic Opera company, will be the Palace's next headliner, starting Friday afternoon. Also, to match the Chicago's Miss Rand, the Palace will offer Rosalia, the Mexican fan dancer of Midway cabaret shows.

Farm Wagon Makes Good Horse Show Grandstand

A farm wagon is even a better place than the top of an automobile from which to watch a horse show, Miss Helen Sheafe (left) and Miss Alberta Newcombe found on Sunday at the Dunham Woods show at Wayne. Miss Sheafe is the daughter of the James S. Sheafes of Geneva, and Miss Newcombe is the Albert Newcombes' daughter and also lives in Geneva. Miss Newcombe finished at Westover last June and is going east shortly to be present at the debut of a classmate who lives in Connecticut. When she returns she will busy herself with an art course for she is not to be a debutante herself, although she will be included in many of the debutante festivities in town this winter. Co-eds Lead N. U. Men in Earning Cash

Northwestern coeds who are working their way through school proved better earners than did the male students who worked, it was shown yesterday by figures released by the university employment bureau on its activities during the last school year.

The bureau found jobs for 643 of the 1,643 students who registered with it during the year. Of these 232 were women. The women earned an average of $206 during the year while the male students averaged $199. The total earnings of the students who found jobs through the bureau were $65,580. This included payments in the form of board and room, valued at the current campus rates.

"The depression has greatly increased the number of women students who work their way through school," said Willard Buntain, director of the bureau. "A few years ago, only a few coeds who entered college were forced to earn their way. Now hundreds of girls on the Northwestern campus hold part time jobs."

Former Club Federation Chief Will Speak Today

The World's Fair committee of the Chicago Woman's club, with Mrs. Harlan Ward Cooley as its chairman, is entertaining Mrs. Percy V. Pennypacker, a past president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, at luncheon today in the Trustees' Lounge at the Fair. Preceding the luncheon Mrs. Pennypacker will speak at 11 o'clock in the larger auditorium of the Illinois Host building. Mrs. Pennypacker's subject will be "High Ideals of the Century as Embodied in the Life of Jane Addams." Mrs. Harvey Fox, past president of the Woman's club, will preside at this meeting. She will be introduced by Mrs. George W. Noble.

Australian-American Davis Cup Teams Play at Onwentsia Today

Society Ready for Tennis Exhibition on North Shore; Parties Arranged for Visitors.

BY JUDITH CASS.

POLO and golf having scored their innings with brilliant national matches during the last three weeks, society is ready today to concentrate its attention on tennis. At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon the Australian and the United States Davis cup teams will meet in the first of a two day series of matches on Onwentsia's rainproof court.

Forest Hills in its Long Island setting will never have been host to a more distinguished tennis party, according to the plans Charles S. Garland, Chicago's former Davis cup team captain, brought home yesterday from the east, where he has been attending the international tennis matches of the last fortnight.

Although the games here are officially under the auspices of the United States Lawn Tennis association, the Onwentsia club, it is really Mr. Garland who is responsible for bringing them to Lake Forest.

By train and plane all of the players with the exception of America's racquet ace, Frank Shields, arrived in town during the last two days. Mr. Shields comes this morning with Mrs. Shields to be the house guest the next two days of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe and their daughter, Miss Jean Schweppe, who, with her cousin, Miss Mary Reed, is chairman of the women's entertainment committee for the players. Lester Stoefen, another American Davis cup star, is also the guest of the Schweppes.

Players Visit World's Fair.

Adrian Quist and Don Turnbull, Australians, are staying at the Racquet club. Arriving early yesterday, they spent the day at A Century of Progress reserving this morning for warming up for the afternoon's contests. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crawford [Mr. Crawford is playing for Australia] and Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Allison are at the Deerpath inn in Lake Forest, while the other players are being put up at the Onwentsia club.

Because the games, of course, are all important, the time for parties is limited, but as many as can be are crowded in today's and tomorrow's calenders. The highlights will be a dinner dance this evening at the Onwentsia preceded by a cocktail party at the home of the Joseph M. Cudahys. All of the players and all of those having to do with the organization of the matches have been invited to both affairs.

Tomorrow noon the Garlands will entertain at luncheon at their Lake Forest home for Mr. and Mrs. Crawford, the Allisons, Frank Parker, and Keith Gledhill. At the same time Miss Schweppe will be hostess to Mr. and Mrs. Shields, Vivian McGrath, Don Turnbull, Adrian Quist, George Lott, and Lestern Stoefen.

After the games tomorrow the players will have a swim in the Schweppes' handsome pool and then move on to Miss Reed's mother's home, that of Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed, for dinner. They are planning to leave Chicago late tomorrow night or early Thursday morning.

Shields and Stoefen Add to Interest.

The coming of Shields and Stoefen for these Davis cup matches is responsible for even increased interest in the games. Both were semi-finalists in the Forest Hills national singles which ended Sunday and both are stamped by sports authorities as the year's outstanding American players. Due to the poor showing of Ellsworth Vines, who unsuccessfully tried to defend his national title at Forest Hills, Shields is now generally regarded as the country's leading player.

Two singles and one doubles are to be played each day of the matches. Today's singles will line up Adrian Quist, Australian, and Keith Gledhill, United States . . . Vivian McGrath, Australia's 17 year old backhander, and Frankie Parker, the Milwaukee "boy wonder" of the same age. Jack Crawford will team up with Vivian McGrath for the doubles against Shields and Parker.

Unless it's pouring down rain at 2:30 today there is little chance that the games will be postponed because of weather, for the Onwentsia court is so constructed that it dries out almost immediately after a storm.

Among those who will be in the boxes this afternoon are the Joseph C. Beldens, the William McCormick Blairs, the Willard N. Boydens, George F. Carr, the Joseph Cudahys, both the senior and junior Albert Blake Dicks, the Edmund J. Doerings, Roger C. Hyatt, Clifford M. Leonard, Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed, and the Charles S. De Longs.

Luncheon for Barbara Sargent.

Miss Barbara Ann Sargent, daughter of the Chester Sargents of Winnetka, is to be the especial guest at a debutantes' luncheon to be given today by Mrs. Oliver M. Knode at her residence on Green Bay road in Winnetka. Miss Sargent is to make her debut during the Christmas holiday season.

Miss Allene Withers, who is making no formal debut this season but is included in this fall's debutante activities, is giving a series of luncheons for her "budding" friends before she leaves on the 20th for Sarah Lawrence college. She will be hostess at one of the series tomorrow at the residence of her mother, Mrs. Allen L. Withers of Lincoln avenue, Winnetka.

An attractive visitor who arrived yesterday to be in Barrington for the next couple of months is Miss Betty Rowe, who made her debut in New York last winter but was here for the debutante parties during the holiday season. Miss Rowe and her broth-

PERHAPS you read, in a recent issue of The New Yorker, Alexander Woollcott's superb tribute to the rickshaw boys at the Fair. Written in Mr. Woollcott's purest and liveliest prose, it extolled the swift, mannerly and competent manner in which these lads perform their job, unaware that there is something of a social question involved.

"We all need such occasional reminders that we ourselves impart to our jobs the only honor and dignity they can have," Mr. Woollcott wrote. "Hourly the rickshaw boys at A Century of Progress give evidence that there is no such thing as menial work. There is only a menial spirit. I think the planners of our national economy might contemplate them with profit."

We hear from a friend of the writer that his mail has been flooded with letters from the rickshaw boys since the piece appeared, due to Constance Collier, whom Woollcott met on the Midway "rolling majestically along, quite in the manner of Messalina on her way to the Colosseum," having passed out to them dozens of copies of the issue containing the article. It was a little hard on Mr. Woollcott, perhaps, that the youths about who · he wrote with such illusion, took pen in hand to thank him. For most of the letters from the young gods in orange shorts ran something like this:

"Dear Mr. Woollcott:

"We read your article and thank you lots . . ."

MR. WOOLLCOTT'S statement that there is no such thing as menial work; there is only a menial spirit, brings to mind a hot summer's day when we took an intense dislike to Mr. Gene Tunney. He was at Lake Villa, Ill., in training for the famous contest in which Jack Dempsey sought to regain his lost title, and he was, reluctantly enough, giving an interview to the press. Part of Mr. Tunney's reluctance was due to the fact that the morning papers that day had carried a story of a suit filed against him by a young man to collect funds he charged were due him for services, and reporters were asking him about the matter. The young man had said he had been a kind of social secretary to Tunney, if memory serves me right, and Tunney had denied this.

"Well, in what capacity did he work for you?" this scribe inquired.

Mr. Tunney looked annoyed, then blurted out haughtily:

"O, in a menial capacity."

YOU may have heard it—but Phil Baker was reminded of it when a friend returned from Europe the other day. The story concerns two friends who had been parted for many years. They reminisced affectionately for a time, then the one urged the other to come out to his home. He forthwith gave directions—four blocks east, two blocks up De Lancey street, and the third house on the left.

"You poosh at the door with the left knee, then with the right; then you poosh with first one shoulder, then the other, and you'll get the door open," he concluded.

"For vy do I open the door like that?" inquired the other in surprise.

GALE WAGNER of Riverside, who is 4, and a very modern child, was taken to see Mrs. James Ward Thorne's miniature rooms in Paris, at the Fair. She looked at the 16th century Venetian rococo salon and said:

"Where's the bed?"

Then she recovered herself quickly and added:

"O, I suppose it's in the door."

MARY REND was sitting on the terrace of the Rendezvous club at the Fair the other evening and looked up in surprise when a woman who had just been introduced to her said:

"O, Miss Rand, I want to tell you how much I enjoyed your fan dance."

Dames of Malta.

A three day convention of the Dames of Malta, sister lodge of the Knights Hospitalers of St. John of Jerusalem, will be opened today at the Hotel Sherman. Business meetings will mark the morning sessions, a dinner dance will be held Wednesday night, and a program of musical and dramatic entertainment on Thursday night.

MANDOA, MANDOA!

by WINIFRED HOLTBY

Jammed with exciting action, with thrillingly unexpected crises; a novel written with tremendous vigor out of a rich imagination, with a plot and setting unlike any you remember.

In brief, magnificent entertainment!

There is action and wit and satire—and a gorgeous love story wherein a modern girl reaches the height of passion in the wilds of Africa.

MANDOA, MANDOA!

—STORM JAMESON

"Here are a capacity for invention and a love of satire such as few writers possess . . . Swift would have relished the plot . . . Sane and delightful, touched with astonishing realism, the story sweeps you into Mandoa, the best of impossible worlds!"

BLOOD MONEY

By IRVIN S. COBB.

SYNOPSIS.

Uncas Cresap and his Chinese servant are found dead in the upper room of Cresap's bathhouse on Kettle pond, near the eastern end of Long Island. Gilbert Jonathan Redd, Cresap's stepbrother, keeps a written private account of developments in the case. A blow on the forehead from a slender, sharp edged implement killed Cresap. The cause of the Chinaman's death is not apparent. Capt. Bray, a special investigator, is an old friend of Redd's. Redd is a former police reporter. Florence Dand, Cresap's niece and an orphan, lived with him. Redd was fond of Florence's mother. He bought a home near Cresap's in order to protect Florence. Cresap made his fortune in the far east. Redd freely admits to Bray his hatred of Cresap, who was a drunkard and a debauchee. There seemed to be some secret bond between Cresap and his servants, the Chinaman and a dwarf, Sabino. Bray finds a new will, disinheriting Florence. As it is unsigned the old will stands. Cresap disapproved of Florence's moneyless sweetheart, Gregory Thorpe. Thorpe disappears. He is found in a hospital, victim of a hitch-hiker, before Cresap's death, which exonerates him. Florence takes a room in the hospital.

BLACKMAIL.

I am sure that Bray doesn't mean to be gone all day. For less than an hour ago old Verity came by to tell me something which, for some unfathomable reason of his own, he seemed to think I should know without delay, and this was that young Terry Bray, coming on guard to relieve Durkee the deputy sheriff, brought word that Bray senior would be at the Cresap place during this afternoon to have an interview with Hilda. And Hilda, so Verity said, was in quite a swivit over the prospect. But, as I asked him, why should Hilda be in any swivit? He shook his head at that but added, with a touch of resentment born, no doubt, of his own recent suffering at the captain's inquisitorial hands: "Well, that there Bray shorely kin hector a passon about once't he puts his mind to it—yes, yes."

It was about an hour before Verity contributed his driblet, that I had Florence on the wire or, to be accurate about it, that Florence had me on the wire. My 'phone rang and when I answered Florence was at the other end and, although she held her voice under control, she did it by an effort.

"Uncle Gil, is that you?" she asked breathlessly.

"Yes," I said, and instantly was apprehensive for her—I so plainly could detect the repressed strain in her tone. "Anything wrong? How's Greg by now?"

"He's fine," she said, and hurried on: "Uncle Gil, is—is anyone else there with you?"

"Im all alone, honey . . . why?"

"Uncle Gil, was it you who tried to call me twice this morning—once early, about seven o'clock and again about nine?"

"No."

"Then I know who it was—Sabino!"

"Sabino?"

"It couldn't have been anyone else."

"But why Sabino?"

"Because he was here—here at this hospital—last night and he said—"

"I want my share—my cut."

She broke off and started again: "It was nearly midnight and Greg had gone off to sleep and I was in my room just getting ready to undress when a night orderly came and told me a person wanted to see me downstairs on the main floor. He said this person wouldn't come into the reception room, but was waiting for me at the covered side door where the ambulances drive up. I wondered who it could be at that hour of night. And I slipped on my topcoat and I went down. And, Uncle Gil, it was Sabino. He was snuggled up in a sort of little recess behind the pillars of the porte cochere, but there was a light in the passage back of me and I could make out who it was. There was no sign of a car, so he must have parked it outside the hospital grounds. He was copping and all splashed with mud; and, Uncle Gil, he had the most curious threatening look on his face. For a moment I was so taken by surprise seeing him there—of all persons—that I couldn't say anything, and he just stared at me. Then I said:

"'What are you doing here?'

"And he said: 'I followed you. This looked like my best chance. So I followed you. And I've found you.'

"And I said: 'Well, now that you've found me—and that couldn't have been very hard—what do you want?'

"And he said: 'You've got sense. You can guess. I want to have an understanding with you right now. I want my share—my cut. And if I don't get it there'll be an awful lot of trouble for more than one.'

"'Your cut out of what?' I asked him.

"And he said, fairly hissing it out: 'Out of all that big money you'll be getting by that will.'

"'But my uncle left you a legacy,' I said.

"'Hell's fire!' he said. 'A measley ten thousand when I earned ten times that—yes, twenty times that. He told me it would be more than any ten thousand. All along he told me it would be a heap more. And he lied to me—all along he was lying to me. It was finding out how he'd double-crossed me that's altered my feelings about him. But I know who I can get my share from. Me, I know too much already and I'm on the road to find out aplenty more. And somebody's got to close up my mouth with money. And you can guess who that somebody is!'

"I managed to say: 'Are you trying to blackmail me?'

"And he said: 'Is blackmail one-tenth as bad as what already's been done? For blackmail they only send people to jail. But for murder they send them to the chair.'

"I don't know what else he was going to say, but just then we both heard a sound off to the left and we both looked in that direction, and for just a flash I'm almost certain I saw a skulking figure drawing back behind a jog in the side wall of the building. I'm not even absolutely certain I saw anybody at all. Startled as I was, it might have been a shifting shadow that deceived me. But if it was that, it deceived Sabino, too, because he whispered: 'You'll be hearing from me again—soon.' And with that, he scuttled off, going toward the street. . . . So that's why I asked you the question—had you tried to call me twice today? The first time the connection was bad or something and nothing came through except a blur, and the second time central apologized and said the party who wanted me had changed his mind and would ring up again later. And so—→"

"Let's go back a little," I said. "What did you do after that little demon took himself away?"

"I closed the door and went back upstairs and said nothing to anyone about what just had happened, and I tried to go to sleep."

"Why didn't you telephone me then and there?"

"O, Uncle Gil, I hated to! What good would it do to tell you—that late at night? Besides, I was afraid you'd be asleep and I didn't want to disturb you. Yesterday you looked as though you hadn't slept for a week. And this morning it all seemed more like a scrap of nightmare than something that really happened. But since it did happen, what is there to do?"

"Do," I echoed, "why nothing. That is, nothing so far as you're concerned, except to keep on doing what you tell me you've done so far—say nothing at all about it to anyone. And you just leave Mr. Sabino's case in my hands. I think possibly I may have a flea to put in his ear. So, while you're still up at that place, should anyone try to get in touch with you, either personally or by telephone, you make sure who it is before you answer, and when you do answer, say nothing which might be twisted about or misinterpreted by anyone listening in. In fact, honey, the best thing you can do is just forget last night—or try to. Let's move along to something of real importance: You say Greg is still improving?"

She told me her sweetheart was mending steadily, that her new found ally, Miss Carmody, the nurse, had made it possible for her to stay on at the hospital as a paying guest for a day or two longer and that she rather thought she would stay since Gregory's father was due to arrive this afternoon from Toledo. I agreed with her as to the advisability of this, and after she had confessed rather dismally that Gregory still seemed adamant in his determination not to marry until he was out of the penniless class, I guyed her for being one of the great army of the undesired and on that more cheerful note, rang off.

I drove over to Cresap's. Sabino was nowhere about and nobody seemed to know his whereabouts.

Clever Women Avoid Sameness of Appearance

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

One thing that interests me greatly is the many decorative characters one woman can be these days. Certainly it is within woman's power to forestall any charge of sameness about her.

The other day, for instance, at a morning affair I met a woman in a good looking sports outfit. At the cocktail hour later that day she wore a charming afternoon dress with large hat, creating quite another personality. Then, again, later in the evening I saw her in a lovely white satin gown with jewels and beautifully done hair—still another personality, or rather, another facet of her personality. I didn't see her in a bathing suit or in a rest hour ravishing robe, but here again were opportunities for other characterizations.

Remember some years ago when a woman would be spoken of as always wearing tailored, or always wearing this and that? No wonder today's woman is more interesting looking.

Her makeup allows her a variety of changes, too. If she feels like going "native" she can deck herself out in Indian ochre or sun tan powder, and go on a warpath if she chooses.

It isn't the clothes and makeup, particularly, I started out to talk about. It's the quality of "interestingness" being asked of women today. One who does not volunteer some of this element is dismissed as "blah," "negative," or perhaps just plain dumb.

Demand seems to grow apace for women who can do things, who are doing things and at the same time are keenly aware of the value of their personal appearance.

When you talk about women who do things, I note the home woman usually rises on indignant legs to inquire how, with her limitations, she can do much. The truth of the matter is if any woman has the opportunity and background to be a number of things, it is the woman in the home. Besides, if she has a husband bent on getting ahead in the world, she has to be able to do things and "talk" things beyond the usual run. She must look the interesting, efficient, attractive best girl, and she must have "variety."

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

MURDER IN THE COTTON MILL.

The murder of 18 year old Jessie Jackson, a mill hand, had attracted national attention and Prof. Fordney's assistance had been sought by the authorities. She had been stabbed through the heart.

"All the other people had left," he explained. "'Bout half an hour afterwards as I passed Mr. Frank's office I heard a scream and I peeked in the doorway and saw him stab Miss Jackson."

"Why didn't you call the police?" Fordney asked.

"I'm powerful afraid of that man and I knew . . ."

"Yes, yes, get on with your story."

Well, suh, 'bout two hours later I was makin' my round and I looked through the doorway again and saw Mr. Frank sittin' in a chair lookin' crazy like at the body. He saw me and ordered me to help him carry her to the elevator. I did it 'cause I was scared. He held the girl while I ran the elevator three stories down to the basement. Then he made me help him carry her to the woods where you all found her body. Mr. Frank said he was goin' home and told me to get back to the mill and keep my mouth shut."

"Need I tell you, professor," he said, "that Washington is lying?"

"No, you don't. I know he is," was Fordney's reply. "He might have framed you had he been smarter."

HOW DID FORDNEY KNOW THE NEGRO WAS LYING?

Consider Two Plans to Film "Good Earth"

M-G-M May Make Movie Version in China.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—It is announced that two plans are under consideration for filming Pearl Buck's novel, "The Good Earth," one being to film the picture in China; another to recruit an all-Chinese cast from this country and China. The picture reunites Francis Marion and George W. Hill as an author-director combination, but not as a marital combination, Hill having won a divorce from the scenarist in Reno a year ago. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will film it.

Ralph Lewis, who was a pioneer featured player in films and the first Northwestern university man so far as I know to reach movie renown, is now selling burglar alarms. His wife, Vera Lewis, still plays a film rôle now and then, although she has been interested in a little shop.

Funny how some careers bloom late, some droop and bloom again, and others slowly wither in the movies. There's Alice Brady, a star many years ago, but now a bigger star than she was then, and all in the space of a few recent months in which she has appeared in a sequence of successful pictures. Alice is playing one of the two featured spots in M-G-M's "Vinegar Tree" with Lionel Barrymore. In the same picture a subordinate rôle is dished to Conway Tearle, who was far more famous in their joint heyday than Alice Brady. Harry Beaumont directs.

Majel Coleman, also remembered from silent film days, has a bit of business in Ed Wynn's "The Fire Chief," at M-G-M.

Pleased with its use of Kay Francis as a lady gambler in "The House on Fifty-Sixth Street," Warner's is making a female Arnold Rothstein of Barbara Stanwyck in "Gambling Lady." She'll be a big time syndicate gambler, bossing a group of hardboiled male sharps.

Paramount has signed Barbara Barondess for "Eight Girls in a Boat." The seven girls who were brought here after being selected in localized beauty hunts around the country themselves picked Louise Bramlette of Palm Springs, Cal., for the eighth girl in the boat, but the studio changed Louise's name for screen purposes to Louise Lynn. Her dad is part owner of the desert inn at Palm Springs. The company for this picture, taking 40 girls, and almost as many chaperones, left today for the boat scenes on Lake Arrowhead, Cal. Kay Johnson was one of the 40 girls. She hasn't been seen much in pictures lately.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—James Roosevelt, son of the President, who spent the week-end with his father on the Sequoia down the Potomac, left for Boston late last night.

The special assistant to the secretary of the treasury, Walter J. Cummings of Chicago, has been joined here at the Carlton by Mrs. Cummings and their three sons, Walter Jr., Arthur, and Edward, who recently returned from a summer trip in Europe.

Good morning!

Framed!

The young district attorney, so foully railroaded into disgrace, starts serving his unjust sentence. It is terminated in surprisingly short time by the confession of a dying convict—one of those concerned in sending Craig up.

The lawyer returns to the place from whence he came, is promised reinstatement in office, and for a crowded month devotes all energies to getting even with the smug Judases who had done him wrong—one of whom has married the girl to whom he was engaged.

His melodramatic actives seem so without the law that you cannot understand the complaisance of the district attorney, who has given Craig his word of honor to issue no warrants against him for the period of thirty days. The finale clears things up in a messy way.

Our Children May Need New Type of Culture

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Some lively and independent thinking is being done these days on the subject of education. It surely is going to lead somewhere in planning a wiser schooling for our children.

Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, acting president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, told the institute of public affairs at the University of Virginia: "We have plunged the present generation into such chaotic conditions as have never been known before, and our clear duty lies in giving them a better education than any generation has ever needed before. But this does not mean education can be acquired only through a four year college course. Nor does it mean the whole curriculum of the lower schools should be based on the assumption that all children need or want a college education.

"Consider what happens to the child of low intelligence, or of poor cultural background when confronted with spending four years studying Latin, Greek, and classical literature."

"While we have been preparing all our children for a college education, what has been happening to this country of ours?

"Our children need more than anything else a knowledge of social implications in order to deal wisely with our world neighbors; of the profitable use of leisure time so hours of idleness may be well and wisely spent; of civic and political science, and the other social studies."

er, David, are with their father, Samuel Davis Rowe, and Mrs. Rowe in Barrington.

Miss Katrina McCormick, daughter of Mrs. Albert G. Simms, is the house guest of the Ralph Pooles in Lake Forest. She arrived in Chicago at the week-end just about the same time Mr. and Mrs. Simms came from Washington.

After a couple of nights in town at the Drake hotel the Simmses went out to Mrs. Simms' Rock River farm near Rockford and from there they are continuing their journey tomorrow to Albuquerque, N. M.

Mrs. Simms' son, J. Medill McCormick, was in Chicago between trains Saturday just long enough to say "hello" to a few of his many friends here. He is returning this week to his studies at school in Colorado Springs.

Albert Erskine Family Home

Shortly after the middle of last May Mrs. Albert de W. Erskine left in an airplane to spend a few days in California with her relatives, the William G. McAdoos. She had such a good time and her host and hostess were so insistent that she prolong her vacation that it wasn't until last Friday morning that she boarded a plane to bring her home.

She got here just in time to welcome home Mr. Erskine and their son, Albert Jr., better known as Bud, who returned Sunday from a vacation at Desbarats, where the Erskines have had a summer place for many years. John, the younger son, has been holding two jobs this summer, one at a downtown store during the day and the other on the Fair railroad at night, so he has been too busy to take a vacation.

The Erskines' daughter, Mrs. Paul Fenimore Cooper, and her husband and little son will be passing through Chicago fairly soon, for they are leaving their home in Cooperstown, N. Y., shortly to motor to Arizona for the winter.

The McAdoos and their elder daughter, Ellen, who passed through Chicago last week, are sailing tomorrow for France, where Ellen is to enter school. Faith, the younger daughter, is to be at the Holton Arms school in Washington, where her parents will spend the winter, this year.

Charles B. Goodspeed arrived at home yesterday from a trip abroad, but Mrs. Goodspeed will not be back for another couple of weeks. She and Miss Alice Roullier will travel home together, arriving here near the end of the month.

The James Waller Marshalls and their sons, Jimmy and Tommy, have returned to their home in Winnetka from a summer spent on a ranch in New Mexico.

Announce Name of Burns Baby.

Robert Otis Burns is the name of the 10 day old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns. Yesterday this word came from the west coast where the popular Mrs. Burns, who was Sarane Otis before her marriage, is making her home. Instead of Robert, or "Bob" as the young man would be sure to be nicknamed, he is to be called Otis.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn A. Williams Jr. of Evanston are announcing the arrival of a baby daughter Sunday. Before her marriage Mrs. Williams was Dora Du Pont.

From Fort Sheridan comes the information that Kay Sawyer Goodman, daughter of Mrs. James M. Hopkins, is one of the early entries in the eighth annual Fort Sheridan horse show to be held Sept. 22 and 23.

The last day of the Fort Sheridan show has been set as the closing date for entries in all classes for the Fort Sheridan horse show to be held in the 124th Field Artillery armory from Oct. 21 to 29.

Luncheon Today At Art Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dale of New York, Miss Lucy Driscoll, a member of the department of art at the University of Chicago, Increase Robinson, and Chauncey McCormick will be the guests of Mrs. Howard Linn at luncheon at 1:30 this noon in the Mather tearoom at the Art institute. Mr. and Mrs. Dale are in Chicago for a short visit to A Century of Progress and the World's Fair art exhibit at the Art institute where several of their paintings are on loan. Starting only a few years ago the Dales have made one of the most important collections of modern pictures in this country.

Mrs. Samuel T. Chase, whose enthusiasm for the work and support of the Children's Memorial hospital seems to increase rather than wane as the years roll by, called yesterday to tell us of a fall millinery sale Friday at the White Elephant Rummage shop. Besides millinery there will be some real bargains in velvet and silk dresses suitable for fall and winter wear, Mrs. Chase explained.

JUNIOR GIRL'S DRESS.

This is a simply cut model, but decidedly smart. The sailor collar is a chic detail, and the sleeves are cut to give shoulder height. Wool jersey, faille silk, and other woolens are suitable mediums, and the dress will be just the thing for school or college wear.

The pattern, No. 2889, comes in sizes 11, 13, 15, and 17 years.

New Costume Jewelry Sets Size Records

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The newest costume jewelry is guaranteed to bring out all the barbarism in your blood, to make a gypsy out of the most stolid or solid of cruising shoppers! The stuff is huge, noisy, and the best people will clank this fall as never before.

The out-size gold stuff will make your eyes pop out . . . big ball and chain necklaces, big ball earrings, and bracelets that resemble handcuffs. Brooches are wide enough to stretch across the chestiest gal . . . and the newest sports jewelry of toya wood and bamboo will either make or break you and your cash supply.

Huge buckles that look like front yard gates will hold the belt of your best wool sports frocks . . . huge matching buttons will keep the wide lapels snugly anchored high upon your shoulder seams, and the wooden clips that will hold the gaudy wool ascot scarfs are something to write dizzily about. Bamboo fashions some exceedingly different buckles and clips—they will be perfect on green, beige, or brown dresses, and quite a sensation as to size.

Getting back on the gold standard seems to be a matter of selecting quantities of gold costume jewelry . . . the simulated metal is tremendously effective with black . . . filigree balls strung together fashion some effective bracelets, necklaces, and earrings.

Unusual gold jewelry made in lace looking circles called cobwebs are decorative trifles for stunning afternoon dresses. Black suede handbags framed with dusky gold match the same golden bracelets that are worn over the inky black suede gauntlet gloves that in turn match the smartest and sleekest of black suede footwear.

WEDDING.

Announcement is made of the marriage on Saturday of Miss Jacqueline Buhl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Buhl of Highland Park, to William Joyce, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Joyce of Highland. The wedding took place at 5 o'clock in the afternoon in the gardens of the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. G. William Reynolds, at Lake Villa, in the presence of about fifty relatives. Miss Felicite Buhl attended her sister and Maurice Reynolds was Mr. Joyce's best man.

Spendthrifts in Home Turn Husbands Gray

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I have always advised my wife to be thrifty, try to put something away to enable us to educate our children properly—but life with her has become one long, weary struggle with debt. She is extravagant so far beyond our station in life that it seems incredible where she gets her notions. Her idea of life is one long rollicking joy ride. I come home at night too tired to step out—and oppressed with bills. She says I'm not going to make an old fashioned stay-at-home out of her. I have a good income for these times and we could get along and save a little if I could only get some cooperation from her. What can you do with a woman of the sort? Needless to say, I love her and wouldn't have our home broken up for anything in the world. JAY."

The spendthrift wife is a heartbreaking trial to a man with a deep sense of responsibility toward his home and children. It's too bad that spendthrift men and spendthrift women do not team up together always. Not that they'd contribute to any happy state of living—but at least a responsible mate would be denied the trial of combatting needless debt.

We do not know any other way such situations can be handled than by some sort of a budget handling of the money. The wife gets so much of the man's salary to run the house, buy clothes and so on. The man has his expenses to take care of, the surplus tucked away in a savings account of some sort. But, as husbands of extravagant women say: "Try and do it!" "Try and get the woman to do it."

Well, charge accounts can be cut off. Husbands can assert themselves. And women can be made to keep within a certain spending allotment. It's the male weakness in the beginning that is at fault. Often the husband is unwilling to tell the wife how much he is earning. Anyway, some cooperative appeal when the pair first starts out was neglected.

It's human nature to ride the easy going, indulgent giver. Also, it's human nature to act quite differently once the humble worm turns.

Unripe Tomato Inspires Various Tempting Dishes

Come Stewed, Casseroled, and in Pies.

BY MARY MEADE.

Have you grown chummy yet this fall with their round greenesses—the verdants, unripe tomatoes? If you have a west forty, or a back porch box garden, perhaps you're already supplied with the wherewithal for making tempting green tomato things. And if you're not, a very modest section of a dollar will fix you up. For not so very long hence, when frost comes, the green fellows still hanging on the vines will be gathered in.

STEWED GREEN TOMATOES.

In the first place we will try them stewed—and like them immediately. Simply scald eight large green tomatoes and remove the skins. Cut them up, boil without additional water till tender, add one-quarter cup sugar, a dash of pepper, and one and one-half teaspoons of salt. Have ready one-quarter cup of bread crumbs pan fried in half as much butter. Add this to the tomatoes with a very little scraped onion for flavor. Serve hot to six diners.

FRIED GREEN TOMATOES.

Or we may fry them. Wash the green tomatoes, leave on the skins, and slice them in one-half inch pieces. Dust them with salt and pepper and then dip in fine bread crumbs. Fry till tender in a little hot fat.

CASSEROLED TOMATOES WITH ONION.

2 cups cut-up green tomatoes
3 medium onions cut fine
1 cup fine bread crumbs
2 tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste

Combine all ingredients and turn into a well greased casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for forty-five minutes. Serves six.

GREEN TOMATO DESSERT PIE.

2 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons cornstarch
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup boiling water
1 egg, separated
Juice and rind of one lemon
¾ cup sieved green tomatoes

Blend the flour, cornstarch, sugar, and salt, and carefully stir in the hot water, beating constantly. Cook, with frequent stirrings, in the double boiler until thick. Remove from the burner and add the egg yolk, which has been beaten lightly. Add the juice, grated rind, and the sieved tomato. Continue cooking till again thick and smooth. Turn into a baked pie shell and top with a meringue made from two tablespoons of sugar plus two stiffly beaten whites. Brown this in the oven and chill before serving.

GREEN TOMATO MARMALADE.

6 pounds green tomatoes
6 cups sugar
6 lemons
1 1-3 teaspoons salt
1 cup water

Wash the tomatoes and cut them fine. Add the sugar. Slice the lemons in thin pieces. Boil them with the water and salt for seven minutes, then pour the liquid from them over the other ingredients. Bring the mixture to boiling gradually, then speed up the heat somewhat and cook with frequent attention on your part for half an hour or until the mixture is thick and jamlike. Turn into hot, sterile glasses and seal with melted paraffin.

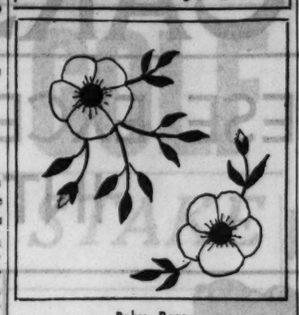
Delicate Roses in Small Blocks Make Baby Quilt



Baby Rose.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The delicate pink of the fragile wild rose and the daintiness and smallness of the block itself, make "Baby Rose" the ideal pattern for a pieced coverlet or spread for the baby's or small child's bed. Panels of light, light yellow, green or blue to join the squares will add even more charm.

For a quilt pattern of this design, send 5 cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn.

Lucien Lelong Designs Suit of Three Colors for Fall Wear

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—In the midst of a movement toward the monotone costume for next fall and and winter, Lucien Lelong comes out with suits in three colors to wear for running around Paris. Lelong makes these three color suits in soft shades that blend like the bouquet of old brandy. There are no clashing colors. The materials are also triple, as well as the colors.

The Lelong model in our sketch today illustrates the tricolor suit and Lelong's way of compiling it. There is a plain skirt of soft, rosy beige wool, with a nap like camel's hair, and this skirt is made in the popular two gore fashion with machine stitched-over seams down the center front and back.

The jacket is made of a hazelnut brown woolen with a hairy surface, which shows brown and beige mixed. It is a hip length jacket worn open but fitted at the under-arm seams. Over the tops of the plain sleeves Lelong places shaped jutting bands.

The third member of this suit is the blouse. It is made of rosy red, ribbed taffeta with a ghostly plaid pattern in brown. The short sleeves are raglan cut and are fringed at the bottom. The straight body of the blouse has a triangular piece sewed up the front and in one piece with the crushed belt that ties in a knot at the back of the waistline. The collar is a narrow scarf with fringed ends, knotted at the neckline in front.

SCHOOLBOY TIES SOMERVILLE FOR GOLF LEAD

ROSS BATTLES CANZONERI TONIGHT; TITLE AT STAKE

CHAMPION GETS HIS FIRST TEST AT 15 ROUNDS

New York Promoter Expects 40,000.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 11.—Barney Ross, Chicagoan who won the lightweight boxing championship less than three months ago, will toss his crown into the ring tomorrow night at the Polo grounds against Tony Canzoneri, the veteran whom he defeated for the title.

This is an unlucky year for champions, but tonight Barney was confident that his first 15 round fight would result in victory. Three champions have defended their honors this season—Canzoneri, Jack Sharkey, and Young Corbett—and each was beaten. But Ross will still be the lightweight titleholder after tomorrow night's fight, if you credit Barney and his handlers.

Tony Bets on Tony.

Canzoneri, however, is so confident he will win that he has wagered $3,000 on himself. He says he took Ross too lightly in their first meeting and that the longer route—15 rounds instead of 10—will be to his advantage. Tony went through a final workout today and weighed 133 pounds, just about the figure at which he will enter the ring.

Tim Mara, the promoter, has set an estimate of $150,000 for the gate, which would mean an attendance of 40,000 and set an outdoor record here for the summer. Actually, the counting room boys have approximately $70,000 in hand, which figures to make a gross of $100,000 tomorrow night provided that today's threatening weather is wiped away.

Ross is in the highest of spirits. He and his camp followers are highly optimistic that the tiltle will remain in Ross' hands. Barney's freedom from worry was expressed in his four round workout at Stillman's gymnasium. He spent two rounds shadow boxing and two more on the light bag.

Another reason for Barney's complete freedom from worry was the arrival this morning of his mother, Mrs. Sarah Rosofsky. Barney's mother has seen all his important fights since the day he was crowned intercity Golden Gloves featherweight champion.

Barney Under Limit.

Barney weighed less than 135 pounds after his workout at the gymnasium. It is likely he'll scale a shade over 134 tomorrow afternoon. At least this is the figure for which his trainers are shooting.

Ross is quartered in an uptown hotel, the location of which has been kept secret. He is accompanied by Winch and Issy Kline. They reported that Ross slept well after the two hour motor trip to Manhattan. He attended a picture show tonight and planned to retire at 11 o'clock.

"I have never been in better condition," Ross said yesterday when asked for his opinion of the outcome of the title fight. "I believe I can whip Tony decisively. My success against him at Chicago has given me confidence. I know Canzoneri can hit, for I caught one hard punch when we met the other time, but if I can block his right hand or avoid it, I am certain I will win on points.

"My trainers tell me I have an excellent chance to win by a knockout. I know I can hit hard enough, but I may not land on the spot. I don't need to say I'll be trying. You can tell my friends in Chicago that I'm ready for the fight, and when it's over I'll still be the champion."

Ross-Canzoneri Bout Billed as a Fight for Fight Fans

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

New York, Sept. 11.—The telephones jangled all day in the office of Tim Mara's prizefight club, the Aram A. C. The name of the A. C. is pure inspiration. It is Mr. Mara's name in reverse. The author of the name probably wouldn't come up with another such happy invention in a lifetime.

The sordidly commercial aspects of the fight tomorrow evening between Barney Ross, the lightweight champion, and Tony Canzoneri at the Polo grounds were being handled in this office. In this place the atmosphere was quite different from the simple innocence of the rural camps where the boxers trained. There were no pitchers of milk on any tables fresh from the cow. There was no cow. This was on Broadway in the building known as the Cave of the Winds, where prizefight managers hold desk room and sit all day and exhale large conversations.

Setting Lacks Something.

There was no ax with which to pose a fighter in "a characteristic training stunt," chopping down a tree. There was no tree. There was no wheelbarrow, either, with which to pose a gladiator trundling his mother or a couple of sparring partners and "laughing gaily in a moment of relaxation from the grind."

This was the place where they sold the tickets and did the business.

Even in a church there are books to be kept and receipts to be handled. And the Aram A. C. is not endowed.

The man at the ticket window was assuring a determined caller who refused to state his business that Mr. Mara wasn't hiding anywhere on the premises.

"He positively isn't in—positively," he said. "I don't know where he is. Maybe downtown. Maybe uptown. He is terribly busy. Please, my friend, stand aside and let these gentlemen spend a little money."

A Fat Man and Two Phones.

Mr. Weil, the fat matchmaker, was answering two phones at once.

"Hello," Mr. Weil would yell into one. "Hello. Yes, we got plenty left. Not too plenty, but you can get good ones yet. I advise you to hurry, my friend."

"Hello," into the other phone. "Yeh, listen, Sam. Listen. You do like I told you. You go on over there and say I said he should give you two. Say I said so personally."

"Hello. Sholem, Irving. Yes. Positively good ones. Yes, personally. I picked them out personally. No, not a sell-out. We should sell out these days! I am crying when you mention sell-out these days. But we will go to the Polo grounds with $70,000 sold. If good weather, maybe $150,000."

"A Fight Fan's Fight."

"Hello——"

"I tell you," Mr. Weil said, ignoring the phones for a moment, "this is positively a sensation. A fistic sensation of the age. Ross and Canzoneri The lightweight championship titular honors at stake, and fifteen rounds. It is a fight fan's fight. That is why all day long I am answering two telephones for a deluge of orders. I am deluged with phone calls. There they go again. Let them ring. I am human.

"This fisitic sensation," Mr. Weil continued, "is the most sensational match I ever handled. Two fighters who don't know anything but fight. I saw them in Chicago, ten rounds like a couple of Harry Grebs. Punch, punch, punch. Never a clinch. Two finely trained, young, fearless firstic products fighting, fighting for the honor of sunny Italy and the pride of the Jewish followers of Barney Ross.

Not for Society Only.

"Some fights are society fights," Mr. Weil said, "like where all the exclusive people go to a cocktail affair and dinner and then come in late. Some fights are like, say, you build them up with a lot of publicity and everybody thinks they got to go or they miss something. And see a lot of clinching, like Sharkey and Stribling. But this is a fight fan's fight.

"Tony Canzoneri is a fan's kind of a fighter. He always draws the true dyed in the whatsit, you know what I mean, regular fans. Never a phoney in his record, always punching, always smiling. An artist, too, but a fighter and game.

"The fans don't know Ross so well around here. But by reputation they know he's a fan's fighter. That's what makes this so sensational. Just a kid and he licked a champion like Canzoneri.

"Hello!" The phones were insisting.

It's On the Level.

"Don't think I am having the girl ring these phones just to make a showoff and then talking a lot of blanks to deceive you that we are deluged this way," Mr. Weil said. "You can listen in if you want to.

"Hello, lady.

"Yes, lady, you send right down and I will fix you up. And you are lucky you didn't wait till tomorrow."

The fighters had closed their training. Ross had come into the city and Canzoneri was on his way. They would make the weight, 135 pounds in the afternoon.

A patrolman in uniform attended, wearily, as stickup insurance as the funds came in through the slit in the door, not in a deluge, exactly, but in something more than a trickle.

"Good," Mr. Wergeles exclaimed, throwing his hands aloft. "It's a cleancut, absolute sensation."

ATHLETICS BEAT SOX, 5-3, 8-0 AND CLIMB TO THIRD

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 11. — The ever kindly White Sox this afternoon boosted the Philadelphia Athletics to third place in the American league and placed the enemy in possession of a six game winning streak when they took a beating in a double header, 5 to 3 in the first encounter and 8 to 0 in the second. The Sox now have lost seven games in eight played on the current road trip, the lone victory being Sam Jones' 1 to 0 masterpiece in Washington.

The first game was just one of those familiar Grove victories, but the second stirred the spectators to great excitement, for it was Johnny Marcum's second shutout victory in four days since he came up from Louisville. Last Friday he whipped Cleveland, 6 to 0, on five hits, and in today's goose egg enterprise he allowed the Sox five hits.

20th Defeat for Lyons.

The first game gave Grove his 21st victory of the year and Lyons his 20th defeat. In only one season has Ted lost 20 games, that being in 1929, during which he won 14 games, five more than he has taken this season.

Lyons was spotted a three run lead in the first inning and allowed the Athletics only seven hits, but some dizzy work by Luke Appling in both ends of the third inning upset Ted, and before he could regain his composure the Atheletics rushed across three runs to tie. Then they finished up with a pair of runs in the fourth.

In the second game Heving did right well until the fifth inning when a Philadelphia rally, climaxed by a homer from the bat of Eric McNair, gave the home lads a 5 to 0 edge and a strangle hold on the ball game.

Simmons Still in Slump.

Al Simmons had an unpleasant afternoon, being vociferously hooted by most of the 10,000 customers every time he came to bat. Although he fanned three times and six times failed to get the ball out of the infield, Al got a little solace out of the fact that he made a single in the eighth inning of the first game and walked in the ninth inning of the second game.

FIRST GAME

ONWENTSIA TENNIS.

ONWENTSIA presents on its courts this afternoon and tomorrow the world's greatest singles match player, the world's greatest doubles player, two of the most promising youngsters of the net game, and the Australian Davis cup team as a whole, players who will be factors to be encountered somewhere along the line in any future attempt to lift the international trophy now held by Great Britain.

While these two days of tennis are without title significance and strictly an exhibition, they will give local net followers an idea of the caliber of international play. They may not explain the utter collapse of our Davis cup entrants, at one time favorites to lift the trophy for the first time since 1927, but they will show the character of opposition they encountered.

So far as we remember this is Onwentsia's first presentation of internationalists since 1914, when the great Australian team of Anthony Wilding, who died in the world war, and Norman Brookes appeared here. Wilding was a stylist to whom only Billy Larned was comparable. Brookes, better in doubles, was steady and reliable, similar in tactics but differing in technique to La Coste at his best. The Wake saw those matches just as we intend to see those today and tomorrow.

Some may question placing Crawford as first singles player after his five set defeat Saturday for the American title by Fred Perry of England, yet Crawford this year has won the Australian, Wimbledon and French championships. Despite his brilliant Davis cup matches, which really carried the day for Great Britain, the American championship was Perry's first major tournament honor.

In this country, at least, there can be no objection to classing our Chicago George Lott as the world's best doubles player. Frankie Parker of Milwaukee and Vivian McGrath of Australia are the 17 year old youngsters for whom first flight is predicted in future years.

Crawford, McGrath, Adrian Quist, and Don Turnbull compose the Australian squad. The United States will be represented by Wilmer Allison, Frank Shields, Lester Stoefen, Keith Gledhill, Lott, and Parker. Ellsworth Vines, twice American singles champion, was withdrawn after his disappointing title defense.

ILLINOIS SEASON ON WILD DUCKS TO OPEN OCT. 16

BY BOB BECKER.

The waterfowl hunting season in Illinois will open Oct. 16 and continue for two months, according to the regulations made public yesterday by the Department of Agriculture. The old bag limit of 15 ducks per day has been cut to 12, so that this season a duck hunter may shoot not to exceed 12 ducks per day and have not more than 24 in his possession.

A further restriction on the bag limit is found in the new 1933 regulation, which states that a hunter may not include more than 8 canvasbacks, redheads, scaups, teals, shovelers and gadwalls in the 12 bag limit, or have in his possession more than 16 of these birds, which are in a special class this season due to the fact that they are not as plentiful as mallards and pintails.

Wisconsin Starts Earlier.

The amended regulations governing waterfowl hunting this season gives Missouri, Kansas, Illinois and several eastern and western states the Oct. 16 to Dec. 15 open season. Wisconsin and North Dakota start their waterfowl season on Sept. 21 and maintain an open season until Nov. 20.

Indiana hunters are given a later season than Illinois, according to the new regulations. Both Indiana and Kentucky are scheduled to start the 1933 waterfowl season on Nov. 1. Dec. 31 will be the last day of the seaeson.

Although complete details of the government's amended regulations governing waterfowl hunting are not available, it is evident that a further tightening in the regulations affects the woodcock hunters in the United States. A new provision limits the number of woodcock that one person may have in his possession to 12. In Wisconsin the season has been changed to Sept. 23-Oct. 22.

No Action On Duck Baiting.

The government has taken no action on the question of duck baiting in the regulations so far issued by the department of agriculture. Unless the department makes further amendments to the code, the practice of feeding waterfowl and hunting at or near the feeding grounds may be continued.

Goldstein Knocks Out Perlick in First Round

JACK MUNGER'S 70 EQUALS PLAY OF 1932 VICTOR

Conclude Qualifying Round Today.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 11.—Ross Somerville, the somber faced Canadian who holds the amateur golf crown of these United States, was embarrassed into making a champion's finish today in the first half of the qualifying round of the 37th annual tournament at the Kenwood Country club before he shot a 70 to tie for the lead at the end of the 18 holes.

It was Jack Munger Jr., a bespectacled prep school student of 18 from Dallas, Tex., who caused Mr. Somerville to assert himself before the gallery awaiting him on the shores of the 18th green. A half hour before the champion was forced to put on his show, Munger had come up to the home green needing a four for a 70.

He was attended by a handsome gallery himself, for he had brought clubhouse laggards scurrying after him with a 34 on the first nine. He knocked down his putt for the 70 and then walked off to shake hands with his father, wealthy Texas oilman who had been fidgeting in the stands off the green and who had been almost forcibly restrained from following the boy on his round.

Sinks Long Putt.

Came Somerville then with three shots more worthy of a golf reporter than a champion. He sent his tee shot into the rough and his second into a trap. His explosion shot was scuffed, reaching the green but still thirty feet shy of the pin. Sandy then sent the gallery into hysterics by pushing the ball in from there for his tie.

Somerville was one of the few in the field of 152 who left the first tee yesterday who did not come to grief somewhere along this youngest, and most obdurate of national championship sites. Seven of that 152 withdrew before completing the eighteen holes. One hundred and one in the field broke 80, while forty-five shot 75 or better, and twenty-eight were 74 or under, leaving the situation one of the most scrambled in the history of the tournament. Officials tonight were guessing that it will take 150 to gain the match play rounds.

End Qualifying Today.

The show will go on tomorrow with the final eighteen holes of the qualifying round, the low thirty-two scorers at the conclusion of the thirty-six holes of medal play entering the match play brackets. Match play will open Wednesday with two eighteen hole rounds, while the quarter finals Thursday, the semi-finals Friday, and the championship battle on Saturday all will be over thirty-six holes.

The complex nature of struggle for those thirty-two places was such that only one of the leaders, aside from Somerville and Munger, is alone. He is George Dunlap Jr. of New York, twice holder of the national intercollegiate title while playing for Princeton, and a semi-finalist in this year's British amateur. Dunlap was the only player in the field to match par of 71 today, and it took a 15 foot putt on the last green after coming out of a trap to accomplish same.

Seven Score 72.

After Dunlap came seven 72 scorers, including champions and dark horses. Heading these was Johnny Goodman, the grinning blond from Omaha, who won the National open at North Shore in June and who lost to Somerville in 1932 amateur final. Johnny put on something of a champion's finish himself, hitting two great shots to the last green and sinking a 10 foot putt for a birdie.

With Goodman in the 72 department were Johnny Fischer, the University

GIFT OF ROSES WINS; HER OWNER SHEDDING TEARS

Forgets to Name Fleet Sprinter for Handicap.

BY FRENCH LANE.

J. P. Ebelhardt of Kentucky would like to throw himself across his own knees and give himself a sound spanking.

Mr. Ebelhardt owns the fleet sprinter Gift of Roses. He was on a honeymoon trip about three weeks ago when the entries for the stake races at Lincoln Fields closed.

For some reason or another he neglected to nominate Gift of Roses for the $2,500 Crete handicap which is to be run at Lincoln Fields on next Saturday afternoon.

That's the reason he is annoyed at himself.

Comes from Behind to Win.

He sent Gift of Roses out with a band of Crete handicap eligibles in the Blue Eagle purse at Lincoln Fields yesterday afternoon, climbed up into his box in the grand stand section and watched his pride and joy gallop home the winner by three-quarters of a length.

She came from behind with a thundering rush in the stretch to beat Mrs. John Marsch's Princess Camelia in the final strides. Evergold, from the Nash Brothers Shandon farm stable, almost a prohibitive favorite in the betting, was third after going far wide on the turn into the stretch. He was just a head back of Princess Camelia. Other Crete handicap eligibles among the also rans were Cathop, Levaal, and Mr. Joe.

Gift of Roses Earns $1,000.

Mr. Ebelhardt isn't a bad sort of horseman despite this one lapse in memory. He trains horses from the Keeneland stud down in Kentucky and works wonders with them. The only horse he possesses is Gift of Roses and naturally he is sad because she can't strive for the richer purse Saturday. The value of the Blue Eagle purse which she won yesterday was $1,000.

Gift of Roses is a 4 year old daughter of Sand Mole-Lovelinsss and has been showing flashes of great speed all season. She has the fastest six furlongs race of the year in Chicago to her credit. That happened at Arlington when she reeled off the three quarters of a mile in 1:10 1-5. She beat some of the best sprinters from the east and west in that effort.

When the start of the Blue Eagle came Gift of Roses wasn't up with the leaders. Levaal and Princess Camelia were running in front of her. They ran in that order until they hit the head of the stretch where Princess Camelia took the lead. Levaal quit and dropped back out of contention. Evergold was threatening to take second place when he skidded to the extreme outside.

Drives Through Opening.

There was a wide opening between Princess Camelia and Evergold and Jockey W. D. Wright drove Gift of Roses through it. Evergold lost so much ground going to the outside he was eliminated. Then Gift of Roses started picking up a few inches at every stride. Forty strides from the line of finish Gift of Roses and Princess Camelia were on even terms.

A second later Gift of Roses' nose was showing in front. She still was going away when it ended.

Gift of Roses ran the three quarters in 1:11 3-5. In the mutuels she paid $11.42 to win, $6.32 to place, and $3.12 to show.

The record daily double price of the Lincoln Fields season was hung out yesterday after Miss Flip had won the second race and St. Nazaire, a field horse, galloped home in the third. The five people who wagered on the winning combination were paid off at $840.36 for each $2 ticket.

SHARKEY EASES UP IN DRILL FOR LEVINSKY BOUT

Lacks Aggressiveness in Sparring Encounters.

Followers of King Levinsky yesterday predicted victory for their favorite in his bout with Jack Sharkey at White Sox park Friday. They based their opinion upon Sharkey's workout yesterday when the former heavyweight champion appeared slow and spiritless in one round sparring matches with Buck Everett and Danny La Marre. He sped up a little while sparring with Chester Matan for two rounds to finish the drill, but even then the spark and fire apparent in previous exhibition bouts was missing.

Sharkey Does Road Work.

Being informed of Levinsky's return from Grand Beach, Mich., after he did his last training there Sunday may have caused Sharkey to train under wraps yesterday. It was said that there were at least three Levinsky spies at the drill. Then again the Boston fighter's layoff Sunday probably slowed him up.

Sharkey resumed exercises yesterday by doing several miles of road work in Lincoln park. His co-trainers, Al Lacey and Tony Palazzola, followed Jack in a cab. The former champion reported at Trafton's gymnasium in the afternoon and opened his drill with two rounds on the small bag.

Will Box 4 Rounds Today.

Sharkey's performance yesterday may compel Trainer Al Lacey to order boxing tomorrow. He previously had planned to have the fighter do his last sparring today. Jack will box four rounds today.

Giants Take 4th Straight from Reds, 3-1

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Carl Hubbell, star of the National league southpaws, stepped forth as a rescue pitcher again today and hurling scoreless fall for three innings saved a game for Herman Bell as the New York Giants won their fourth successive contest from the Reds, 3 to 1.

In winning their fifth straight game, the Giants increased their lead over the idle Cubs and Pirates to eight and eight and one half games, respectively. The Giants now need only 10 more victories to clinch the pennant. Score:

Somerville Starts Right.

Somerville, paired with Jess Sweetser gave the gallery which accompanied him, a champion's shot on the first green. After reaching it in two, he was still 40 feet from the pin, but the silent Canadian stepped up and stroked the ball home as though it had been a three foot effort. He got his par three on the 176 yard second, and then came through with another birdie on the 562 yard third, nearing the carpet in two and chipping up for a 12 foot putt, which he sank. Sandy encountered trouble on the fourth, even as three quarters of the rest of the field did, but it was not for lack of muscle. He sent his second over the green, and after getting back, needed two putts.

He took his pars on the fifth and sixth, and then came back with his third birdie within seven holes by sinking a 15 foot putt on the seventh green. He topped his second shot to the ninth, and after reaching it in two, took three putts. An 8 foot putt on the 11th gave him another birdie, and he followed par to the 14th, where a trap cost him a 5. He drove into the rough at the 244 yard 16th, but approached nicely for a five foot putt and a par 3.

Putter Works Again.

Somerville got his par on the 17th, and then went to work on the hole which enabled him to tie Munger, even though it appeared to the waiting gallery that he wouldn't take less than six on it. He drove into the rough, sent his second into a trap and was still 30 feet from the pin with his recovery, but his putt from there dropped in and he had his 70.

Munger attracted a gallery as soon as those around the clubhouse discovered that he had shot an eagle and a birdie on the first five holes. The eagle fell at the third, where two prodigious wood shots left his ball six feet from the pin, and he sank it for a 3. He hooked his drive at the fourth to go one over par, but an eight foot putt at the fifth brought him a deuce. He followed the card from there on to the turn, making it in 34, two under par.

A good recovery from a trap at the 10th gave Munger a par 4 and he was even with par until the 13th, where his second shot was shy of the green. His second shot to the 15th was four feet short of the pin for another birdie, and he took pars on the two remaining holes.

Dunlap Has Erratic Round.

Dunlap turned in one of the most unusual cards of the tournament, going over par on one hole and coming back with a birdie on the next. With George it was a question either of chipping dead and running down putts ranging from six to twelve feet or finding himself in the rough or traps. He scored six birdies in all and was over par on as many holes.

Going out, he got birdies on the second, third, fifth, and sixth, but encountered grief on the first, fourth, eighth, and ninth. He reached the turn in par 36. An eight foot putt gave him a birdie at the eleventh. He was over the green with his second shot to the thirteenth and was in a trap at the fourteenth. An eighteen foot putt gave him his sixth birdie at the seventeenth.

Johnny Sinks 30 Footer.

Goodman matched par to the third, where he needed his blaster to get out of a trap into which he had dispatched his drive. He came away from the hole with a par five, however, and was one under par after the sixth, where he sank a 30 foot putt for a birdie. He blew his second shot to the seventh and was short approaching the ninth for a 37, one over par, at the turn.

Johnny scored a birdie at the fourteenth with a 15 foot putt, and took a par on the fifteenth. He was over the sixteenth green with his drive and, after coming back, failed on a putt of less than five feet. He dubbed his second shot to the seventeenth and was over the green with his next shot, taking a six on the hole.

The Omaha boy showed why he is open champion by hitting two straight shots to the eighteenth which left him ten feet from the pin. He sank the putt for one of the few birdies of the day on that particular green.

This Golfer Gets to Tee in Nick of Time

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 11.—Freckled, redheaded Bill Duckwall of Sturgis, Mich., arrived at the first tee of the Kenwood Country club to compete in the national amateur golf tournament this morning just in time to hear officials of the U. S. G. A. calling his name. Bill had not been late in reaching the club from his hotel. No, he had come a trifle farther, nearly a thousand miles from Florida, from where he began driving yesterday morning. He had continued at the wheel throughout the night. Bill's partner, incidentally, was none other than young Jack Munger, who equaled Champion Ross Somerville's 70. This, however, was no inspiration to Duckwall, although he did well enough with a 41-38—79, considering the long ride from the south.

The galleries were fairly quiet during the pursuit of the early starters, confining their applause to polite handclapping and refined cheers, but when Johnny Fischer, the local pride, holed out an iron shot from 175 yards for an eagle two on the ninth, the clubhouse shook with the thunderous hand the crowd circling the green gave the tall Michigan star. Before the course was remodeled, Johnny held the record with a 66 last year during the Queen City open.

The largest gallery of the day didn't begin the long journey around the course until nigh onto 2 o'clock. A majority of the fans contented themselves with tarrying around the ninth and eighteenth to watch the finishes until then, and with reason. It was the combination of Johnny Goodman, open champion, and the husky Charley Seaver which finally caused 500 to join them when they teed off.

The first four Chicagoans home yesterday turned in scores that ranked with those of any of the other stars shooting. Jack Westland of Sunset Ridge and Ira Couch of Chicago Golf finished with 74's, Chick Evans of Edgewater with a 75, and John Ames of Glen View with a 77. The seventeenth prevented both Westland and Ames from turning in lower cards, Jack missing a putt of less than two feet, while John drove out of bounds and wound up with a 7.

Bobby Jones dropped into the press headquarters in the clubhouse in his now familiar rôle of journalist. The champion of them all nearly had his hand wrung off by admirers, not to mention scores who came in from the outdoors to gape at him. If you're interested in how Bobby still plays golf, consider that he had a 68 over the nearby Camargo course on Sunday.

POLICE NINES TO MEET SUNDAY IN TITLE GAME

Two police teams, one representing the north side and the other the south, will take the field at Comiskey park next Sunday afternoon to decide the baseball championship of the Chicago police department. The game will be the feature of this year's police field meet.

Michael Delaney of the traffic district will pitch for the north side team. Delaney joined the department recently and was a former member of the pitching staff of the Washington Senators. Ray Gutcher, former semi-pro star, will pitch for the south side team.

SANTIAGO SOCCER SQUAD TO REACH CITY TOMORROW

After being delayed by the revolution in Cuba and held up by the immigration authorities in Key West, the Audux Italiano soccer club of Santiago, Chile, will arrive tomorrow to meet Sparta, Chicago professional champions, at Sparta stadium, 21st street and Kostner avenue, Sunday.

In their tour of Peru, Mexico, and Cuba, the Audux club, which is composed mostly of players of Italian descent, has played 36 games, winning 31, tying 4, and losing one.

Jerry Kucera Awarded Decision Over Blanchard

Jerry Kucera, Chicago welterweight, was awarded a five round decision over Pete Blanchard, Kansas City, Mo., in the windup bout of the regular weekly professional boxing show at White City last night. Other results:

Eddie Chinski beat Scotty Sylvano [4].

Freddie Gravelle knocked out Speedy Ricco [1].

Bobby Millsapp knocked out Jack Taylor [1].

Eddie Smith and Tom Moon, drew [4].

Babe Didrikson to Play on Basketball Squad

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Ray Doan, sports promoter and operator of the House of David baseball team, announced here today he had signed a contract to manage Babe Didrikson, star girl athlete, as leader of a girls' basketball team. The promoter said he has guaranteed her a "large sum of money" and the team would begin a three months tour the latter part of November, meeting either women or men.

North Siders Win Women's Golf Matches

Final matches for the women's intra-district team championship were played yesterday at Flossmoor, the North Side sextet retaining the title with a total of 87½ points for three contests. The champions yesterday scored 28. The South Side made 20½ for a season count of 51½, while the West Side, with 5½, brought its total to 23.

Mrs. H. Austin Pardue of Indian Hill, No. 3 player on the north side team, led in medal scoring with 41—42—83. She was the only contestant to make six points, the highest possible individual score. Jane Weiler of Northmoor shot 39—46—85.

The teams lined up as follows:

SOUTH SIDE—June Beebe, Mrs. Melvin Jones, Mrs. Lee Mida, Mrs. A. R. Copeland, Mildred Hackl and Mrs. N. L. Anderson.

WEST SIDE—Marge Roesslein, Mrs. O. F. Burnett, Mrs. J. H. Indig, Mrs. O. C. Bell, Mrs. C. J. McDyer, and Marjory Russell.

Jim Foulis, of Ruth Lake, established a new record of 37—32—69 on the No. 1 course at Lincolnshire in the pro-amateur best ball matches yesterday. Foulis and George Halbicht took first prize with 36—32—68. Other winners were Joe Swider, and John Parnell, 35—34—69; Jim Noonan and Floyd Grimm, 35—34—69; Ed Newkirk and D. A. Busby, 36—35—71; Joe Paletti and Frank McNamara, 36—35—71; and Joe Noonan and Harry Zeigler, 36—36—72.

Foulis had four birdies and was even par on the other fourteen holes. The former record of 70 was held by Joe Noonan. Par is 38—35—73. Foulis' card:

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 11.—After moving steadily lower during virtually all of last week, the listed bond market rallied today although the trading pace continued dull. Domestic railroad, utility and industrial bond groups averaged higher. Foreign loans were irregularly lower, while United States government bonds were exceptionally strong.

Of the dozen active issues, nine climbed 3 32s to 12-32s point, three held unchanged, and two sold off 1-32 point. The treasury 3¼s, 3¼s and 3s all touched new peaks for the year.

Domestic Issues Higher.

The major gains in the domestic corporation issues ranged from fractions to more than two points. A few comparatively inactive issues extended their gains beyond this scope. According to groups, the utilities, industrials and rails averaged higher in the order named.

The principal setbacks in the foreign group occurred in certain of the Dutch East Indies issues, which were down fractionally to 4⅞ points. French municipal loans which lost 1 to 2¾, and in some sections of the Latin American list where the losses amounted to a point or more.

German Bonds Decline.

The various German issues moved irregularly lower, with the government 7s off 2½ points and the 5½s down ¾ of a point.

Bonds on the curb exchange pointed higher. Many of the domestic issues climbed fractionally to more than 3 points, while in the foreign group the maximum gain amounted to 2½ points. Trading was only moderately active.

Ohio Ports Coal Shipments Set New High for Season

Cleveland, O., Sept. 11.—Bituminous coal shipments to lower ports in Ohio reached a new high level for the season in the week ending Sept. 4, when lake fleets loaded 1,366,667 tons. The previous record for a week this season was 1,280,792 tons in the last week of July. The heavy shipments of the week of Sept. 4 brought the total movement of the season to 19,205,670 tons.

United Biscuit.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information on and rating of United Biscuit common.—L. A.

Answer: United Biscuit Company of America is the third largest baking organization in this country. It manufactures various types of biscuits in 15 bakeries. Distribution is effected intensively in its territory from Philadelphia to Salt Lake City.

Earnings reflect reduced volume and lower prices. Profit in the second quarter of 1933 exceeded that in the corresponding 1932 period, but was not enough to offset the first quarter's decline. Net for the first half of 1933 equaled 82 cents per common share, against 91 cents per common share for the first 8 months of 1932.

Gross revenues in 1932 were $7,080,000, against $8,754,000 in 1931 and $9,175,000 in 1930. Net income in 1932 was $908,000, or $1.79 per common share, against $1,779,000 for 1931.

Current position has been relatively well maintained. At the close of 1932 current liabilities were $520,000. Current assets totaled $2,991,000.

Funded debt consists of $3,200,000 debenture 6s, due 1942. Sinking fund calls for retirement of $160,000 of bonds annually. There are outstanding 14,336 shares of $100 par 7 per cent cumulative convertible preferred and 450,325 shares of no par common.

In order to bring dividends in line with current earnings the stock was reduced to a quarterly 40 cent basis from a previous 50 cent basis on June 1, 1933.

The preferred is rather high grade. The common is medium grade and somewhat speculative.

Providence Gas.

Investors' Guide: May I ask for your report on Providence Gas first 4 per cent bonds?—D. D. J.

Answer: Providence supplies gas to a population of 400,000 in Providence and other Rhode Island communities. The bulk of its business is sale of gas for domestic purposes, although some revenue is derived from industrial sales and from disposal of coke, a by-product.

Volume of business has held steady over a long period of years. Gross has varied from a low of $3,049,000 [in 1925] to a high of $3,492,000 [in 1930].

The bonds are well protected both as to earnings and security. Interest was earned 9.20 times in 1932, 10.06 times in 1931, 10.24 times in 1930, and 8.12 times in 1929.

The 4s, due 1963, are secured by a first mortgage on all properties of the company. Land, buildings, equipments, etc., were carried on the company's books at $17,654,000 at the close of 1932.

The bonds are sound.

STOCKS CLIMB; TRADERS THINK INFLATION NEAR

Repeal, Steel, Rail News Aids Upturn.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 11.—With inflation the main topic of discussion in Wall street today, the stock market took a new lease on life, the principal stocks gaining from 1 to 5 points.

The news over the week-end contained little to account for the upturn, which contrasted sharply with the market's recent heaviness. The only favorable morsel was contained in the secretary of agriculture's statement, which predicted currency inflation within three months.

With repeal elections coming up in several states within the next few days the alcohol stocks were prominent in the advance. National Distillers led the group, going over the 100 mark in rapid fashion, and the close found it almost at its top price for the day, with a net gain of 10 points. American Commercial Alcohol gained 7⅝ and Commercial Solvents was up 3¼ points. Other issues in the group showed gains ranging from 2 to 10 points.

Steel Issues Advance.

Increased operations in the Youngstown Steel district also aided the recovery movement. The backlog of the United States Steel corporation, showing a decline of 129,000 tons, did not disturb the market. It had been expected. Bethlehem, U. S. Steel common, which rose to 56 just before the close for a gain of 4 points for the day, and other steel shares showed gains ranging from 2 to 10 points.

The good traffic reports of the railroads for the last two weeks, with the unusual activity in coal mining under the NRA contributing to the rise in car loadings, accounted for the carriers showing gains of from 1 to 3 points. Union Pacific and New York Central were the leaders of the group, the former closing at 123½, a gain of 4½ points on the day's business, and the latter at 50¾, a rise of 3⅞.

Chrysler Soars in Big Trade.

Chrysler was the feature in the motor group, which was firm. This stock had the largest turnover in the list and reached its highest price since 1929. Over 134,000 of Chryler shares changed hands and when the closing gong sounded it stood at 49⅞, a rise of 5¾ points. General Motors also gave a good account of itself, gaining 1¾ points. Other auto shares, including Hudson, scored gains of fractions to more than a point.

The utilities were not as chipper as some of the other groups. Commonwealth and Southern on a large volume closed unchanged. However, American Telephone was firm and gained two points.

In the farm group Montgomery Ward was the leader, gaining 1⅞ points. Among the miscellaneous issues Standard Brands was strong, influenced by the rise in commodity prices, and Celanese advanced more than 3 points.

BANKING CREDIT FAILS TO EXPAND, REPORT SHOWS

Bank credit throughout the nation still shows no signs of substantial expansion, despite the exhortations from Washington. Total loans and investments of reporting member banks in 90 principal clearing house cities declined 45 millions in the week ended Sept. 6, according to figures released yesterday by the federal reserve board.

The further contraction of bank credit occurred in the investment division, reporting banks showing a decrease of 48 million dollars in their holdings of United States government bonds. Investments in securities other than government bonds decreased only 2 millions.

In the loans division commercial loans increased 23 millions, most of which had been previously accounted for in the 19 million dollar increase reported for the week by member banks in New York. Loans on securities dropped 18 millions.

Gross deposits of the reporting banks showed an indicated drop of 26 millions for the week.

Farm Loan Applications at St. Louis Run 200 a Day

St. Louis, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The Federal Land Bank of St. Louis is receiving applications for mortgage loans from farmers in Missouri, Illinois, and Arkansas at the rate of 202 a day, it was said today. Wood Netherland, general agent of the farm credit administration here, said about 35 were rejected daily and 167 held for appraisal.

Price of Bar Silver Rises Three-Eighths to 37 Cents

New York, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Bar silver advanced ⅜ of a cent, to 37 cents an ounce, today, presumably in response to the announcement by Senator Key Pittman of Nevada that he had recommended to President Roosevelt a plan of action which would boost the price of the metal to $1.19 an ounce. Silver futures rallied about ½ cent an ounce.

British Debt Reported Over 35 Billion Dollars

LONDON, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The British national debt March 31, 1933, totaled £7,767,811,171 [equivalent to $35,227,000,000 at current levels] at the end of the 1932-'33 financial year, according to a statement in the finance account today. The total of the funded debt was £3,362,697,133 [approximately $15,229,000,000].

U. S. Move to Back Branch Banking Seen

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Belief is growing in banking circles that the administration is laying plans to open the doors to branch banking by strong national banks even in states where statutes do not permit state banks to have branches. Enabling legislation is expected to be presented at the winter session of congress.

The banking bill that Senator Carter Glass nursed through several sessions of congress contained such a provision but it was knocked out just before his bill finally was passed by congress as the banking act of 1933. Under that act national banks are permitted to have branches only in states which permit state banks to have them.

At the convention of the American Bankers association last week the administration descended upon all banks with demands to make more generous loans and to raise additional capital by selling preferred stock to the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

* *

Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the RFC repeatedly warned big city bankers during his stay here that if they were "smart" they would enlarge their capital in this way. He was backed in this stand by Gov. Eugene Black of the federal reserve board and Controller of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor.

These spokesmen for the administration also urged expansion of bank loans to finance companies in the business recovery promised by the NRA.

Seeking to account for Mr. Jones' rather nebulous insistence upon the increase of the capital of big city banks, the bankers have been unable to understand why the administration should be so anxious to get more money into the banks when they have so much idle cash already. There could be plenty of expansion of bank loans, they point out, without increasing bank capital—at least for a long time.

Developments since the bankers' convention, however, seem to have turned the theorists on another tack. They are now looking to the guaranty of bank deposits plan for an explanation of the demand for increased bank capital.

* *

Under the banking act of 1933 a temporary blanket guarantee of all bank deposits up to $2,500 goes into effect. This is just a stop-gap, however, to tide the depositors over to July 1, 1934, when the permanent guaranty scheme becomes effective. Under the permanent plan a deposit insurance corporation is set up with capital subscribed by the banks, the federal reserve banks and the treasury. It will guarantee all deposits up to $10,000 a hundred per cent; deposits from $10,000 to $50,000, seventy-five per cent, and deposits in excess of $50,000, fifty per cent.

Delegates to the bankers' convention protested that the guaranty scheme was unsound. Some of them argued that there were many small banks that could not be taken into the deposit insurance corporation without jeopardizing the funds of other banks subscribing to the corporation.

If a proper job is done in barring from participation banks that should not be permitted to join, the objectors asserted, the banks left out in the cold would suffer, and if all banks are permitted to join, regardless of their condition, the fund would suffer and the sound banks would have to dig deeper into their cash to bolster up the fund.

* *

During the last few days the bankers who have been trying to guess what the administration has in mind have changed their reasoning.

Now they figure that the Jones plan to increase the capital funds of the big banks is part of a scheme to build up their capital against the day when congress will permit them to take over smaller banks that do not get into the permanent guaranty of deposits corporation.

Increased capital would give the larger banks funds to take over some of the small banks and operate them as branches, and then the only thing necessary would be authorization by congress to permit national banks to operate branches on a statewide basis in states which now prohibit branch banking.

NEW MANAGER ANNOUNCED FOR BUTLER BROTHERS

Announcement was made yesterday that Marvin B. Pool will relinquish his duties as general manager of the Chicago house of Butler Brothers on Oct. 2 and will devote himself exclusively to corporation matter pertaining to all houses. Cecil D. Southard, now manager of the St. Louis branch and formerly vice president and general manager of Berry Dry Goods company, Fort Smith, Ark., will succeed Mr. Pool.

Frank S. Cunningham, president of Butler Brothers, said that, while the phenomenal gains in July and August were receding somewhat, the volume in early September was still substantially beyond that of the same time in 1932.

Tax Exempt School in Debt Three Million

BY AL CHASE.

Garrett Biblical institute, which hasn't had to pay a dime in taxes since it was founded nearly a century ago, when granted a tax exempt charter by the state, is in debt to the tune of approximately $3,000,000. According to Attorney David B. Gann, Secord & Stead, chairman of the bondholders' protective committee, the situation is so involved that no reorganization plan thus far drawn up has been found capable of solving the problem.

H. A. WHEELER.

According to Harry A. Wheeler, chairman of the board of trustees, the institute's income, despite the lack of tax worries that it has enjoyed since 1850, and also in spite of the fact that all its buildings were erected during low cost periods, has suffered from the depression to a point where neither interest nor principal payments are now being made.

Mr. Wheeler stated that since December, 1931, only one interest payment has been made and all principal payments have defaulted. The entire income of the properties owned by the institute has been impounded by the bondholders' protective committee for benefit of the bondholders.

Large Sums Owed Banks.

In addition to a $2,500,000 bond issue underwritten by the First-Union Trust and Savings bank against some of the Garret properties, since reduced to $2,150,000, there are more than three-quarters of a million dollars of debt incurred by the institute. This is made up of large sums owed banks and individuals. All but the large creditors have taken judgments which brings the total indebtedness to $3,000,000.

"If we had the added burden of taxes to worry about we wouldn't be able to pay half of them, with our present rental situation," said Mr. Gann. "There's no money in sight. Our rentals have fallen off or been cut off through tenants moving out.

"We may use some of our income to remodel and modernize one or two of our properties so that they'll bring in a better return."

Founded by Mrs. Garrett.

The Garrett Biblical institute was founded by Mrs. Augustus Garrett, wife of one of Chicago's early mayors, in 1850, at which time the state granted it and Northwestern university perpetual charters allowing them tax exemption. Mrs. Garrett gave as an endowment the southeast corner of Lake and Wacker, once the site of the famous Wigwam, where Lincoln was nominated, and now occupied by the Franklin MacVeagh & Co. nine story building, and the triangular shaped property opposite, at the northeast corner of Lake and Wacker.

In 1925 the eight story Occidental building at the northeast corner of Washington and Wacker was purchased for $1,200,000 cash by the trustees of the institute. When bought the net rental was over $100,000 a year. Now, according to Mr. Wheeler, it's ben cut to a quarter of that.

Owns Other Property.

The institute also owns the southeast corner of Wacker and Wells, at one time the contemplated site for the skyscraping La Salle club, which got little further than the conversational stage. This property and the northeast corner of Wacker and Lake are used for parking. It also owns the big building at 1329 South Michigan avenue, extending through to Indiana avenue, once used as a furniture mart and now under lease to the United States government and used by the supply division of the Chicago postoffice.

As stated, all of the income from the endowed properties has been impounded for the bondholders so the institute has no funds from that source. To keep it going, funds are being privately subscribed by alumni and various wealthy individuals throughout the Mississippi valley.

DOLLAR IS STRONGER IN EXCHANGE MARKET AFTER EARLY DECLINE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 11.—The dollar turned firmer in the exchange markets around noon today, after having wavered and declined in the earlier trading. By afternoon it was up to 71.36 in terms of French gold francs, and at the close it was worth 71.7⅛ cents, an advance of well over a half cent from the close on Saturday, when it was worth 71.10 cents.

Despite numerous predictions over the week-end that the United States would have to resort to some kind of inflation of the currency in order to insure success of the NRA program, the foreign exchange markets showed little or no reflection of that belief. Th indicated that traders were divided in their views concerning the near future of the franc and the dollar.

On one hand they are swayed by fears that France may have to abandon the gold standard and on the other by apprehensions of more inflation in the United States.

Probably these two reasons accounted for the decline in the French franc during a day in which the British pound was advancing against the dollar. The franc closed at 5.46 cents, compared with 5.51 cents on Saturday. The pound advanced from $4.52 at Saturday's close to $4.54¾ cents at today's close, an increase of 2¾ cents for the day, compared with a drop of .05 cents for the franc.

Canadian dollars at the close were worth 95.25 cents in New York funds. United States dollars were worth $1.05 in Canadian funds.

In Washington today the treasury announced the gold price at $29.10, a decline of 2 cents, as compared with Saturday's price. Bar gold at London was quoted at 128 shillings 9½ pence per ounce, which in the American equivalent would be $29.21.

AM. METAL SAYS SECURITIES ACT BARS REFUNDING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 11.—Restrictions imposed on bankers by the federal securities act of 1933 have made them unwilling to undertake underwriting the financing necessary to refund the 5½ per cent notes of the American Metal company which will mature April 1, 1934, the management states in a letter to preferred stockholders urging them to send in their proxies for the special meeting called for Sept. 20 to make provision for that maturity, which totals $15,935,000.

"The company wishes to have the power to pledge assets as collateral for loans in case such a course becomes necessary or advisable," the letter explains. "The company does not intend to borrow in any larger amount or for any longer periods than may be necessary. There is reason to hope that when the time comes a loan of considerably less than $16,000,000 will enable the company to take up the note issue."

In the letter the management said that the plan to pledge certain asests as collateral for a new issue cannot be accomplished without the consent of preferred stockholders.

ILLINOIS STARTS FARMERS' CROP CREDIT BANKS

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 21.—(AP)—The country's first Crop Credit association, a farmers' bank of the kind made possible by the agricultural adjustment act, was set up here tonight. The bank will make short term loans to tide farmers over production periods.

Farmers from Champaign and nearby counties, who have completed temporary organization of the credit body, will have the aid of C. R. Arnold, assistant to Henry Morgenthau Jr., director of the farm relief credit activities, in starting operations. C. C. Burns, farm adviser, said the Champaign association may become the model for similar organizations in the 12 banking districts.

"Local farmers have been hard pressed to obtain adequate financing," he said, "particularly loans for longer than 70 to 90 days. The farmers' organization is not a competitor of the regular banks, but is a new unit for the existing machinery."

Flow of U. S. Money Irks British Banks

TORONTO, Sept. 11.—(AP)—A large volume of "unwanted" United States money, deposited in banks of the United Kingdom, constitutes a problem that defies solution, two prominent United Kingdom delegates to the British commonwealth relations conference said today.

"The bank rate in England is very low now," Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, chairman of the United Kingdom group, told an interviewer, "and one of our chief problems is the flood of unwanted money that is pouring into the banks.

"These funds, deposited in the main by U. S. investors, are subject to withdrawal at 24 hours' notice and are of little or no value. Their deposit appears to be actuated by a desire on the part of the depositors to find the safest place possible to house their assets."

Sir John Power, member of parliament and treasurer of the Royal Institute of Internal Affairs, remarked that American money on demand deposit in Great Britain was a problem both "distressing and difficult of solution."

Say British Fear Withdrawal.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—Objections voiced by Viscount Cecil of Chelwood at Toronto against "a flood of unwanted money" pouring into the banks of the United Kingdom were regarded by officials today as having reference to the flight of capital from the United States since gold payments were suspended and to be expressive of fears lest a sudden withdrawal of these American funds might precipitate a crash.

It was pointed out that, should some condition develop like that in the United States following the stock market crash and later where enormous foreign balances were drawn down and removed from the country, the rapid withdrawal of American balances from foreign banks might have a dangerous reaction on the financial affairs of the countries concerned.

Much Capital Sent Abroad.

It was estimated that from between 500 millions and a billion dollars in capital has left the country since the United States suspended gold payments. Officials pointed out that this flight of capital had nothing to do with an effort to defeat the purpose of the gold hoarding order, since the export of gold, except that mined since Aug. 28, is prohibited.

No effort has been made by the government to stop the capital movement. In fact, it is said the movement has been encouraged to a certain extent, this country having a basically strong currency on which must be exerted strong pressure to maintain it at low levels. Exchange prices on the dollar would rise rapidly, it is pointed out, if the outward movement of capital were halted.

CARTER LEAVES SHELL EASTERN, DUE TO POLICY

New York, Sept. 11.—(AP)—A. F. Carter, president of Shell Eastern Products, Inc., has resigned because, he said today, certain policies affecting the management made it impossible for him to give his best efforts to his work.

Carter, who organized the petroleum concern in 1929, when the Shell Union acquired certain New England interests, emphasized there had been no friction with controlling interests but that differences which had led to his resignation concerned policies with which he was not in sympathy.

TAXES MENACE GOTHAM TRADE, WHITNEY SAYS

Asserts Community Faces Big Loss.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 11.—The stock transfer and brokers' taxes proposed in the Tammany administration program to raise 40 million dollars in new revenue will destroy the security business in New York, create additional unemployment, and cause overwhelming loss to the community, Richard Whitney, president of the stock exchange, warned the board of estimate today. He spoke at a public hearing on the emergency taxation plan.

RICHARD WHITNEY

Despite the warning uttered by Mr. Whitney and others, the adoption of the Untermyer emergency tax program by the municipal assembly tomorrow night seemed assured tonight. At the close of the arguments against the plan, Mayor John P. O'Brien declared he had no reason to believe that it would not be passed.

His objections, read from a prepared statement as he stood at the foot of the long table around which Mayor John P. O'Brien, Samuel Untermyer, the city's financial adviser, and the members of the board were gathered, were echoed by half a dozen other speakers.

Pays Huge Taxes.

The exchange, Mr. Whitney argued, has "paid huge taxes both to the city and state of New York.

"By its leadership among the world's security markets it has tre-

Germany Will Pay Arrears on Its Bonds

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 11.—The tangled situation surrounding payment of interest on more than 1 billion dollars in state, municipal, and private bonds of Germany was near a final solution today. The reich has been in default in interest since July 1.

John Foster Dulles, representative of Wall street banking houses, received a cable from Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, governor of the Reichsbank, that the conversion office had assumed full responsibility for registering certificates of indebtedness with the federal trade commission here.

These certificates of indebtedness will be issued for 50 per cent of the interest due on bonds outstanding here. The other 50 per cent will be paid in cash.

Payments to Be Forwarded.

The message from Dr. Schacht, it was learned today, said cash and certificates would be forwarded to fiscal agents in the United States and other creditor countries in about a week.

Assuming that the certificates, which are issued to Germany's foreign bondholders to cover 50 per cent of interest [the other 50 per cent being paid in cash], comply with the registration requirements of the federal trade commission under the securities act of 1933, American bondholders should receive payments of cash and certificates in about two months, Mr. Dulles indicated today.

Thus, Germany has accepted the onus for any risk in failure of the certificates to comply with the securities act of 1933. This was a risk which local houses of issue did not care to assume. Until today Dr. Schacht refused to accept the matter of registration as his responsibility, holding that it is the concern of the United States government if it placed obstacles in the way of payments to American bondholders.

German Bond Situation Clarified.

With this disputed point settled, the German bond situation is greatly clarified. Payments at the rate of 50 per cent in cash and 50 per cent in certificates of indebtedness of the conversion office of the Reichsbank may be expected as soon as technical procedure is accomplished. Dr. Schacht has previously indicated that interest payments will be resumed in full on Jan. 1, 1934, if the gold position of the Reichsbank then warrants such a course.

INFLATION TALK CAUSES GRAIN PRICES TO RISE

December Wheat Up Over 3 Cents.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

It needed but the mere mention of possible inflation in the currency by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, who recently announced that he was opposed to such a move, to cause the grain markets to snap out of the rut in which they have been for several days and send prices up yesterday.

Lowest prices of the day on all grains were made at or shortly after the opening, and the best figures were established near the close. Rumors regarding the possible abandonment of the gold standard by France were effective in helping along the upturn. Wheat at the top was up 3¾ to 4 cents; corn, 2 to 2¼ cents; and oats, 2 to 2½ cents from Saturday's finish.

December Wheat Rallies.

December wheat sold off fractionally at the start to 84⅞ cents and then rallied to 89⅛ cents, with a reaction of around 1 cent toward the last on evening up by longs for the government report due after the close. Net gains, however, were 3 to 3⅛ cents, with September closing at 84¼ cents; December, 88 to 88⅛ cents; and May at 92⅝ to 92½ cents. Corn was 1⅛ to 1½ cents higher, with December at 51⅞ to 52 cents and May at 57⅜ to 57⅞ cents.

Oats developed independent strength and closed 1½ to 1⅝ cents higher, with December finishing at 40¼ to 40⅜ cents. Rye acted tight and was 2⅝ to 4 cents higher, the December closing at 73¼ cents, while barley was 1⅝ to 2⅛ cents higher, with December 54⅜ cents.

Bearish News Ignored.

There was a marked broadening in general commission house as well as local speculative interest in the markets, and bearing news was ignored throughout the day. As the trade expected, the first official mention of in-

AUDITORS VIEW UNIFIED BANKS FAR IN FUTURE

Point to Predominance of State Institutions.

Nationalization of the country's banks, toward which there has been a pronounced drift in the last three years, is still far from complete. State supervised banks still predominate both in number of banking units and in deposits and resources.

This was graphically shown yesterday in a report made to the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks, which is holding its thirty-second annual convention at the Congress hotel. The comparative figures on state and national banks were presented by R. N. Sims, secretary.

Total bank deposits were $43,445,201,879 in the United States on June 30, Sims said, while total bank resources stood at $54,029,182,993. State banks held 25½ billions, or 44 per cent more than the deposits of national banks. Resources of the state banks were 31¾ billions, or 42 per cent above the resources of national banks.

Many More State Banks.

The total of 17,400 banks operating on June 30, 11,513 were state supervised institutions, while 5,887 were national banks. Capital, surplus and undivided profits of all banks were $7,156,724,000, or $1,429,322,774 below the total at the close of last year.

Citing the predominance of state banks in the country's financial system, Sims warned against the danger of incautious legislation which would react unfavorably to the state institutions.

"There is so much talk about a unit system of banking in this country that I believe a word of warning is necessary," he declared. "The total resources of state banks have been materially decreased by the conversion of state banks into the national system, but the preponderating volume of state bank resources as of June 30, 1933, must warn our national authorities that banking legislation should be cautiously pursued to guard against injury to this great element of our financial structure, and possible grave disruption of our business affairs."

Urge Code to Value Assets.

Robert C. Clark, Vermont banking and insurance commissioner and president of the association, urged the setting up of a special commission to draft a code of fundamental principles for valuing bank assets. He asserted that such a code is necessary if bank supervisors are to analyze banking assets prior to their participation in the federal deposit guaranty plan.

Clark questioned the soundness of the deposit insurance plan and predicted that unless its results are much better than in the past, there will be an attractive field for banks which decline to participate in the plan.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan will speak before the supervisors this morning on federal banking legislation. Michigan's junior senator was one of the staunch defenders of the state banks in the last congress, when the banking act was being drafted.

The New York Coffee and Sugar exchange has decided to remain closed on Saturdays "until further notice."

WOOL MARKETS

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 11.—Most Boston wool houses closed today in compliance with the NRA code after doing a good volume of business all week. Practically nothing was being sold but prices remained at their high peak and wool men predicted further advances.

Ohio Delaine and similar fine combings were quoted at 32@33c in the grease. Half blood brought 38@34c; ¾, 38@40c; and ¼ blood, 37@39c.

Fine territory strictly combing breeded wool was quoted at 80@82c clean, ½ blood 78@80c, and in original bags 76@77c, ⅜ 75@76c, and ¼ blood 67@70c.

The U. S. agriculture department report said: "The volume of business in wool during the last half of August was greater than had been expected in view of the heavy movement during the latter part of August. Advanced asking prices met some resistance from buyers, but a number of manufacturers and topmakers continued to accumulate sizeable quantities of wool. The higher asking prices of late last week have been established by sales on most grades of territory wools. Medium quality fleeces also were very strong and price ranges made some advance. The finer grades of fleeces were slow but quotations were very firm."

The following quotations are on grease basis for Ohio and similar wools:

BUTTER AND EGGS FIRM

Closing unchanged to ½c higher, butter and egg futures managed to maintain a steady to firm tone on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. About the only features of interest were the continued buying of butter in the cash market by one broker and switching from October eggs to November eggs. The fact that receipts of butter in Chicago totaled more than twice the arrivals of a year ago, and the increase of over 700,000 lbs. in the four market surplus, failed to check the cash market buying admittedly for the account of a large co-operative. The futures gained slight strength at the close. Egg news continued slightly better than last year, the four markets taking out 600 cases more, and buying improved slightly near the last. Generally, however, trading was quiet. Sales: Butter, 54 cars; eggs, 116 cars. Prices follow:

STATE BUILDING ACTIVITY GAINS DURING AUGUST

Increase Is 21 Per Cent Over July Figure.

Building activity in Illinois in August showed a gain of approximately 21 per cent over July. The increase is greater than the average seasonal gain shown over the last 12 years. The report based on building in 65 Illinois cities was released yesterday by the state department of labor.

The estimated value of building last month was $1,395,265. Compared with August last year this was a gain of 16.8 per cent. The gain was due almost entirely to an increase from $623,031 for new building projects in July to $941,209 last month.

Expenditures Rise Here.

Expenditures in Chicago rose from $186,931 in July to $524,470 for new building. The 34 Chicago suburban towns reported a decline of 9.8 per cent in total building and 30 other cities reported a loss of 9.5 per cent from the preceeding month.

The improvement for August failed to offset the loss shown in the previous 7 months from a year ago. Estimated expenditures for the first 8 months were $8,085,349, or 28.6 per cent below the comparable period last year. Chicago showed the smallest loss, with 21.6 per cent, while the 34 suburban towns were down 25.2 per cent and the gorup of 30 downstate cities were off 33.5 per cent.

Gains Down State.

East St. Louis, $27,780 as compared to $18,745; Peoria, $115,045 as compared to $41,245; Quincy, $13,845 as compared to $10,760; Rockford, $21,135 as compared to $17,550; Sterling, $6,605 as compared to $3,260; Urbana, $56,150 as compared to $14,520; Belleville, $11,900 as compared to $3,500, and Bloomington, $11,000 as compared to $7,800.

In Peoria, $55,700 of the total represents permits for 14 one-family dwellings and the Caterpillar total was swelled by a $50,000 subway project.

PRICES OF HOGS RISE AFTER DULL EARLY TRADING

The hog market idled on a mostly steady price basis yesterday as interest again focused on the pig buying of the packers for the account of the government. Near the close of the session, however, strength appeared and final quotations were 5 to 10 cents above the low close of Saturday and about in line with the average of last Friday.

At no time were prices up to the high marks of last Friday. The top for the day at $4.55 compared with $4.45 Saturday and with $4.60 last Friday. The clearance in the late part of the session was fairly good. Receipts, including 35,000 pigs intended for the government, were estimated at 65,000 at Chicago. Of these about 12,000 were without the official shipping permit and had to be left in the pens.

Given Stringent Rules.

Packers were given a list of stringent rules to work by, so that farmers would be unable to unload nonpermit pigs. Commission firms to which such pigs were consigned had instructions to keep them in the pens at the expense of the farmer owner until such time that the government directs their disposition. The farmer owner can, it was stated, have his pigs sold on the open market at their commercial value if he so desires. Some pigs here yesterday were said to have been in transit when the new ruling on permits was made. Such stock would be given preference over pigs shipped into the yards against orders.

Official permits for 25,000 pigs to be shipped in today and 25,000 for Wednesday have been issued. Permits for later in the week are to be issued today. Government officials have been concerned over the possibility of not being able to stop the deluge after the 4,000,000th pig had been bought, but those in close touch with the program feel confident that they have the situation well in hand and can halt the flow on comparatively short notice, they said yesterday.

2,404,000 Pigs Slaughtered.

The 20 leading markets received a total of 129,000,000 pigs for the account of the government, bringing the total slaughtered up to 2,404,000. It is estimated that in the neighborhood of 2,800,000 pigs have been killed off by the AAA since the emergency program began on Aug. 23. Up to last week's close the actual slaughter at Chicago was 334,284 light pigs condemned to the tank, 63,296 heavy pigs and 14,911 piggy sows. The meat from the heavy pigs and sows is being salted down and held for disposition by the government.

Best grades of steers maintained steady prices yesterday, but others weakened under pressure of heavy receipts and closed dull and mostly 25 cents under the final session last week. Choice 1,037 pound yearling steers sold to the United Dressed Beef company of New York at $6.90, the top for the day. This is the first time since late in June that the top price at Chicago fell short of the $7.00 line on a Monday.

Large Western Range Supply.

Prime 1,436 pound beeves brought $6.50. Very little of the supply was good enough to sell above $6.50, the bulk of the crop of steers going within a range of $5.25 to $6.25. Yesterday's run of 5,000 range cattle was the biggest supply of the session from the western range country. The movement from the west is ahead of 1932 and not much behind the movement of 1931.

Quality of westerns was good, the bulk of the supply consisting of yearlings and two year old feeders from Montana and Wyoming and cows and heifers. Upwards to $4.75 was paid for some good 600 pound feeders to go into the corn belt states for fattening for later markets. A year ago western feeding cattle were selling to corn belt farmers as high as $6.75, the fat cattle market at that time being $2.60 to $3.00 and more above the current level.

The lamb market slumped 10 to 25 cents when 25,000 westerns and 5,000 natives were unloaded here. Both natives and westerns reached $7.40 at the close. This price still indicates 40 cents over the low point of last week.

FARMERS GIVEN ADDITIONAL TIME ON WHEAT PLAN

Given to September 25 to Decide.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—Wheat farmers were today given thirteen more days in which to signify their desire to cut acreage next year and participate in the federal government's disbursement of "compensating payments" under the domestic allotment plan.

In an effort to speed up the wheat campaign, Chester Davis, production chief of the agricultural adjustment administration, announced Sept. 25 as the deadline before which farmers must make initial application for acreage reduction contracts with the government.

After that date, Mr. Davis declared, county wheat production control associations will immediately begin to allot production quotas to farmers who have filed application. Contracts will be signed with the applicants as soon as each individual farmer's quota has been fixed.

Kansas Farmers Agree.

Kansas farmers, according to Mr. Davis, have proven most anxious to participate in the domestic allotment plan to the extent of agreeing to cut their next year's acreage by 15 per cent. Of more than 100,000 applications thus far tendered in nine states, Davis stated, Kansas had about 51,000.

Illinois wheat growers, Mr. Davis reported, have submitted 6,800 applications to date, while 1,500 have been received from Iowa.

Dec. 1 Deadline.

Mr. Davis also set Dec. 1 as the deadline, after which no wheat contracts will be accepted by the department of agriculture. At the same time Secretary Wallace announced the appointment of Robert Worth Bingham, American ambassador to Great Britain, as permanent representative of this country on the international wheat advisory committee created under the terms of the international wheat treaty recently consummated at London.

The wheat advisory committee, Secretary Wallace said, will meet periodically to thrash out problems which may arise under the terms of the international accord. The first of these meetings is scheduled for Sept. 18, at which an export quota for Russia is to be established.

REPORTS SMALL CROP INCREASES FOR SEPTEMBER

Corn Yield 591,000,000 Bushels Under 1932.

Small increases in the spring wheat, corn, and oats crops as compared with a month ago were indicated yesterday in the department of agriculture's September estimate.

A corn crop of 2,285,000,000 bushels was indicated, or 50,000,000 bushels in excess of the recent private returns, but was only 12,000,000 bushels above the official report of a month ago and 591,000,000 bushels under last year's harvest. Oats improved 21,000,000 bushels during the month and this season's crop is 688,000,000 bushels, compared with 1,238,000,000 bushels in 1932. The spring wheat crop was placed at 166,000,000 bushels, or 6,000,000 bushels more than a month ago and nearly 100,000,000 bushels below last year.

Below Murray Estimate.

A yield of 506,000,000 bushels of all wheat was shown, or 244,000,000 bushels below the Nat C. Murray estimate on aggregate domestic requirements for the current season. The yield reported fell 221,000,000 bushels below last year.

The trade regarded the report on coarse grains as sensationally bullish in comparison with the harvests of previous years. Aggregate yield of corn, oats, and barley is 3,132,000,000 bushels, a drop of 1,282,000,000 bushels from last year, and 734,000,000 bushels below the 1926-'30 average.

Hay Report Unchanged.

No change was shown in the hay crop during the last month, the yield being 74,000,000 tons, or 8,000,000 tons less than in 1932 and compared with a 1926-'30 average of 84,000,000 tons.

The Canadian government report suggested a yield of 282,000,000 bushels of all wheat, of which 264,000,000 bushels were in the prairie provinces, compared with 428,000,000 bushels for all Canada and 408,000,000 bushels for the three provinces last year. Less damage was done to oats than anticipated and the crop of 317,000,000 bushels falls 75,000,000 bushels under the final returns of last year. Barley yield is 64,000,000 bushels, or 17,000,000 bushels less than in 1932.

INFLATION TALK CAUSES GRAIN PRICES TO RISE

December Wheat Is Up Over 3 Cents.

flation in a number of days had more effect as far as the price was concerned than the recent international wheat conference in London or the tremendous losses sustained by the crops as the result of intense heat and drought during the summer.

Highly beneficial rains fell in Argentina, with private cables reporting as much as 1½ inches in some sections, and stating that no further damage was likely to occur immediately. However, later cables indicated further moisture would be needed shortly as the result of the recent drought. Winnipeg wheat developed strength during the day and managed to get above the pegged prices on the distant futures which gained ⅛ to ⅝ cent, with December closing at 71⅝ to 71¾ cents in Canadian funds. Liverpool was ⅝ to ⅞ cent per bushel lower. Buenos Aires wheat was off around 1 cent for the day.

Southwest Needs Rain.

Recent dry and hot weather in the American southwest brought in claims of moisture being needed for the recently seeded winter wheat crop in that area. Heavy rains fell in Saskatchewan over the week-end, delaying the completion of threshing.

"The thought that the heat wave is saving corn by hurrying it to maturity is entirely contrary to the fact," said Crop Expert B. W. Snow. "It has resulted in drying up stalks, putting an end to filling of the kernels, and even in extreme cases has destroyed the value of the fodder for feeding purposes."

"My own observation over the week-end in north central Illinois confirms this condition," said Mr. Snow, "and the late corn which might have made some yields shows blades killed, and where there is any corn at all it is likely to be very light and chaffy. The effect of the heat last week will be shown in further shortening of yield and in very light weight grain."

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The print cloth primary market was slightly more active today. Prices were unchanged. Demand of the better selling constructions. Demand for spot woolens and worsteds in the men's and women's divisions is improved through the influence of clothing reorders. Burlap markets, here and at Calcutta, were quiet and steady. Rayo nproduction, now sold ahead, has increased buyers' courage in the case of cloth commitments.

U. S. TREASURY

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Raw sugar was quiet today. No sales were reported and prices were unchanged at 3.61c for spots, the last paid price. Buyers were offering 3.60c, with holders asking 3.65c. Futures were quiet and price movements narrow with the market closing 5 points higher for the spot month and 1 higher to 1 point lower for later deliveries. Sales were only 4,350 tons. Uncertainty over developments in Cuba and a desire to await results in connection with the allotment plan made buyers cautious. After opening at 4 points advance for the spot month and unchanged to 1 point lower for the later deliveries, prices fluctuated narrowly the rest of the day. Prices follow:

DeLEE Training
Brings You More Pay
and a Better Position
Only DeLEE provides individual, personalized instruction in latest beauty culture and hairdressing methods. Why be satisfied with an ordinary "trade school" training when DeLEE offers a "university type" of instruction? DeLEE methods teach you the most in the shortest time. DeLEE sees that you are placed in a good paying position when you are graduated.

Reasonable, Easy Payments.
Payments arranged to suit your convenience. You can earn while you learn. Day and evening classes. High school education NOT necessary.
Call in person and let us show you through our light, airy, colorful classrooms. Talk with the DeLEE dean, Miss Ruby Lorrain Stevens, and let her explain to you exactly why DeLEE training prepares you for a BETTER PAYING JOB. You will enjoy your visit to DeLEE and it will not obligate you in any way.

SOLUTION TO MURDER IN THE COTTON MILL

The professor knew Washington was lying and was trying to frame his employer Fox because of the blood stains in the elevator. As blood ceases to flow from a dead body in a few minutes Fordney knew, without further investigations, that had Miss Jackson's body been taken down in the elevator two hours after her death there could have been no blood stains in it.
